> "Sometimes you will never know the value of a moment until it becomes a memory."
> - Dr. Seuss

Each moment has the potential to be the most extravagant memory you may ever have. The truly amazing, yet somewhat ironic, twist to this concept is that we never know what moments will become our fondest memories. It is with this idea that our book was created. The theme is not simply one word or a clever phrase, rather it is the wonderful notion that every second that passses here at SCHS will live in our hearts forever. It was my goal, and the goal of the yearbook staff, to give you something more than just memories. This book is concrete evidence of the passionate events that you lived through this year. They are the moments of heartbreaking loss paired with the astonishing triumphs. They are the times when you defied all odds, when your hard work, effort, and sanity were put to the test; that moment that made you believe not only in yourself, but in those around you. These moments when your emotions are at an all time high are the moments that are truly memorable. Let this book serve as a device to relive these precious memories in years to come. As you flip through these pages, I hope it brings you back to the moments when tears filled your eyes with unimaginable pride, to the moment when you discovered yourself, or when you found the courage to stand out and be brave. But for now, we must carry on with our unpredictable lives, steadily making memories that will last a lifetime.

I Know What Yearbook Did Last Summer

The end of the school year brings three months of summer and relaxation for most of the students at SCHS, except the yearbook staff members who see it as the beginning of an endless cycle. Putting their school binders away, they grab their crisp new business binders and head out to local businesses to sell ads. Every summer, the yearbook staff meets as a group for two days, which they call the business push. During these days they sell business ads to fund the upcoming book and use the time to bond as a team. Switching up the fun, this summer a photo scavenger hunt was incorporated on the second day. Such photo topics ranged from being handcuffed by a police officer to doing a rain dance under a sprinkler. If created memories that every member of the staff can look back on and laugh. Spending a few days scrambling around town to different businesses is the start of the long process that creates the yearbook, but it is also a time that forms friendships between students. Next spring when the returning members embark on the next business push, they can't help but say, "Remember that summer business push when..."

Friends and Fun Times

"My friends and I have some crazy times together! We have been friends since our freshman year and it has been great having them around. Anytime school stresses one of us out, we can find a way to laugh and relax together. One time, at Amanda Singer's house, we scared away the pizza delivery guy. We made the lights flicker and blared 'Gangnam Style' as Ellen Fitzmaurice creepily rocked back and forth. He practically ran back to his car, and we could not stop laughing afterwards."

All in This Together

Coming together as a grade was one thing that the sophomores did to have an extra edge over the other classes during the competitive spirit days. To ensure every person in their grade had school spirit, they brought in extra supplies so everyone got double points. They pumped each other up by getting loud and rowdy during the assembly games; motivating their fellow classmates to participate in the activities and capture 2nd place for the mid-year prize. The amount of school spirit and camaraderie that the class of 2016 displayed was remarkable.

Did the upperclassmen make you feel welcomed?

"I already knew some upperclassmen through swim and they always made me feel like part of the team. They helped me with new techniques and were always fun to be around."

- Mackenzie Kapanka

"Yes, whenever I say hi to them in the hallway, they always have a smile on their face and respond back. They also give me hugs."

- James Brenner

"Of course! I have some upperclassmen in my band class and they help me with whatever I need. It is reassuring to know that they are always there for me."

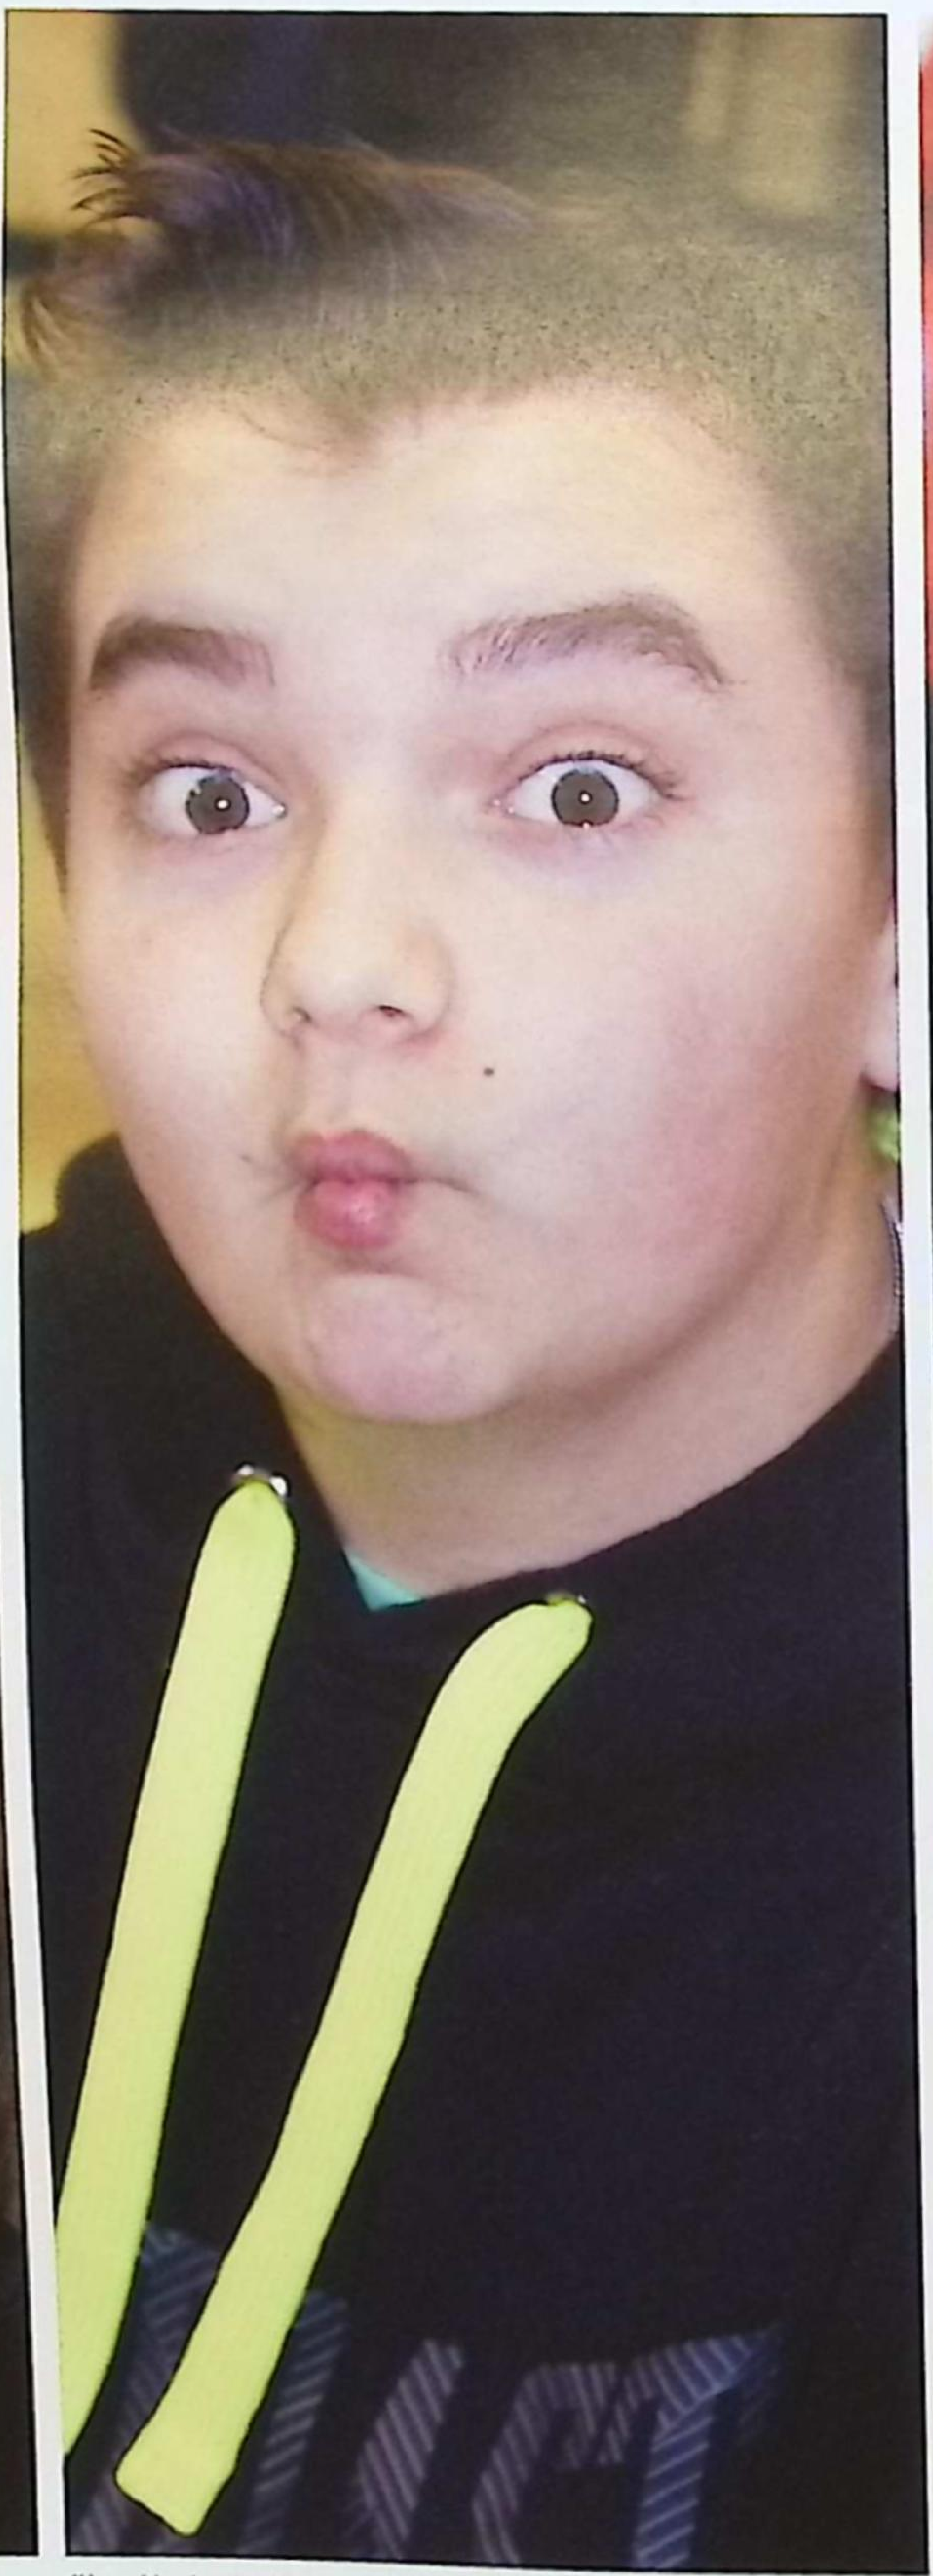
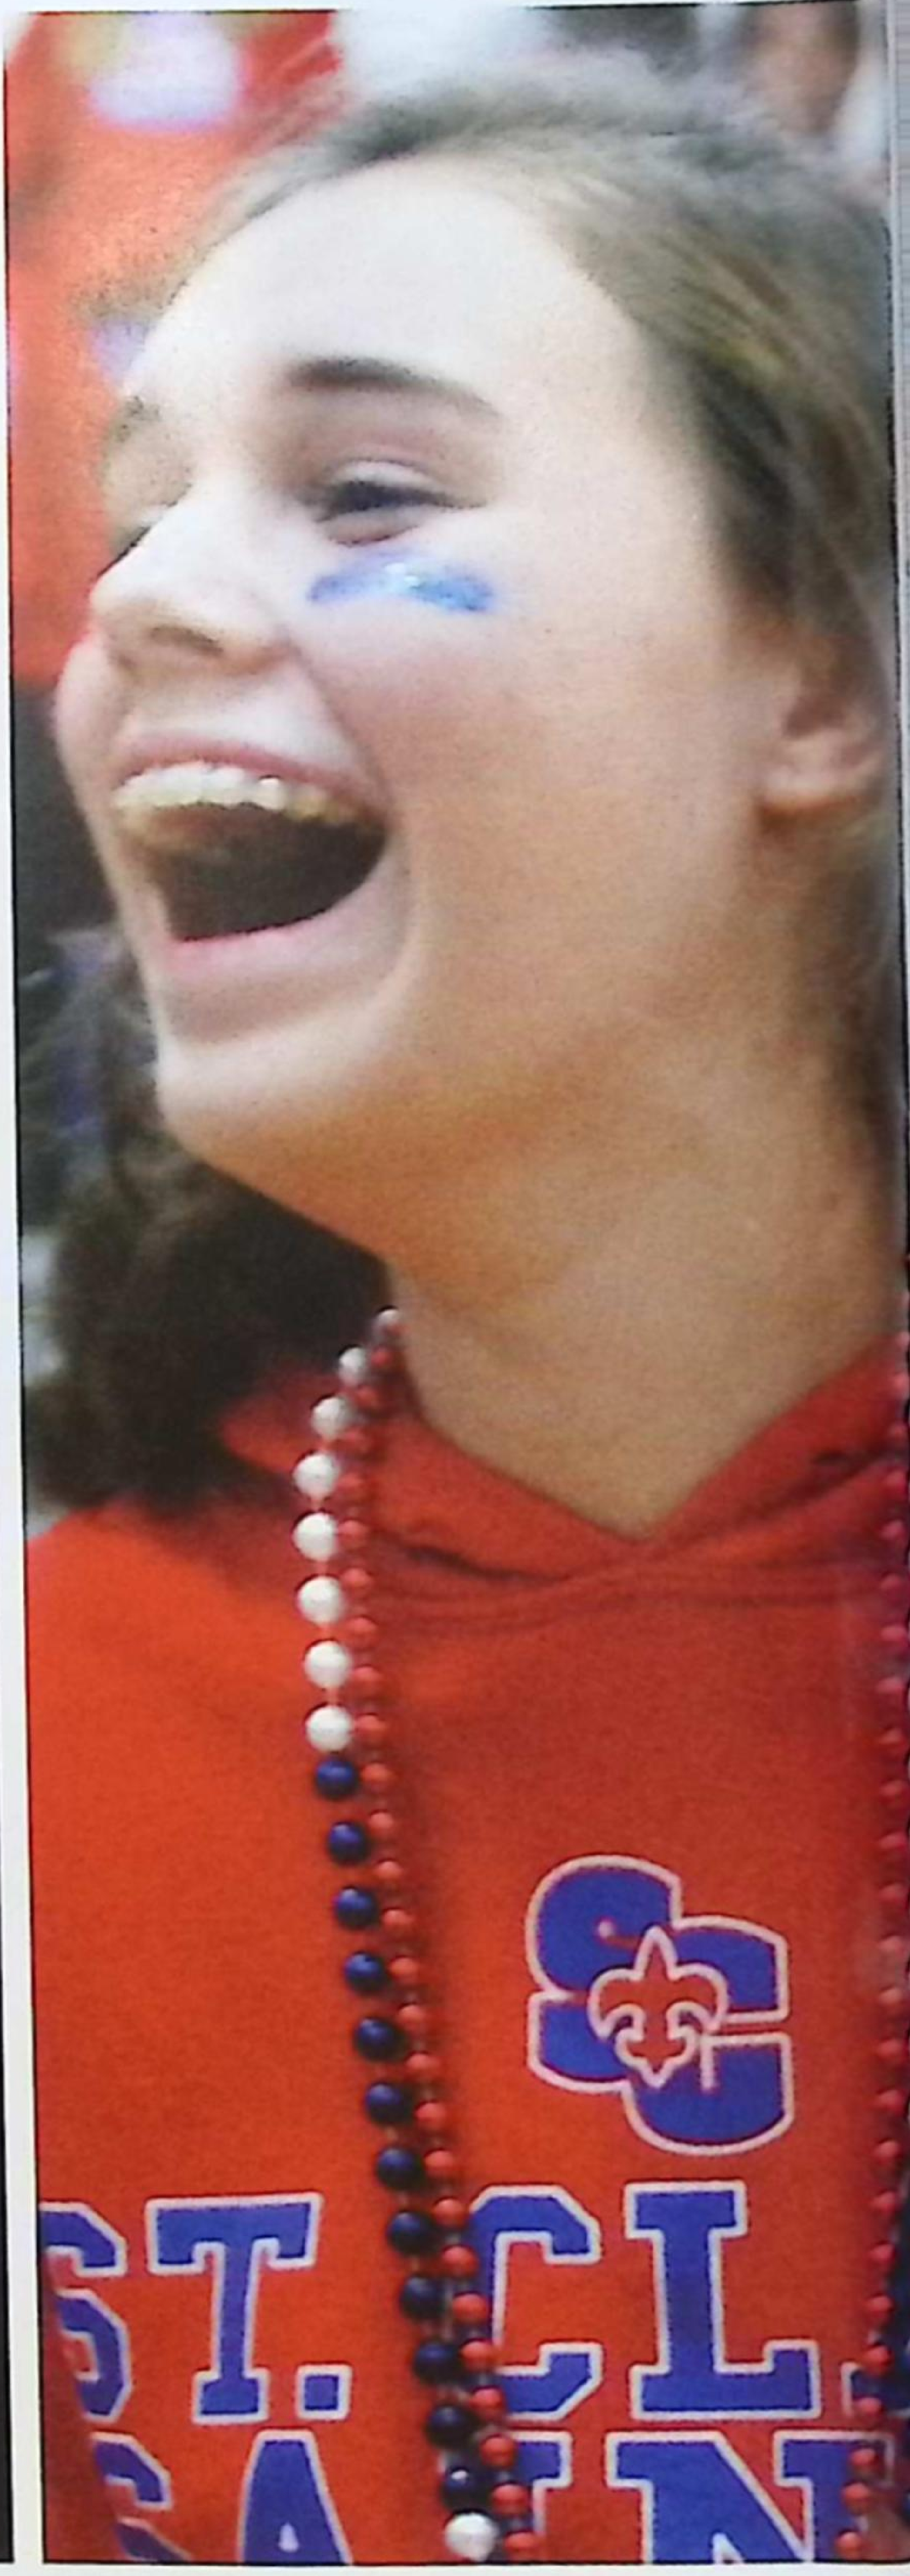
"I was scared about the crazy amounts of homework I was going to get."

- Younique Williams



"I didn't have any fears coming into high school. I was exicted for the challenges to come. "

- Tyler Alexander



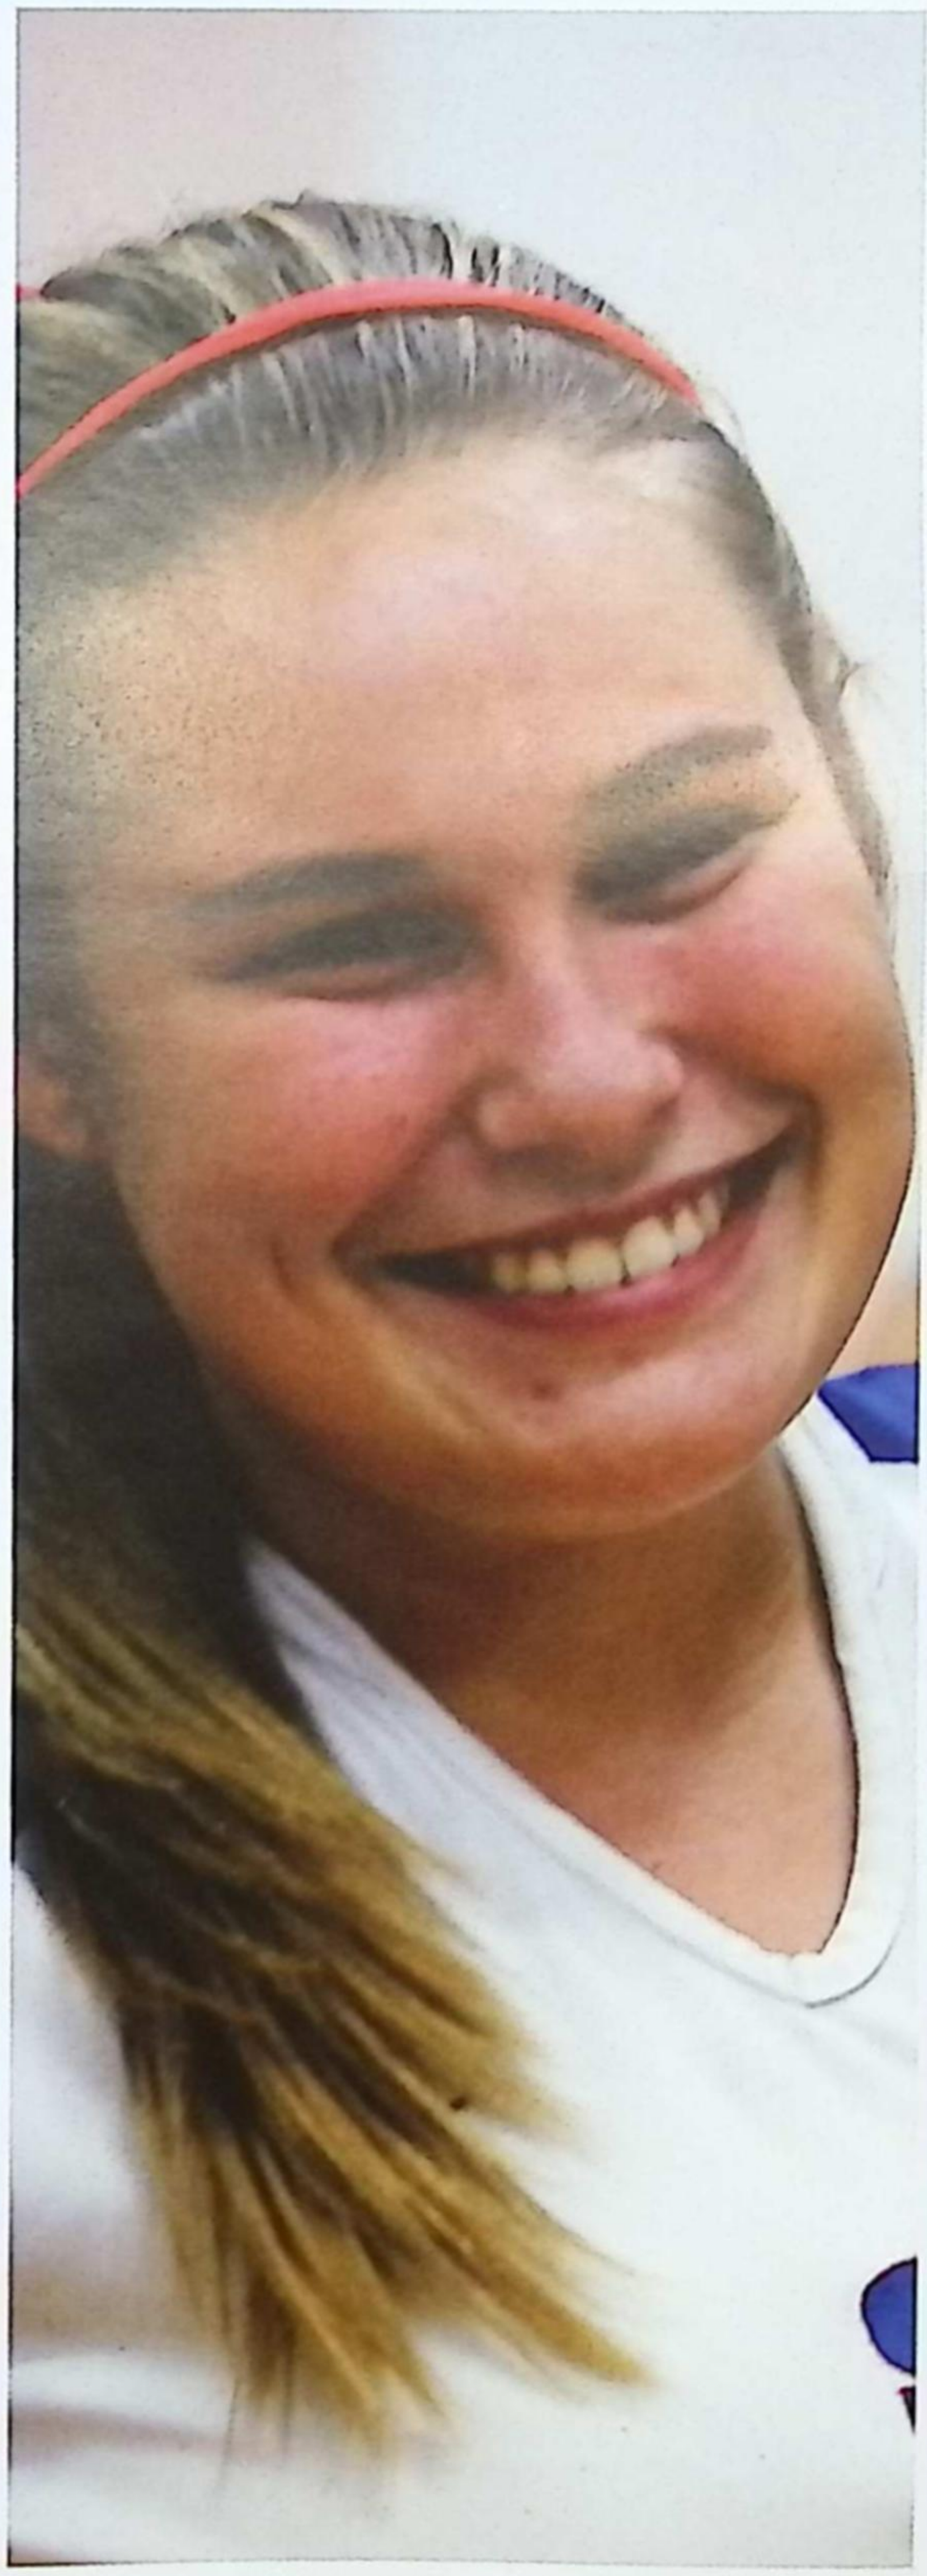
"The transition of going from a small school then to a big school full of many students was my biggest fear."

- Hannah Tucker

What was your BIGGEST fear coming into high school?

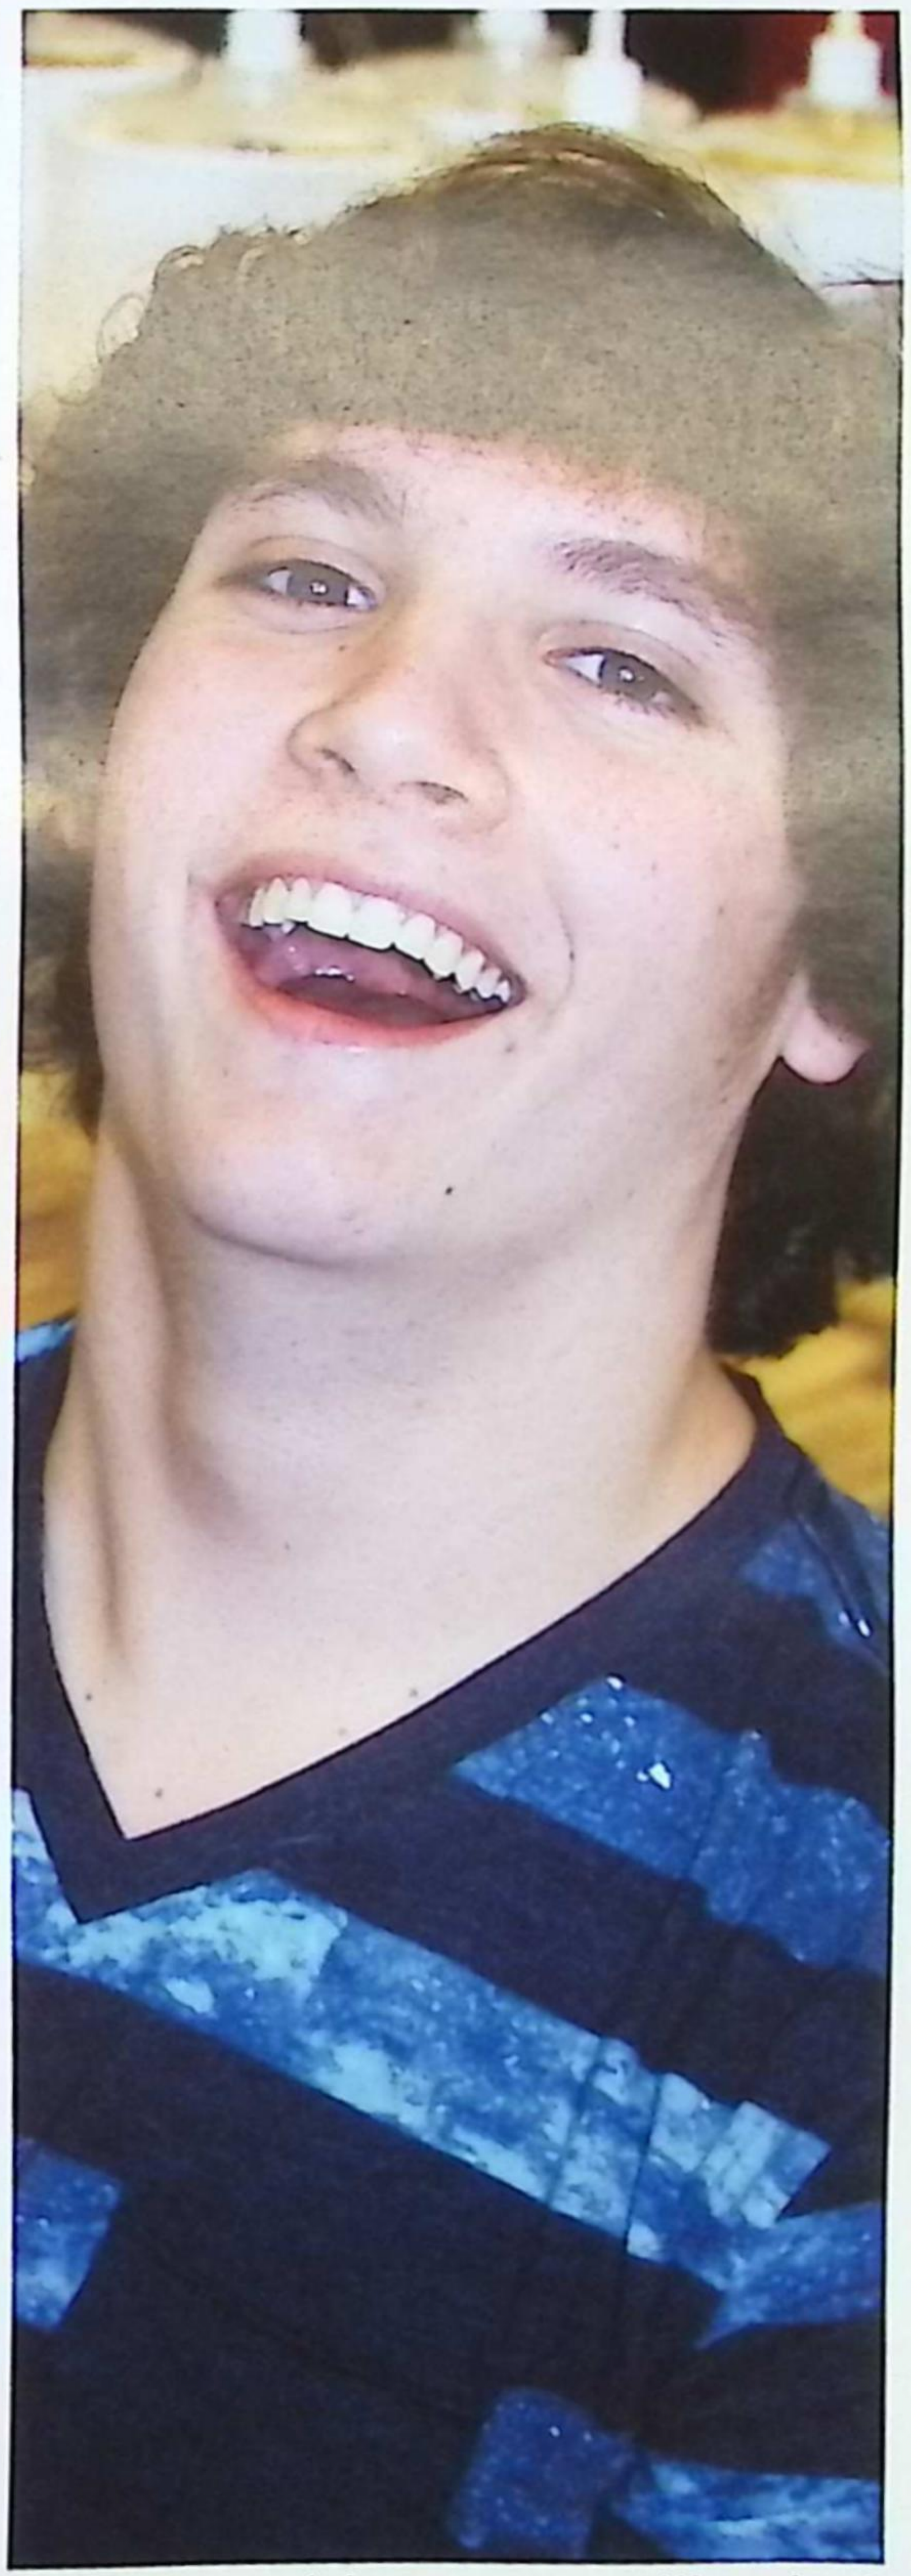
"Watching the movie 21 Jump Street made high school seem frightening. I was scared that it was going to be just like that movie. "

- Vishal John



"I was a little intimidated by all of the upperclassman, but I knew that if I did get picked on, my big sister would have my back."

- Megan Greig



"My biggest fear was getting lost in the halls. I didn't want to be late to any of my classes."

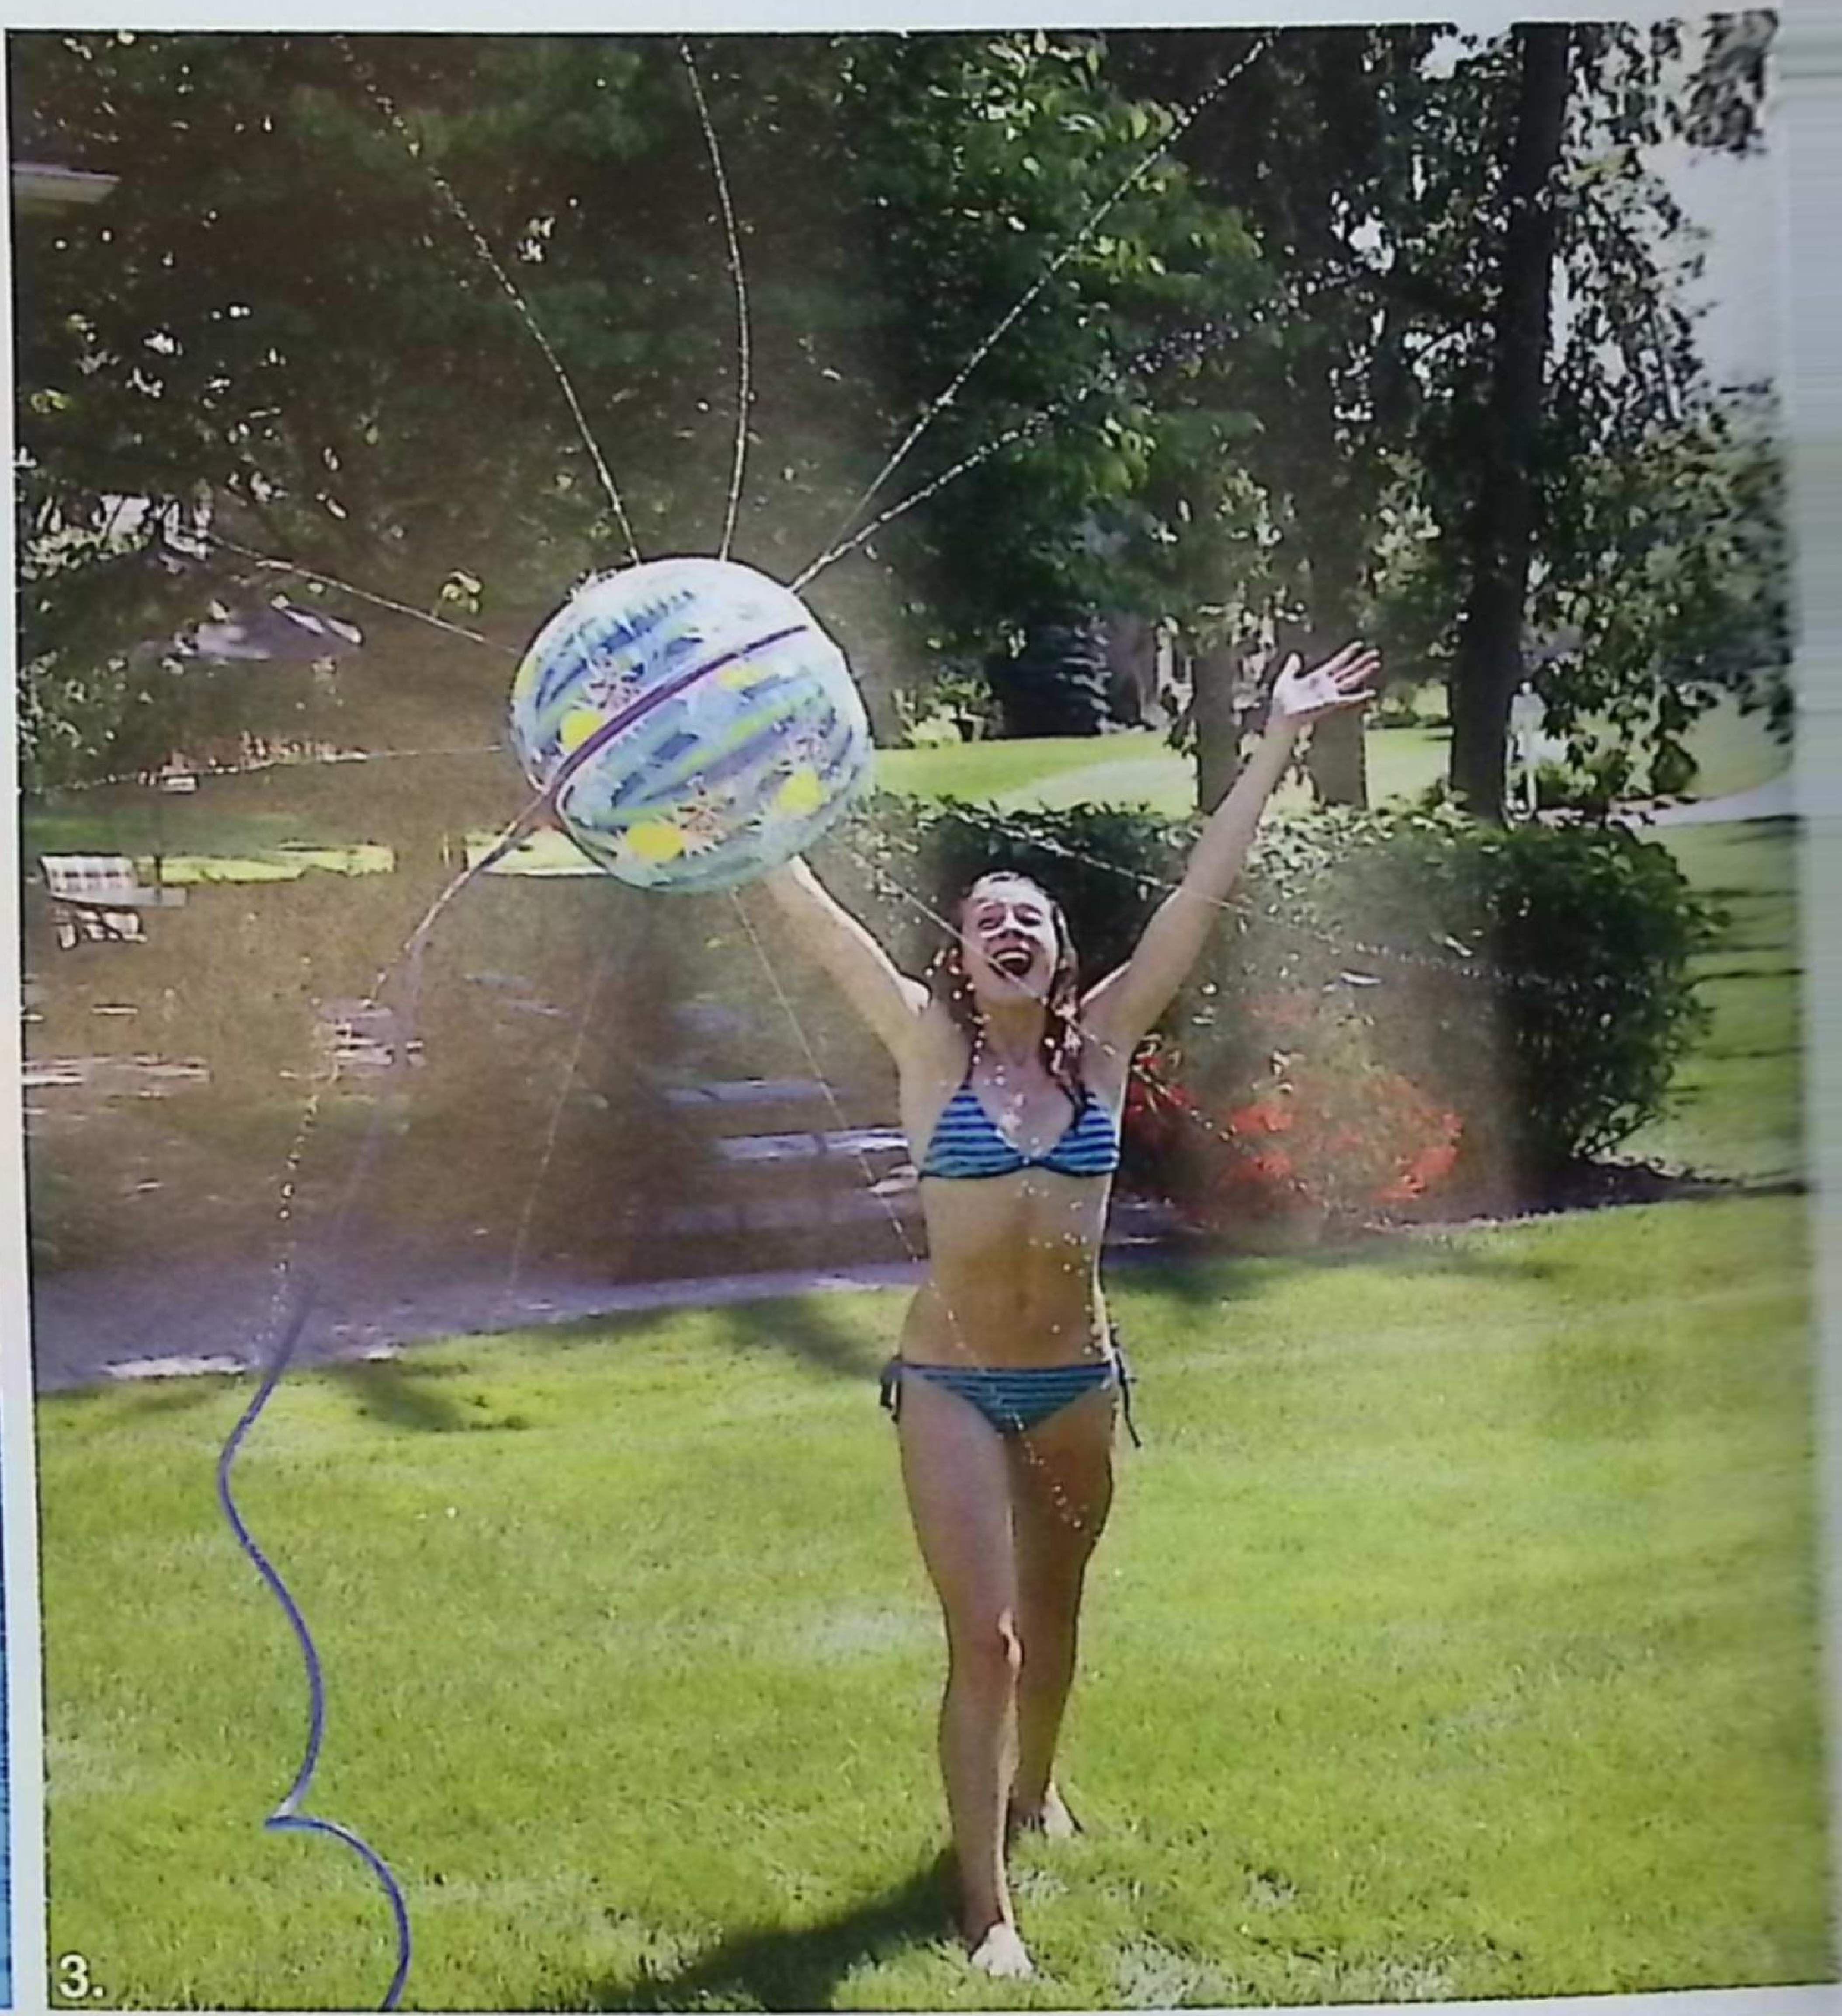
SUMMER

Soaking Up Sunshine



1. On this beautiful day, Sadie Shurkie ('15) and Allison Shaune ('14) are caught soaking up the warm sun rays at Lakeside Beach in Port Huron.
2. Taking in the summer sun and getting their tan on, Erica Werden ('15) and Adam Rossi ('14) relax with their feet in the cool water.
3. Enjoying the steamy weather, Amber Clees ('16) carelessly throws the water squirting beach ball in the air as she dances around in the cool streams.
4. On a mellow summer afternoon, McKenna Cichocki and Danielle Osiwala ('15) are feeling adventurous as they spend time together rowing around in a canoe.
5. Cooking up some smiles, Michaela Boulier ('14) uses her skills on the grill to heat up some delicious hot dogs for her and her friends.

What did you do to beat the heat this summer?

"I spent the hot summer days relaxing at the beach with my friends."

- Laura Bluhm ('15)

"Instead of hitting the pool, my friends and I decided to hit the mud and play some volleyball."

- Lauren Ledesma ('15)

"To keep cool, I drove around with the top of my dad's camaro down, enjoying the breeze."

- Sean Coughlin ('15)

"My girlfriend and I enjoyed the sandy beaches that our great state has provided us with."

- Ean Eberhard ('15)

This summer was one of the most memorable for many students at Saint Clair High. Long nights filled with never ending excitement created many memories full of laughter and fun. Elizabeth Ellery and Kahlan Weir ('16) specifically remember hearing a challenging dare while walking along the boardwalk. From a distance, an unknown person shouted, "I dare you to jump in the water!" Elizabeth and Kahlan looked at each other happily, laughed, and plunged into the river off the boardwalk. This memory was just one of many during the summer, with the bonus of a long walk home with some wet shoes.

2. Friends Lynette Frantz, Maddie Primeau and Brielle Hill ('17) get ready to plunge into the river, as the long summer days slowly slip further and further away.
3. Taking a sip of her ice cold water, Morgan Mead ('16) stays hydrated as her long and tough softball practice drags on.
4. With a loving shove, Lawrence Ochadleus ('15) pushes Daniel Williamson ('14) into the water on a scorching summer day in order to cool off after a brutal session at the summer sports conditioning camp.

1. Working together as a team, the cheerleaders toss their arms high into the sky to practice their many flips, jumps, and stunts on a blazing summer afternoon.
2. Although the girls' cross country team had only a few members attend their practice, they did not become discouraged; instead they showed extreme dedication by preparing even harder for the upcoming season.
3. In order to put on an amazing show for the football fans, Miranda Meinke ('15) is focused and determined to perfect her cheer moves before the season starts.
4. Even in practice, Tyler Gunderson ('14) has a powerful game face on and is ready to go, showing that he is determined to become a stronger player for the Saint's football team.

What keeps you motivated to practice and play basketball all year round?

"Knowing that I am working on improving my game even during the off season gives me an advantage over those who are not. I also want to play at the collegiate level, so I have to practice year round."

- Alec Rood ('14)

While everyone else is sleeping in, what kept you determined to run at 8 a.m. every morning this summer?

"My goal for this cross country season is to run at the Varsity State Championship Meet and that requires hours of hard work, even throughout the summer."

- Collin Higgins ('17)

3. Outside on a warm summer day, sophomore Taylor Markel loves to spend a majority of her free time riding through the various trails near her house.
4. Spending an evening at the Imagination Station, Brooke Mahn ('16) gets in touch with her inner child as she gets ready to go down the slide.
5. Downtown on the St. Clair boardwalk, Bethany Umloff ('16) snatches a couple of minutes out of her chaotic summer afternoon to read one of her favorite novels.
6. While on vacation with her family in South Dakota, Emily Russell ('16) hikes to the top of one of the highest mountain peaks in the United States.

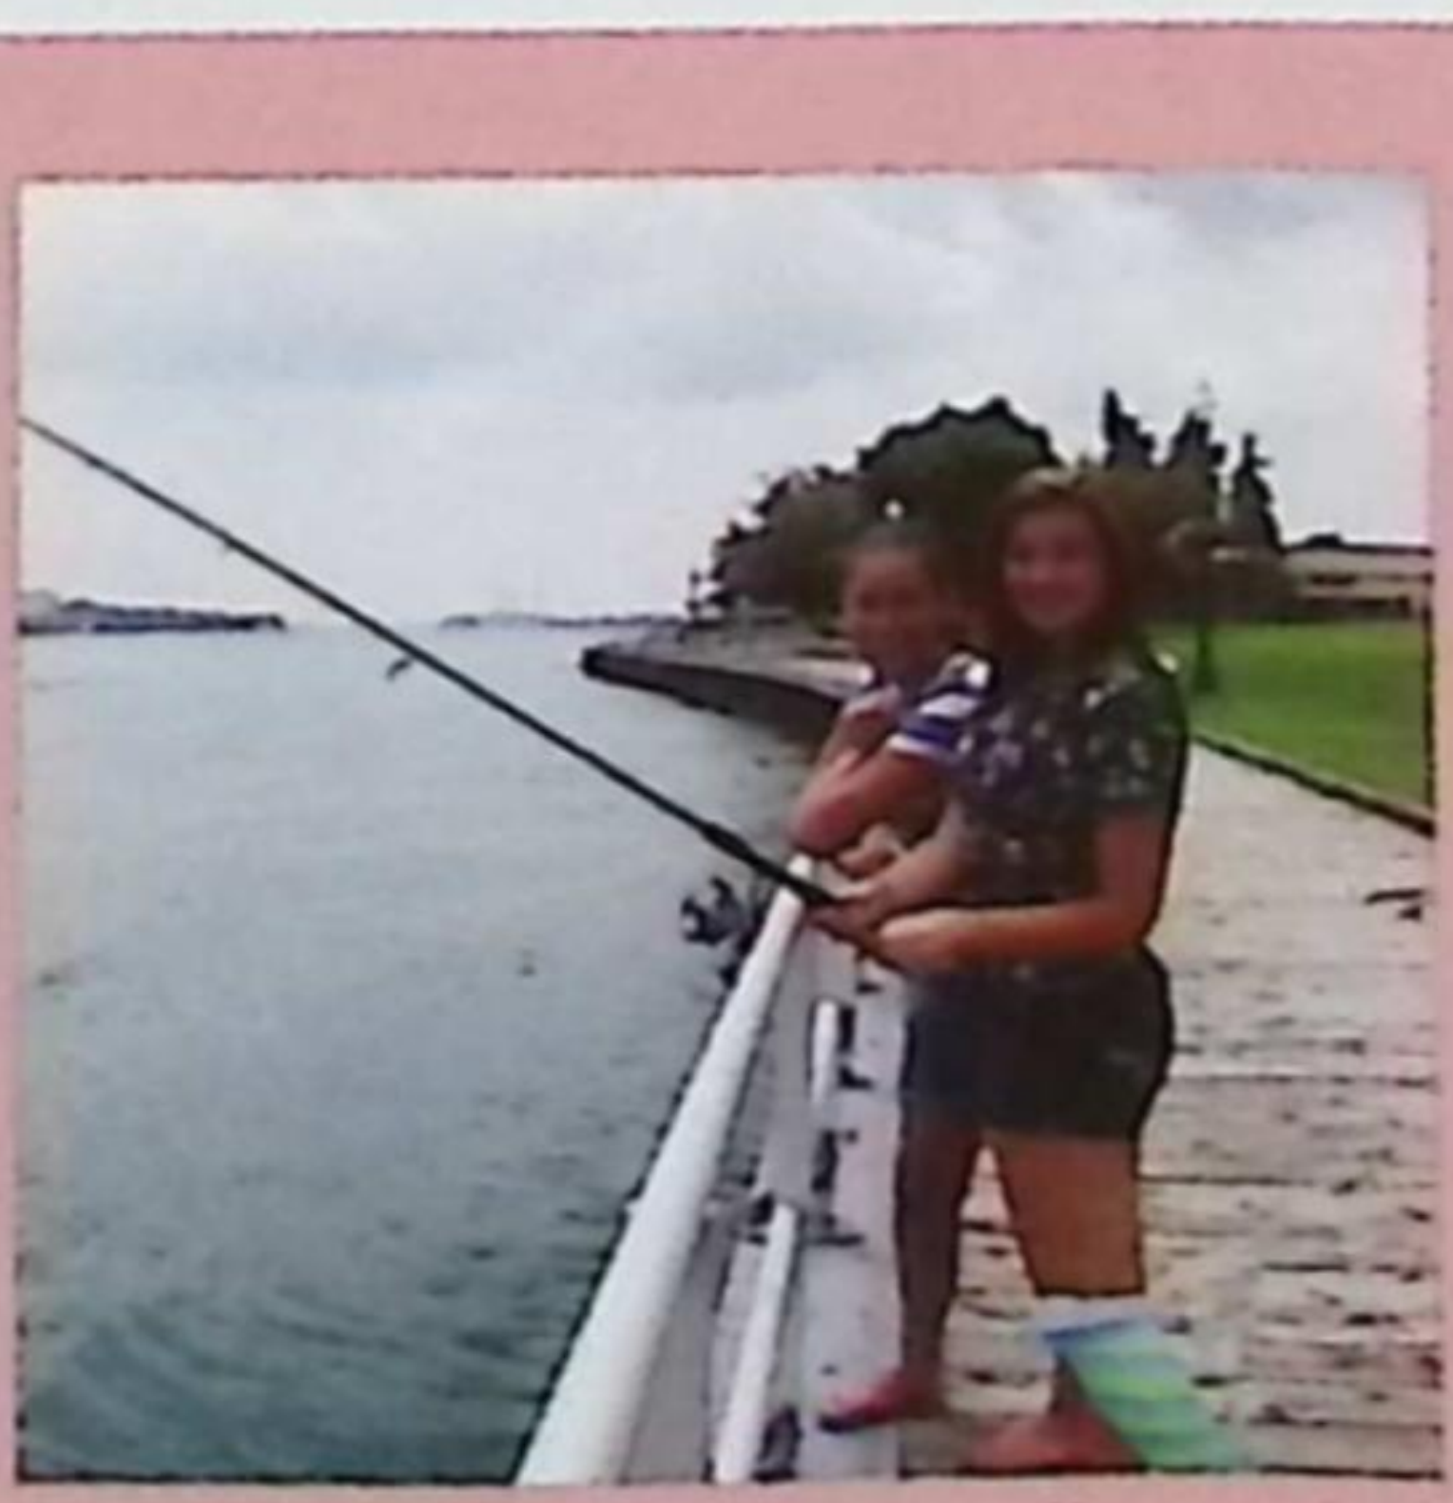
Gone Fishin'



As a freighter pushes through the rough waters, the waves rock back and forth, bouncing off of the sea wall. Soon the air feels damp as a storm curves around the outer edge of St. Clair. While fishing on this hot, cloudy, summer day, Hannah Plotzke and Brooke Pauly ('16) sense a gentle nibble on the hook. Noticing that the fishing rod begins to bend slightly, Brooke watches closely, waiting for Hannah to reel up the line. Running out of patience, Brooke grabs a hold of the fishing rod and tries to reel it up as fast as she can. Loosely grasping the handle, it begins to slip out of her hands. Afraid of losing the fishing rod, they both scramble to catch it before it falls into the murky water. Losing their fish was a small price to pay in order to save the rod.

Whatever Floats Your Boat

Every year the boat races roll into downtown St. Clair, bringing in waves of bustling people, the salty and sweet smells of street vendors, and of course, the roaring sounds of speed boats rushing by. However, everyone could tell that the atmosphere at the races this year was slightly off due to the less than pleasant weather. Despite rain and sixty degree temperature, Saint Clair High school students still learned how to have a good time decked out in hoodies and jeans. Many students, such as Lena Szuminski and Keegan Calnan ('14), watched the boat races from the comfort of Sue's Coffee House, and other students, like Kelsie Kaczperski ('16), Ellie Dillon, and Sadie Shurkey (15) waited for a glimpse of summer heat to go out and join in on the excitement. Either way, St. Clair High School students know how to have fun in any conditions.

2. Cruising during the summer, Michael Arft and Scott Brickner ('15) show their enthusiasm for their voyage, looking fancy in their suits.
3. At the annual Fourth of July fireworks, Jenna Haddon, Allie Miller, and Makenzie Distelrath ('14) hope to catch some summer sun while hanging out at the boardwalk.
4. Jared Nichols ('15), Lukas Strachuman ('14), and a masked Matthew Nikel ('16) chill out by the river before the 4th of July firework show.

What was a memorable part of your summer vacation?

"I enjoyed kayaking with my sister and relaxing by the lake. It was a fun way to unwind after a long school year."

- Megan Dwyer ('14)

What do you enjoy most about the Fourth of July?

"Nothing says America like spending lots of money on expensive explosives, but I certainly enjoy watching those fireworks!"

- Austin Smith ('14)

What did you do with your friends this summer?

"I spent a week at band camp with my co-major, Alyssa Hankins ('14), learning the skills to be a drum major."

- Maycee Frey ('14)

"Megan Schweihofer ('14) and I went swimming in her pond and played games on the Wii."

- Alison Tackaberry ('15)

"Ally Winkler ('15) and I went shopping many times; we ate Panera Bread, and enjoyed the hot tub at night when it cooled down."

Keeping it Cool, Man

Following in the footstep of the previous class of 2013, this year's seniors have decided to carry on the new tradition of taking wacky photos on Saints Days, that will be immortalized in the halls of SCHS. Jared Tobey and Tyler Gunderson ('14) bring a new meaning to the saying, "too cool for school" with their luscious locks and exposed chests. Hawaiian shirts were not in short supply on this monumental day, nor were other crazy outfits and hairdos that made lasting impressions.

Artists at Heart

Getting crafty is one thing the Saints are spectacular at doing. Having the annual art fair is a chance for people with unique artistic talents to show off their masterpieces. Also, many students show support to their fellow classmates by attending the art fair. Junior, Ashlee Clees, one of the many SCHS students that attended the fair says, "Glancing through the different art work and deciding which arts and crafts I will buy is the best part of the art fair." The art fair is an artistic outlet during the summer for the SCHS students and community to show off all of their talents.

When you can coordinate an entire tennis tournament with a giant group of friends, you know that you're going to end up with great memories. Decked out in their wacky, matching, and obnoxious attire, the tennis tournament took place on the last day of school, complete with bracket play and all. With an awesome turn out, this eclectic group of friends has extravagant outings quite often, and this event will definitely be remembered as one of their last big hoorahs before some of them went off to college. If you aren't going to make memories during these four years of our lives, when are you going to? Long live these moments that will last a lifetime.

FALL FUN

After having a blast under the striking sunshine of the summer of 2013, the students at SCHS seem to fall in love with the changing of seasons. School is back in full swing and calendars fill up faster than you can say "busy." Amidst the changing weather and gloriously colored leaves, many small moments and magnificent events turn into a collection of meaningful memories. Whether it is supporting the Saints under the Friday Night Lights, dressing up for Halloween, or simply taking a moment to enjoy the season with friends, fall is a time for laughter, memories, and fun.

3.

1. Enjoying the glorious fall sunshine, Jacob DeYonker, Joseph Martin ('15) and Thomas Martin ('14) channel their inner child and take a moment to play in the fire engine red and burnt orange leaves.
2. Giving the Saints her full support, Jordan Gillis ('16) proudly displays her shimmering pom-poms at the Homecoming Pep Rally.
3. Making the most of every moment, Ellie Dillon ('15) and Madison Moore ('14) can't help but laugh as they are surrounded by friends and classmates at the Homecoming Parade.

"I love autumn because of Halloween! The NHS Haunted House was the perfect opportunity for my friends and I to dress up and have some fall fun."

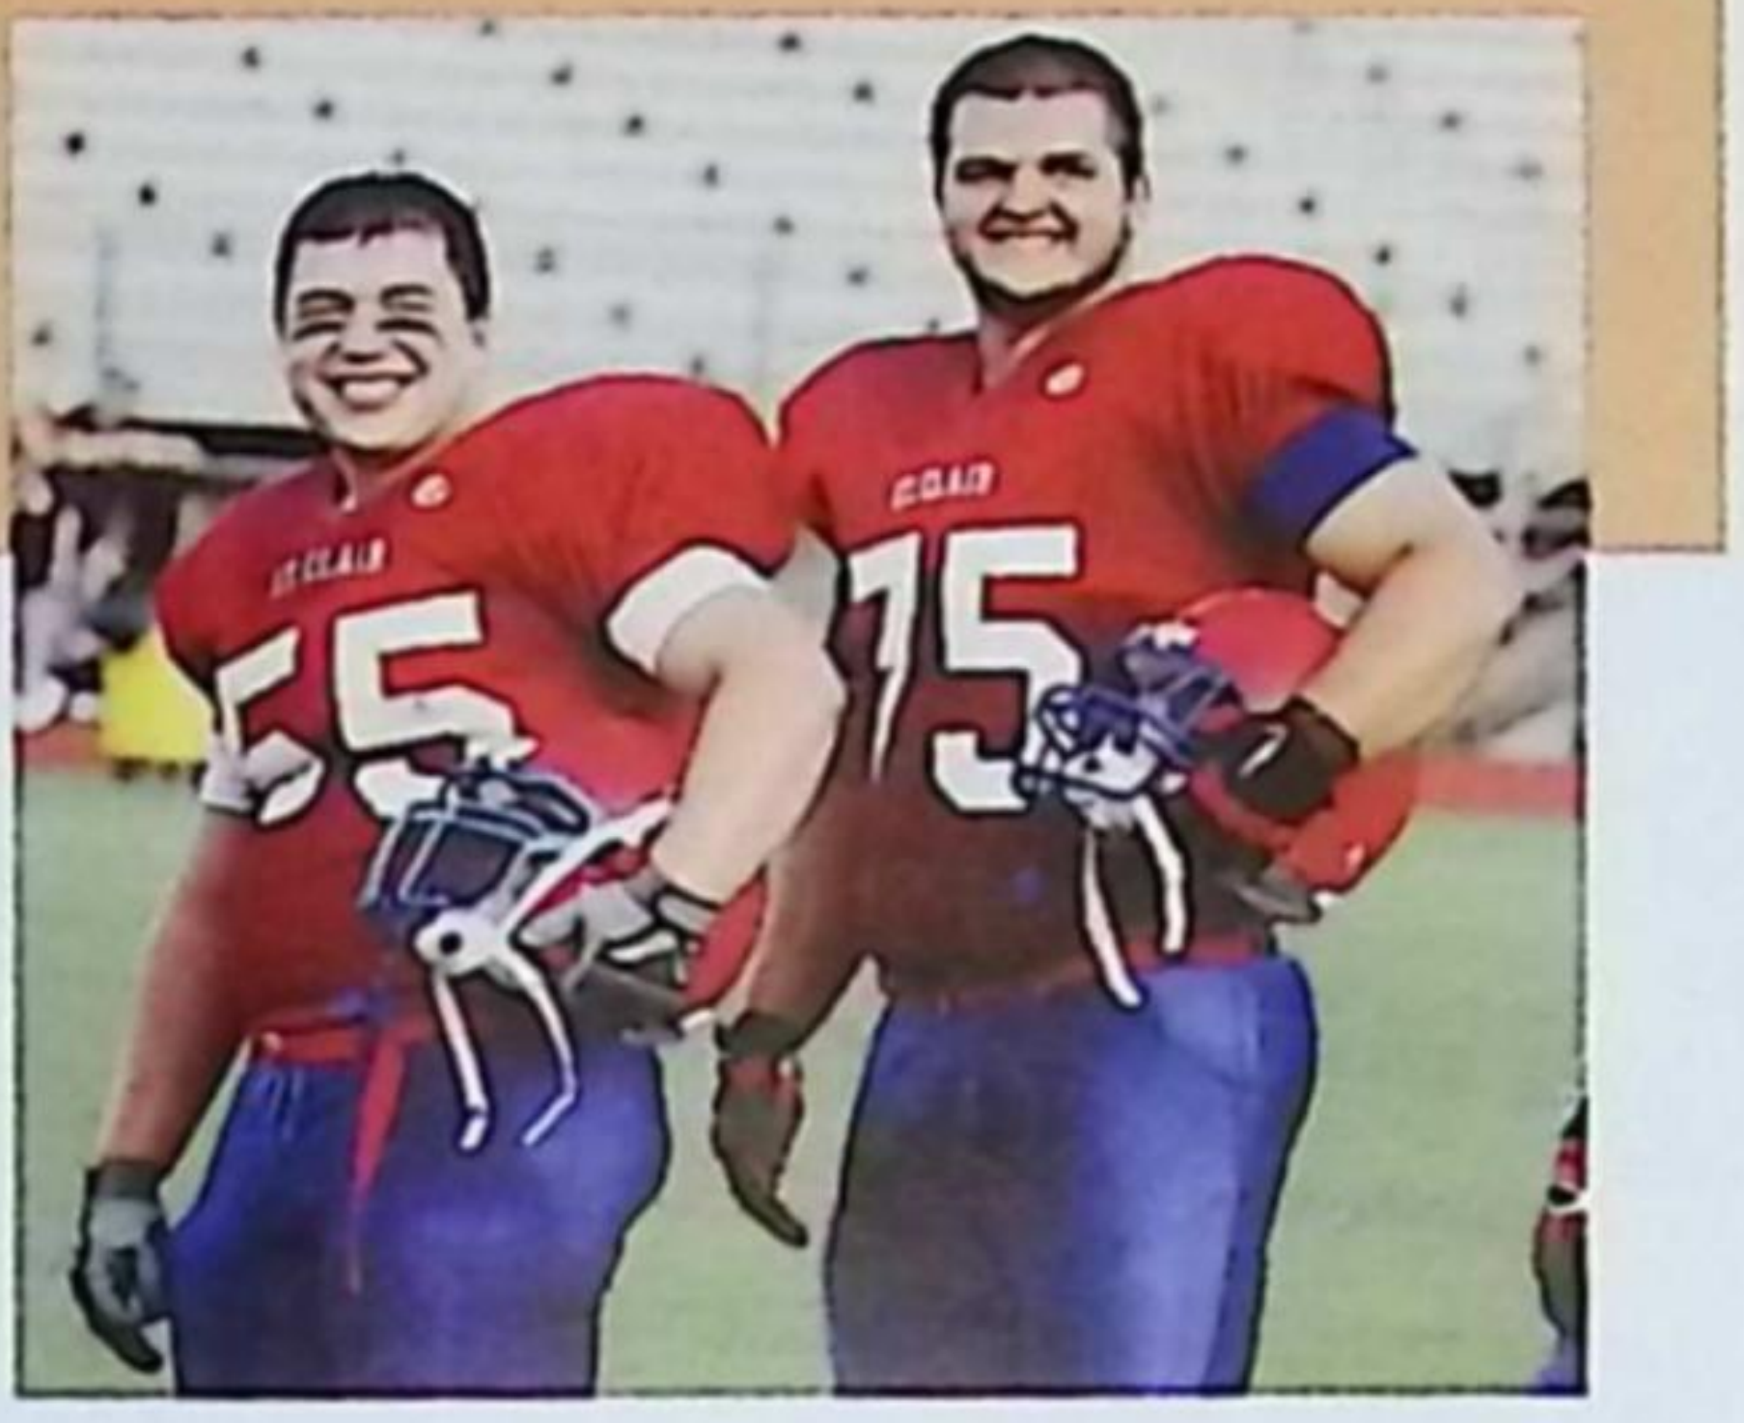
- Courtney Distelrath ('15)

Q & A

What activity best represents fall to you?

"Halloween best represents fall. It is a time for dressing up and of course, free candy!"

-Chris McCollum ('15)



"Football. There is nothing better than being under the lights with your boys and the gorgeous fall scenery."

Creativity is one of Cassie Comerio's ('15) many talents. One of the quotes she lives by is, "Some people believe in God. I believe in art. Some people pray but I draw." Following this motto gives her more originality and uniqueness in her art work. With her creative ideas she makes her class more interesting by taking crazy pictures with her classmates.

Mrs. Cedar's catapult competition requires precise measurement and a lot of creativity, as Kurtis Rhein ('15) discovered. In order to seal the win and earn some extra credit, Kurtis knew that he needed to have physics on his side. To make sure he would win, he attached a protractor to his catapult so he could fling the marshmallow in the exact center of the target. This addition made Kurtis's catapult different from the whole class, and also gave his catapult an extra burst of momentum.

Allusion Overload

Sometimes English class is a handful; writing papers, giving speeches, and Shakespeare can be more than challenging. AP Lit can be especially difficult, but Jonathon Dillon ('14) doesn't let it become too overwhelming. To stay ahead of the game, he writes an allusion to prepare for the AP test he is required to take in the spring. With all of the hard work that Jonathon puts in, to say he is a good student is an understatement. Keep up the good work Jonathon, and we know you'll ace the AP test.

"I chose to become an EMT intern because it is a very rewarding experience. I never know what kind of call I am going to get, so it has taught me to be prepared for any situation. Bon Appétit!

Each class here at St. Clair High has qualities and characteristics that make it unique and interesting. Food days in any language are delicious treats for every foreign language student. Ms. Simmon's Spanish classes often have parties, or fiestas, to celebrate the Spanish culture's holidays. "I love fiestas. My favorite celebration is when we have a fiesta for Day of the Dead; there are always cool and different foods such as empanadas," Spanish III student Maycee Frey ('14) gushes. In French class, students come together for 'un frête', a celebration of French holidays with crepes and fancy desserts.

Why did you decide to take a Foreign Language class?

Homecoming
Spirit Week

Homecoming week is by far the craziest week that the students of St. Clair High school encounter. Mr. Eberhard makes sure that students are fired Up and ready to dominate during the spirit challenges. Each grade puts on a Brave face and battles it out to be victorious and become known as the Homecoming Incredibles. The Pixar themed Homecoming week this year had record breaking participation from each of the grades. The seniors may have come away with an advantageous lead in the overall standings for the mid-year prize, but that did not discourage all other grades from trying their hardest. With hearts racing as fast as Cars, neither student nor teacher could resist dressing up as their favorite characters from a classic Pixar movie.

If you could be any Pixar character, who would it be and why?

"Buzz-Lightyear because he's my absolute favorite."

JV Football

Spirit in Full Bloom

Putting every ounce of sweat and blood into his last JV football practice, Hunter Grippe ('16) swipes the football before his other teammates can get their hands on it.

Determined to sweep a win against the varsity football team during a scrimmage, each JV football player makes sure to stretch well in order to eliminate any chance of injury.

Clamping the ball, Brendan Marino ('16) darts toward the end zone and fiercely maneuvers around his opponents to score the winning touchdown of the game.

While the freshman football team bolts onto the field after half-time, the JV football team supportively cheers for them, giving their confidence a boost with each reassuring high five.

Are You Ready For Some Football?

Every Thursday night during the harsh autumn weather, loud chants echo from parents and peers of each football player who steps foot onto the field. These long lasting memories will stick with team for the rest of their lives. Their passion for the game drives them to accomplish the unbearable challenges that they are faced with each game. Supporting one another, the team is unified. Nothing can, nor will, break this special bond that has been formed from the first practice of the year, to the last. Throughout the season, the players revealed new skills and learned a lot about each other, as well as themselves. One day at practice, the coaches discovered that Juan Padilla was an incredible kicker. It was a shock to both the coaches and teammates of Juan. After discovering his incredible talent half way through the season, Juan, and his coaches, worked very hard to utilize his skills and make him an even better kicker that secured the team's countless wins.

Freshman Football

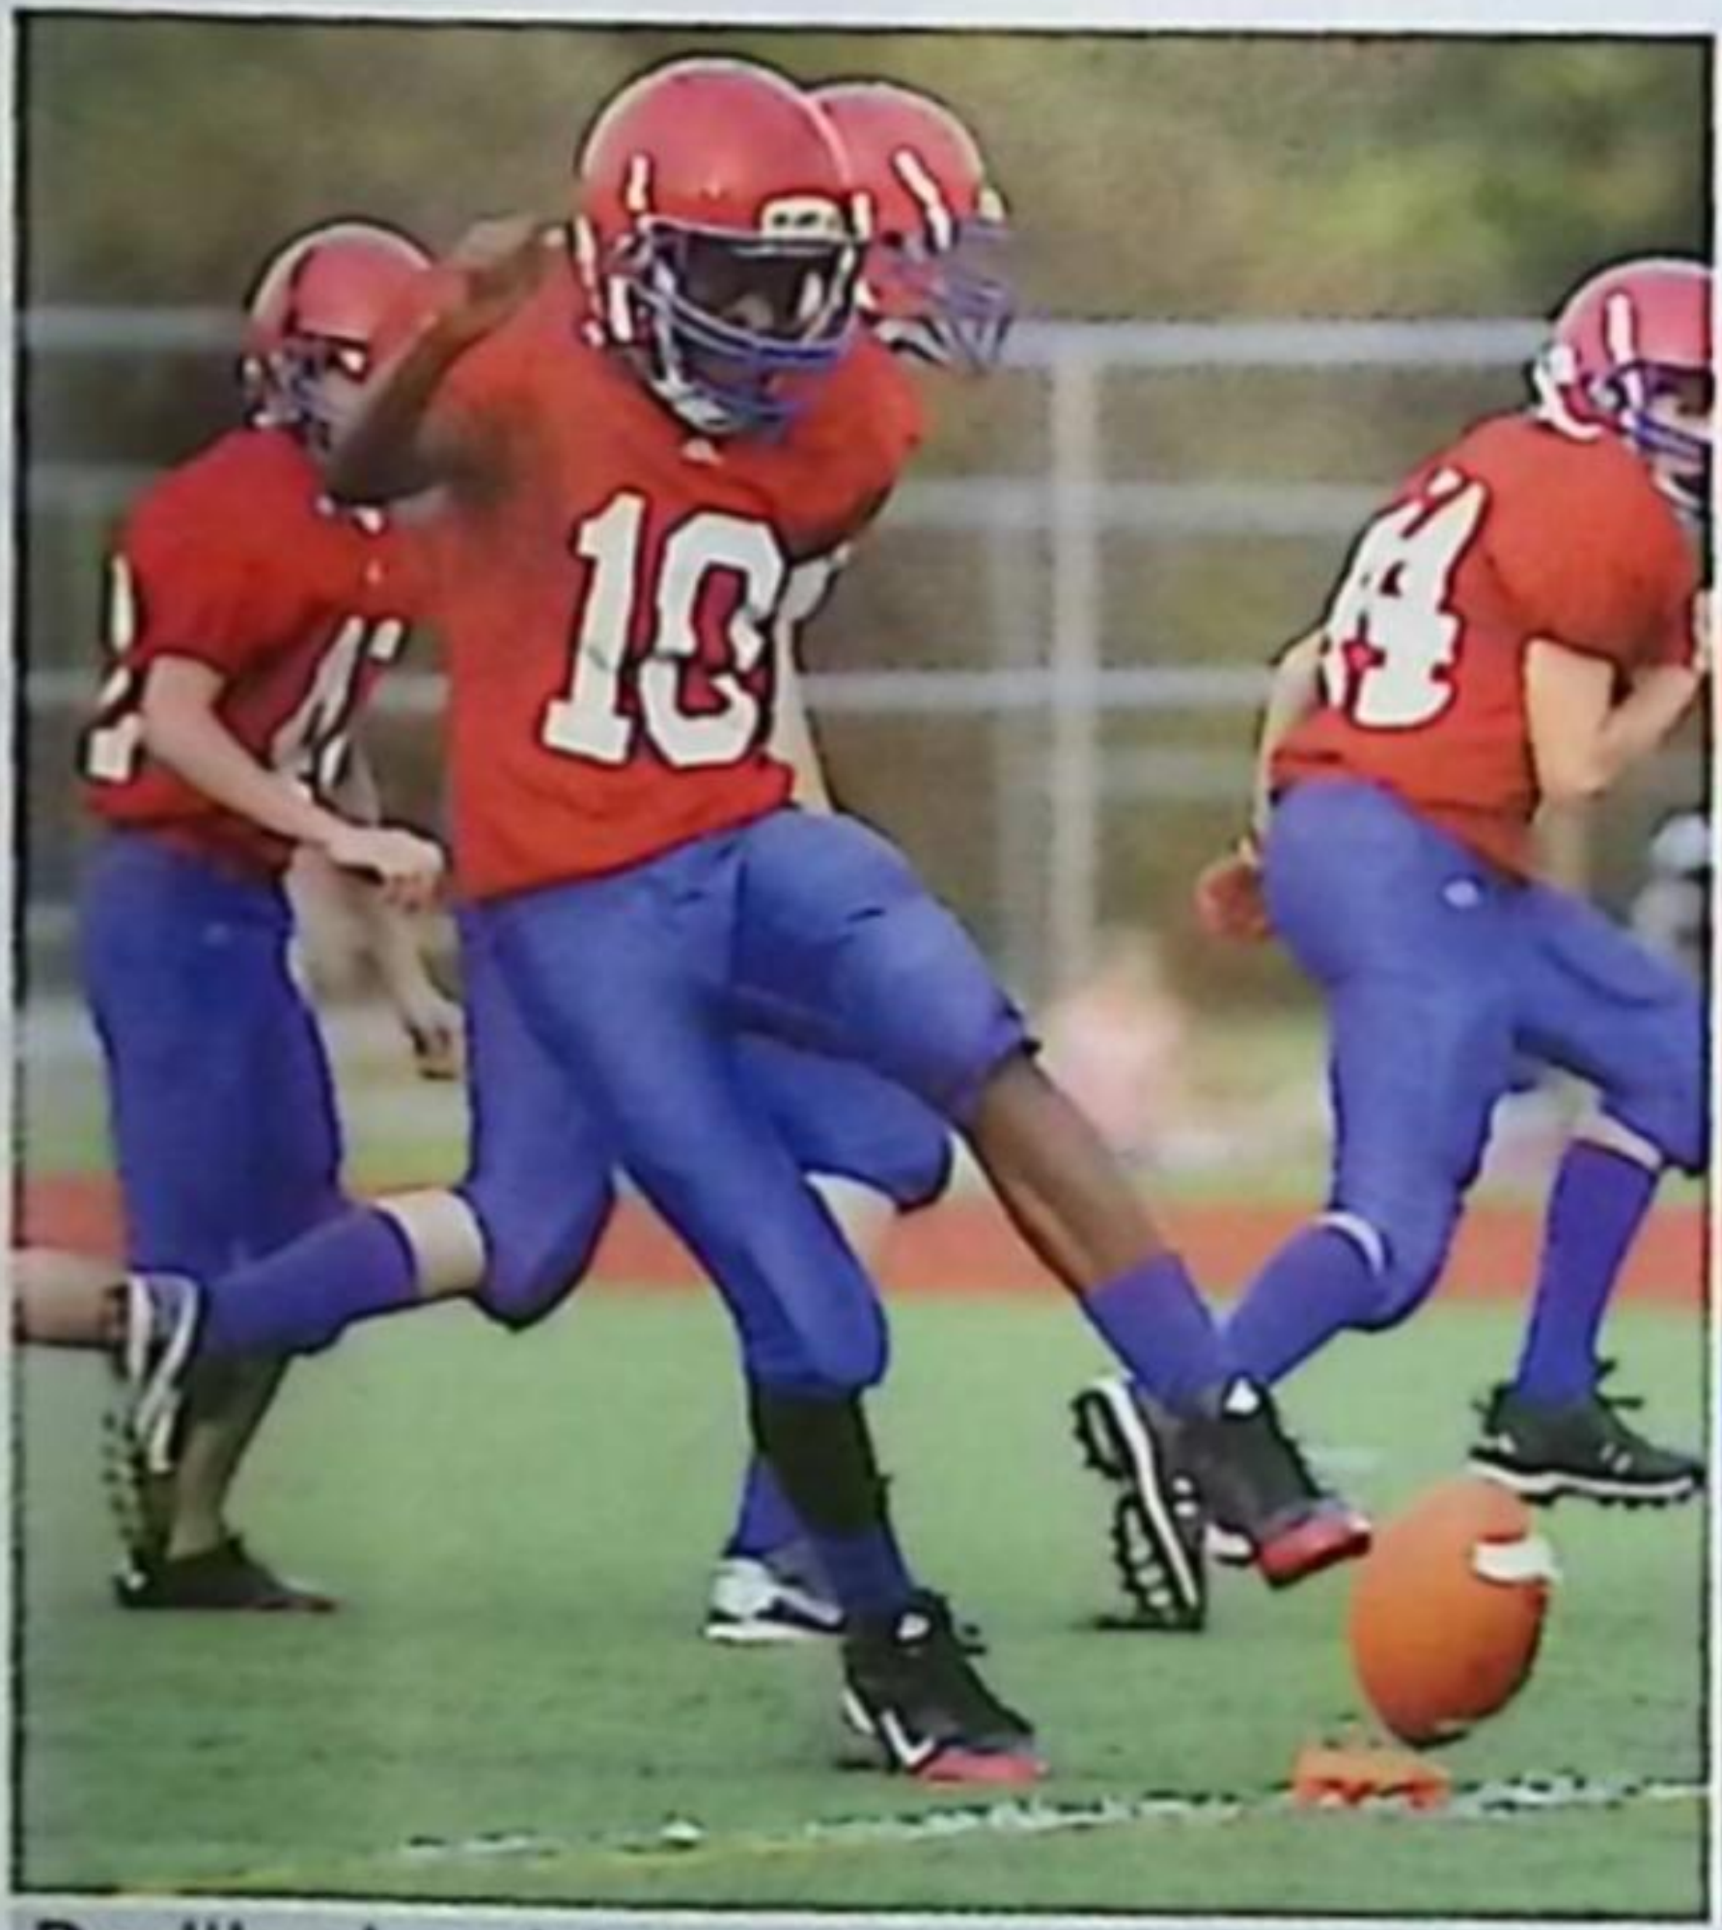
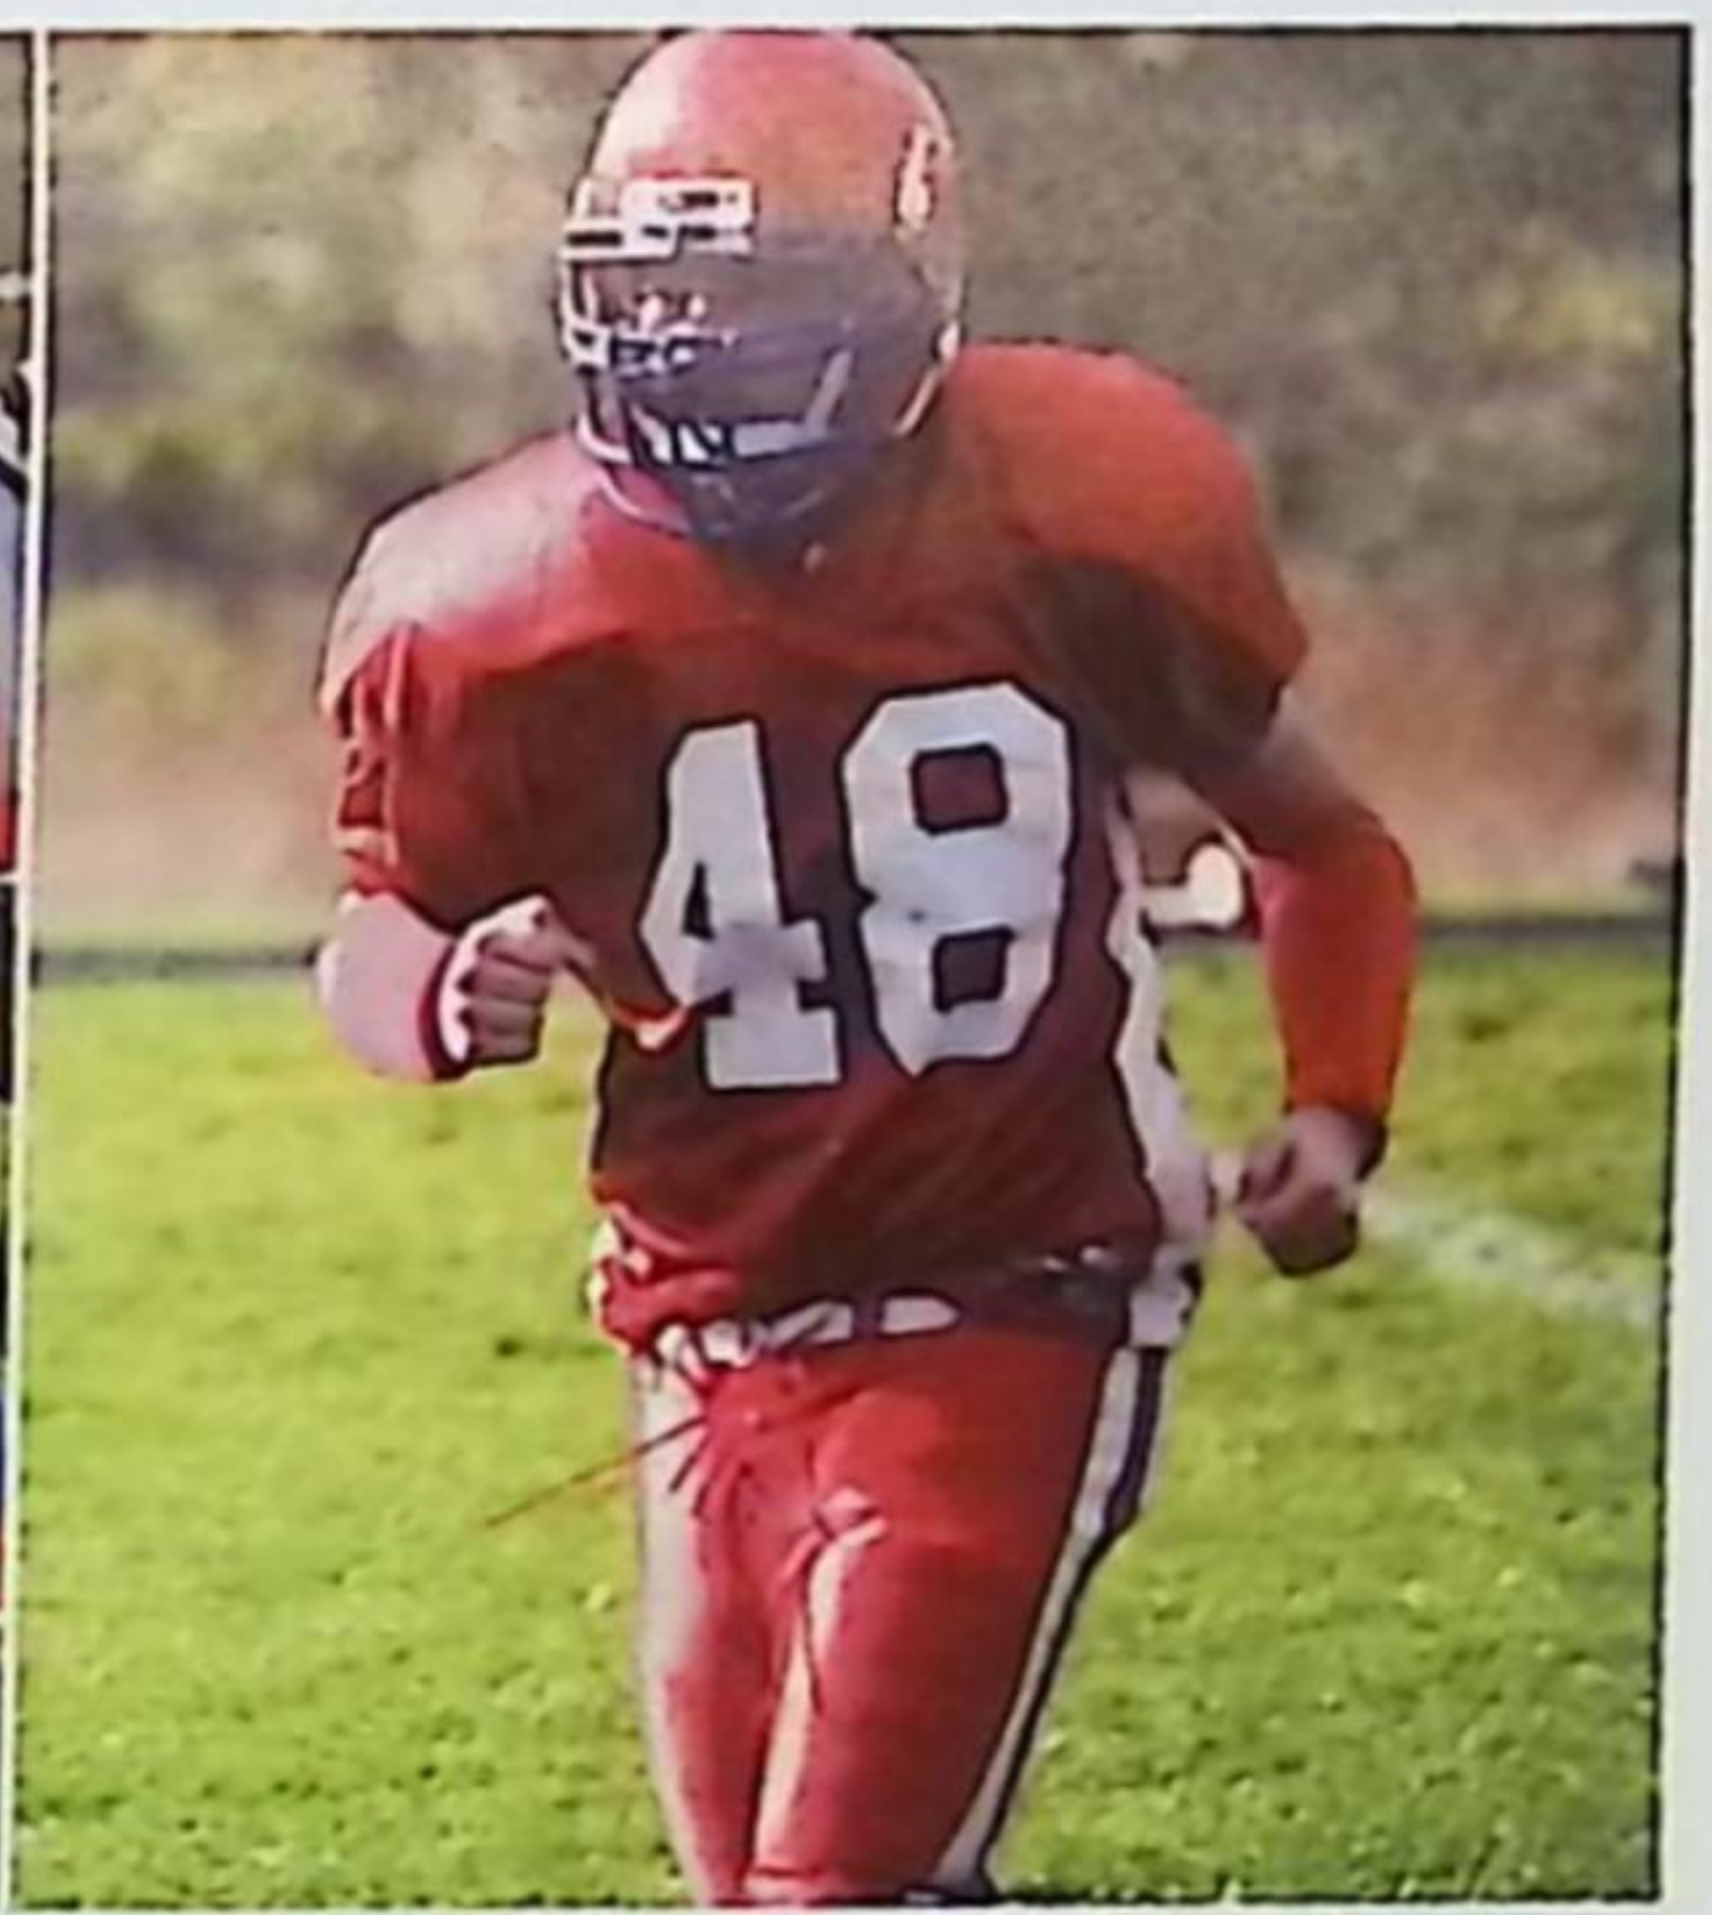
Butterflies slowly erupt inside each player's stomach as they step onto the field. A quick rush of adrenaline gushes through their veins, as they wait anxiously to play their first high school football game. Tackling a new season with a powerful and positive mind set, the freshman football team brought all of their potential to every game. As the season reached its peak, there was a sudden downfall. Limited by only a handful of available players; due to countless injuries, the team was unable to finish the season. Unfortunately the team only played six games this season, but the available players were soon brought up to the JV football team with a large chunk of the season still left to play.



Positioning himself towards the opposing team, Eric Williams ('17) uses all of his strength to kick the football down the field as far as he can, while keeping it in bounds.

Anxious to know what play is next, the team gathers around quarter back Cameron Jabiro ('17) to listen to his wise decision.

Keen to defeat the Marysville Vikings, the blockers line up adjacent to each other, while waiting for the center to hike the ball to the quarter back.



Jogging to the sideline, during a practice with the varsity team, Eric Szalas ('17) joins the varsity football players who are gathered in a huddle listening to the instructions of Coach Nesbitt.

Varsity Cheer

Set, Set, Ready

Frozen Fingers & Frosted Pom-Poms

At the semi-final football game, the SCHS varsity cheer team was thrown a loop when Mother Nature decided to make the day a "little" chilly with numerous snow flurries. "It was quite an experience cheering in the freezing weather. Towards the second quarter my toes started to go numb even though I had two pairs of fuzzy socks on," said junior Alison Tackaberry. The entire varsity cheer team bundled up with tremendous amounts of layers. Most had hand warmers inside their gloves and a few even had feet warmers in their shoes. Keeping busy with lots of cheers, helped them to conserve some body heat. Needless to say, not only was the game one for the history book, but the bitter cold will linger in our memories as well.

Preping for a straight up lib, bases Danielle Oswaila and Miranda Mienke ('15) strongly grip the ankle of their flyer, Jordan Gills ('16) before lifting her up into the air.

Snooze & Snap!

Practice is the key to stunning the crowd. The girls tirelessly drilled their timing and steps in order to perfect their movements. One wrong move could lead to a serious fall. However, the girls like to take a break every now and then, sometimes even taking a quick nap at practice. But you better hope you don't get caught sleeping, or the other girls might try to be funny. For example, they all put their shoes on Allison Schunk ('17) when she was resting her eyes, snapped a few pictures, and posted it online. Although it was embarrassing at first, it is a funny memory that Allison and the team will keep for a lifetime.

From getting lost in the woods and running from imaginary bears, to running in meets to beat their P.R, the cross country girls had an unforgettable season. Not only did they have great runs to remember, but they made great memories also. Cross country drew these girls together, in ways only spending many hours together can. The girls were with each other every step of the way. They had their teammates to turn to when they got lost in the woods. They grew closer as they pulled pranks overnight at cross country camp. Now, though the season may be over, the team and the relationships formed will always remain.

Varsity Volleyball

The 2013 varsity volleyball team never had a dull moment. Whether they were practicing their individual skills or suggesting baby names for their coach, since she is expecting a little one soon. One day, as a joke the entire team put volleyballs in their shirts to looks as if they were pregnant. It gave everyone a break from their tough practice to have some fun with their coach. These are just a few of the memories that will never be forgotten.

Staring down the other side of the court, Jenna Haddon ('14) anticipates the Mariner's very move.

Firing up for the next intense round, the team puts all hands in for a pregame "Saint's pride" cheer.

Quick on her feet, Goldie Breuhan ('14) leaps to the net and quickly tips the ball to the ther side of the court, scoring a much needed point.

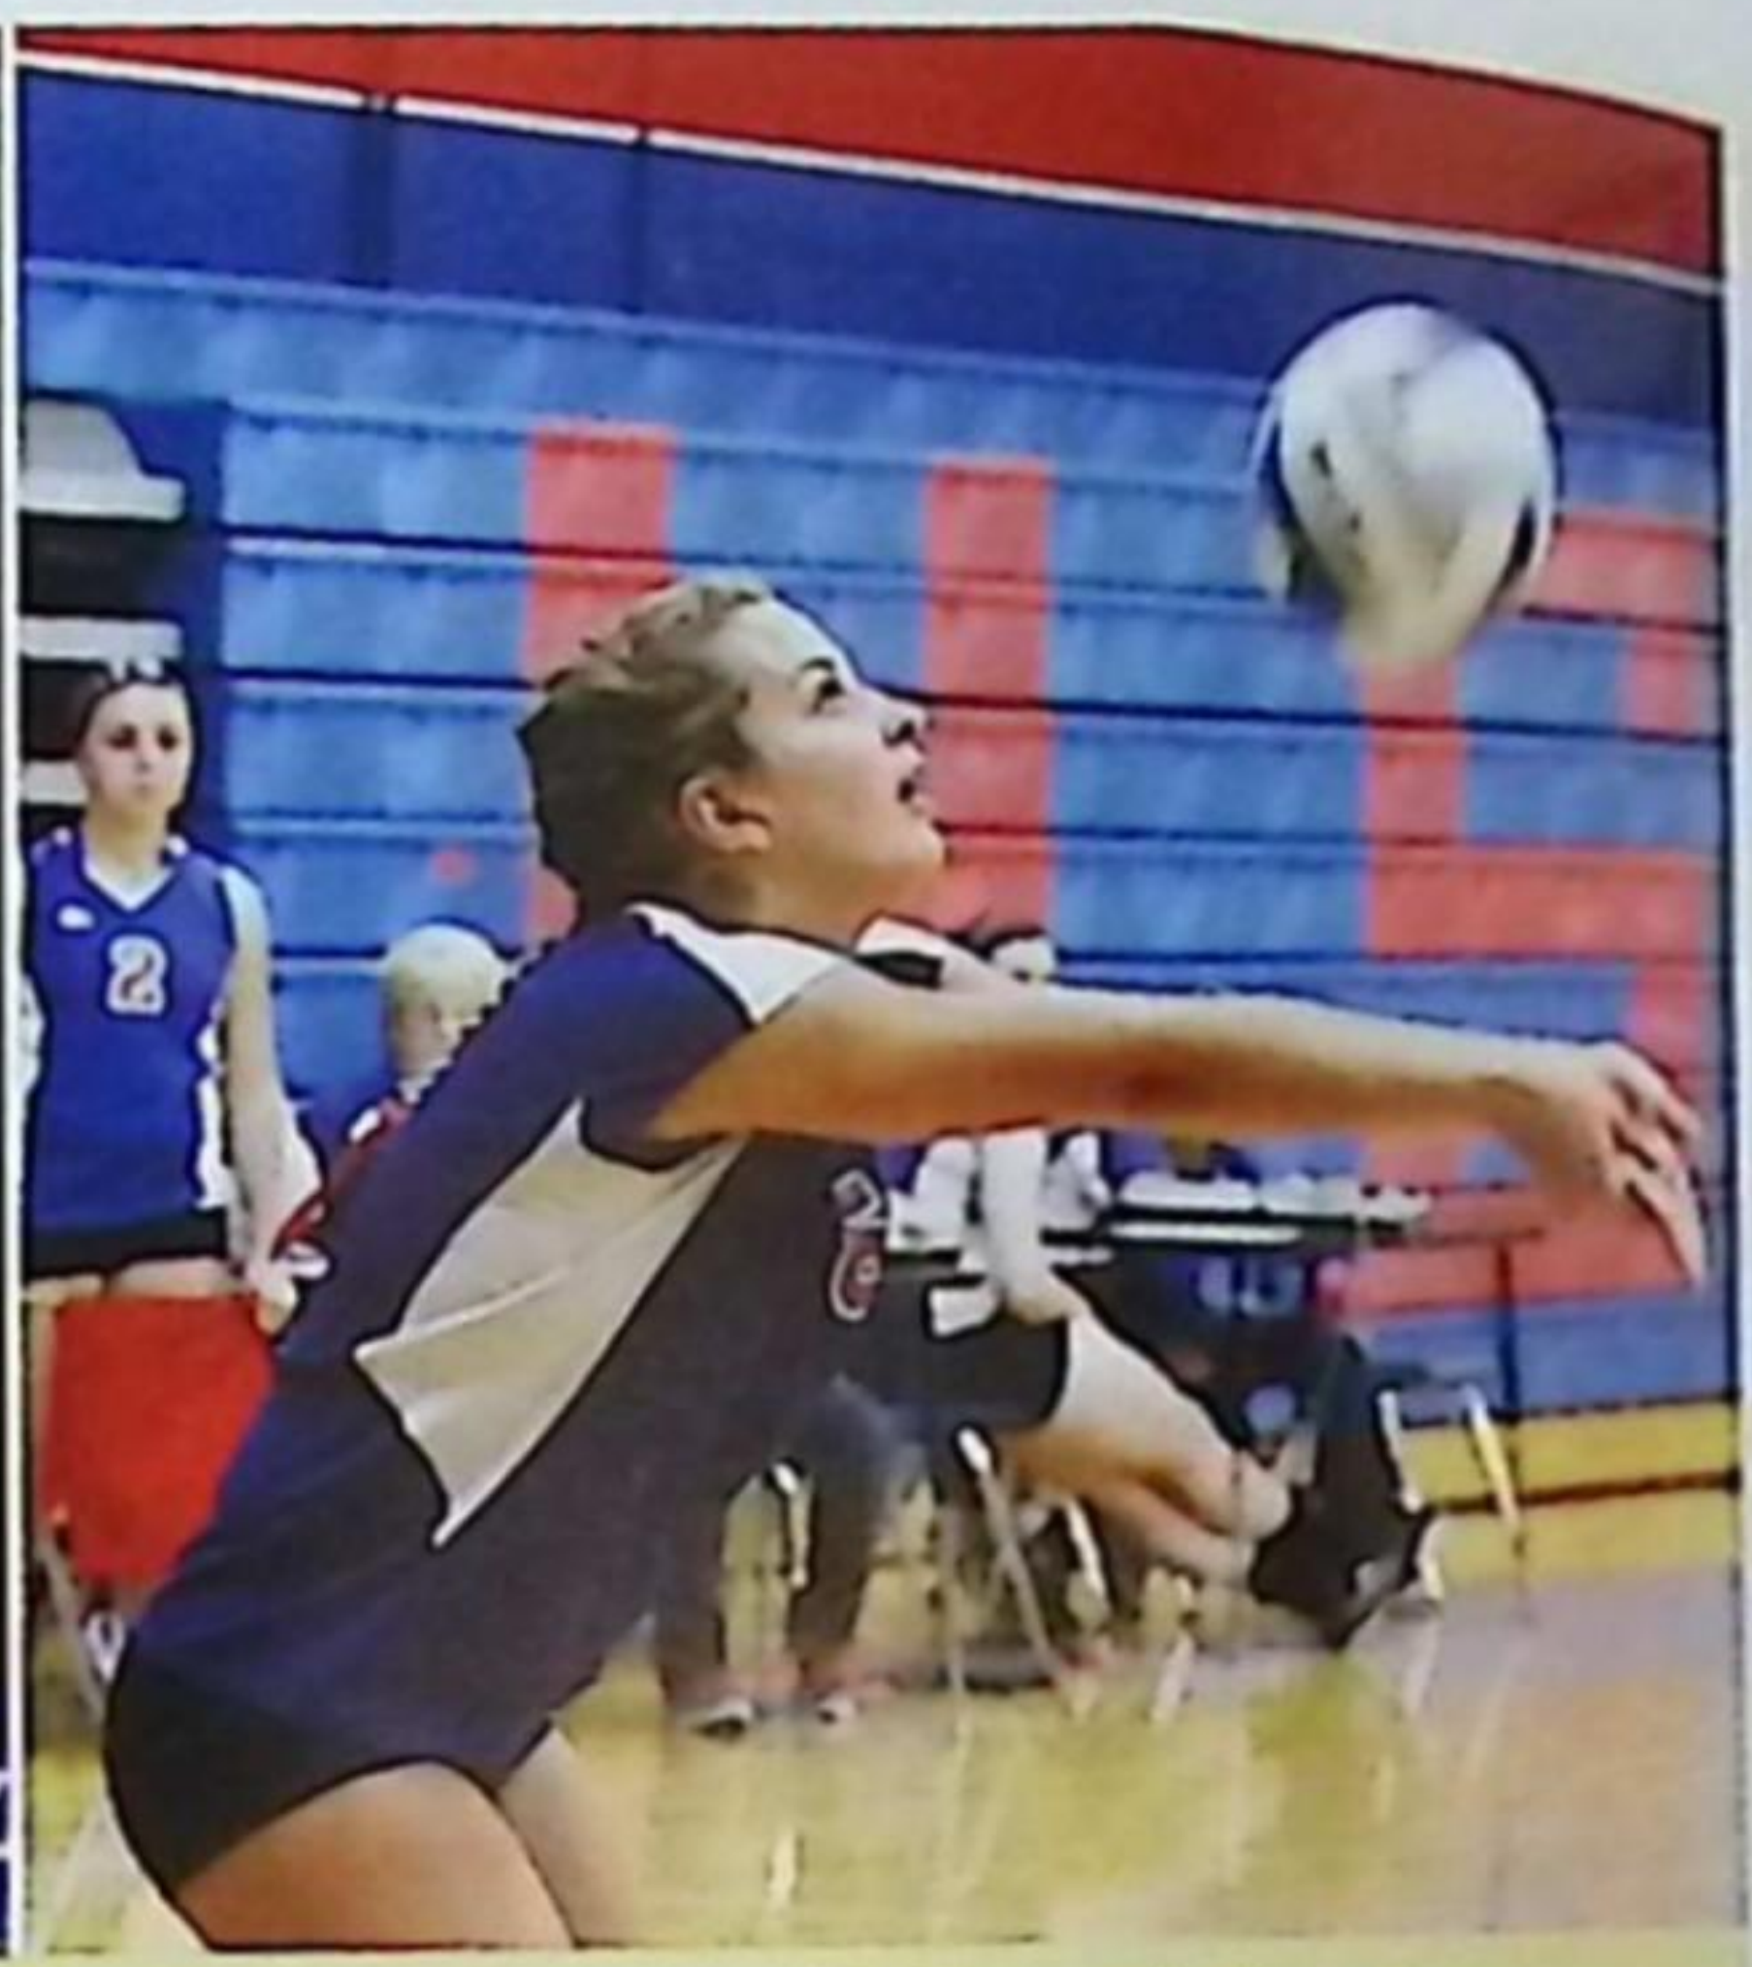
With an intense, serious stare, Olivia Packan ('15) quickly warms up her arm before ending the ball flying over the net for a quick ace.

With feet dangling off the ground and hands high into the air, Jenna Haddon and aitlyn O'Mara ('14) block the receiving ball, perfectly in sync.

Releasing from her transition, Madison Brosky ('16) surges toward the net after being set a quick outside attack with the objective of getting a kill.

Reading around the block, Sarah Longuski ('16) shuffles to her defensive position while keeping low for a quick hit.

Tip, tip, tip; check please! Atalie Zimmer ('16) quickly eyes up the other side of the court before sending a successful tip behind the outside block.



Sydney Boyte ('16) catches a well placed dump from the opposing setter, keeping the ball in play during the rival match between St.Clair and Marine City.

Junior Varsity Volleyball

Every volleyball player has that moment where they flat out embarrass themselves, whether it is diving for a ball and completely missing it, or taking a dig off your face. However, it is how that player redeems herself after the incident that truly matters. Sophomore Mariah Slis had one of these discouraging experiences this year at the Mount Morris Tournament. She was going to the end line to serve when she clumsily tripped over her own feet, ending up on the floor. "My first reaction was that I hoped no one saw me; luckily the ref told me that no one did. But when I looked around, the crowd was snickering at me; it was blatantly obvious that they saw my shameful stumble. Mentally I told myself that I had to just laugh it off." Redeeming herself, Slis racked up an astounding three aces, giving the Saints the lead they needed and proving that, when it comes to volleyball, she is graceful in any situation.

The girls swim team had quite an impressive season, as well as a whirlwind of events to deal with. Having to borrow a pool for practice every night from neighboring schools was one of the biggest obstacles in the girls' way. Proving their strength, determination, and intensity to the sport, these girls dug deep and found a whole new level of dedication. Dual Meet and MAC Champions, the girl's swim team dominated every meet they participated in. Going against all odds and overcoming the circumstances presented throughout the season, eight girls were sent on to compete in the state championship meet. Along with finishing ninth as a team, Lenna Szuminski, Meghan Lamb, Katie Kennedy, Ashley Jones ('14), Alexis Smith, Grace Shinske ('16), Jenna Meyers and Heidi Likins ('17) all had individual achievements to be proud of, and Meghan Lamb, Lenna Szuminski, Ashley Jones ('14) and Grace Shinske ('16) were All-State. Varsity Soccer

Scoring Saints

While the boy's varsity soccer season was a very successful one, there is one particular game that stands out in the players' minds. Roseville was an easy win for St. Clair as they completely dominated the game. They scored a quick eight goals, while Roseville never put a ball in the net. To many of the players, it was their favorite game. "Roseville was definitely my favorite game; it made me feel good to have scored so many times, especially since we ended up mercying them," said Scott Bradley ('15) who played offense during the game.

We Are the Champions

History was made this fall season at St. Clair High school as records broke and the teams kept bringing home major victories that inspired the support of the community. Whether it was the boys' varsity football team raising the bell trophy proudly over their heads after defeating the D4 state champions, the Mariners, for the first time in eight years, or being the first team in St. Clair history to make it to the semi-finals, we knew this fall was going to be memorable. The fans stormed the field when the boys' varsity soccer team moved on to district finals after beating Marysville in an intense shoot-out. The pool-less girls' swim team rose to success, remaining undefeated throughout their season and taking ninth in the state. Our boys' varsity tennis team qualified for state finals for the sixteenth consecutive year. To top it all off, the boys' cross country team dominated the state as they became back to back state champions, having zero losses for the past two years. No matter the sport, every athlete earned the respect and support of the community. As years pass, people will never forget the fall of 2013, where a small town was inspired by a group of athletes who defied all odds and became champions who will never be forgotten.

Marching Band

Hard Work Pays Off

The band is one of the most dedicated and most spirited group of students in this school. They practice every day, striving to be the best they can be. Spending countless hours practicing to play to an audience for a mere 15 minutes may seem irrational, but it without a doubt pays off. Even though time is of the essence, they make every moment count. During the marching band's halftime show, they all danced to "I Got Rhythm" and had a great time. They are always on time with one another making sure to exceed the expectations of the crowd. Seeing the band perform at halftime makes the football game much more exciting. Their hard work and practice makes every performance unforgettable.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Many of the numerous activities that go on at St. Clair high school would not be possible without the help of the Student Council. Whether it is the Homecoming week and dance, spirit challenges, or assemblies, Student Council does its best to make every moment count. The success of all of these events relies on the great dedication of student council's over ninety members, who even wake up at 8:00 am on the morning of dances to decorate. However, the road to the final product can sometimes be a shaky one. "It seemed like none of our decorations for Homecoming were turning out how I originally planned", explains Cassie Harms ('15), "but in the end, my committee pulled together and created something greater than I could have ever imagined!" Despite the occasional glitches, Student Council manages to create a spirited, welcoming school environment, largely contributing to the indescribable family setting at SCHS.

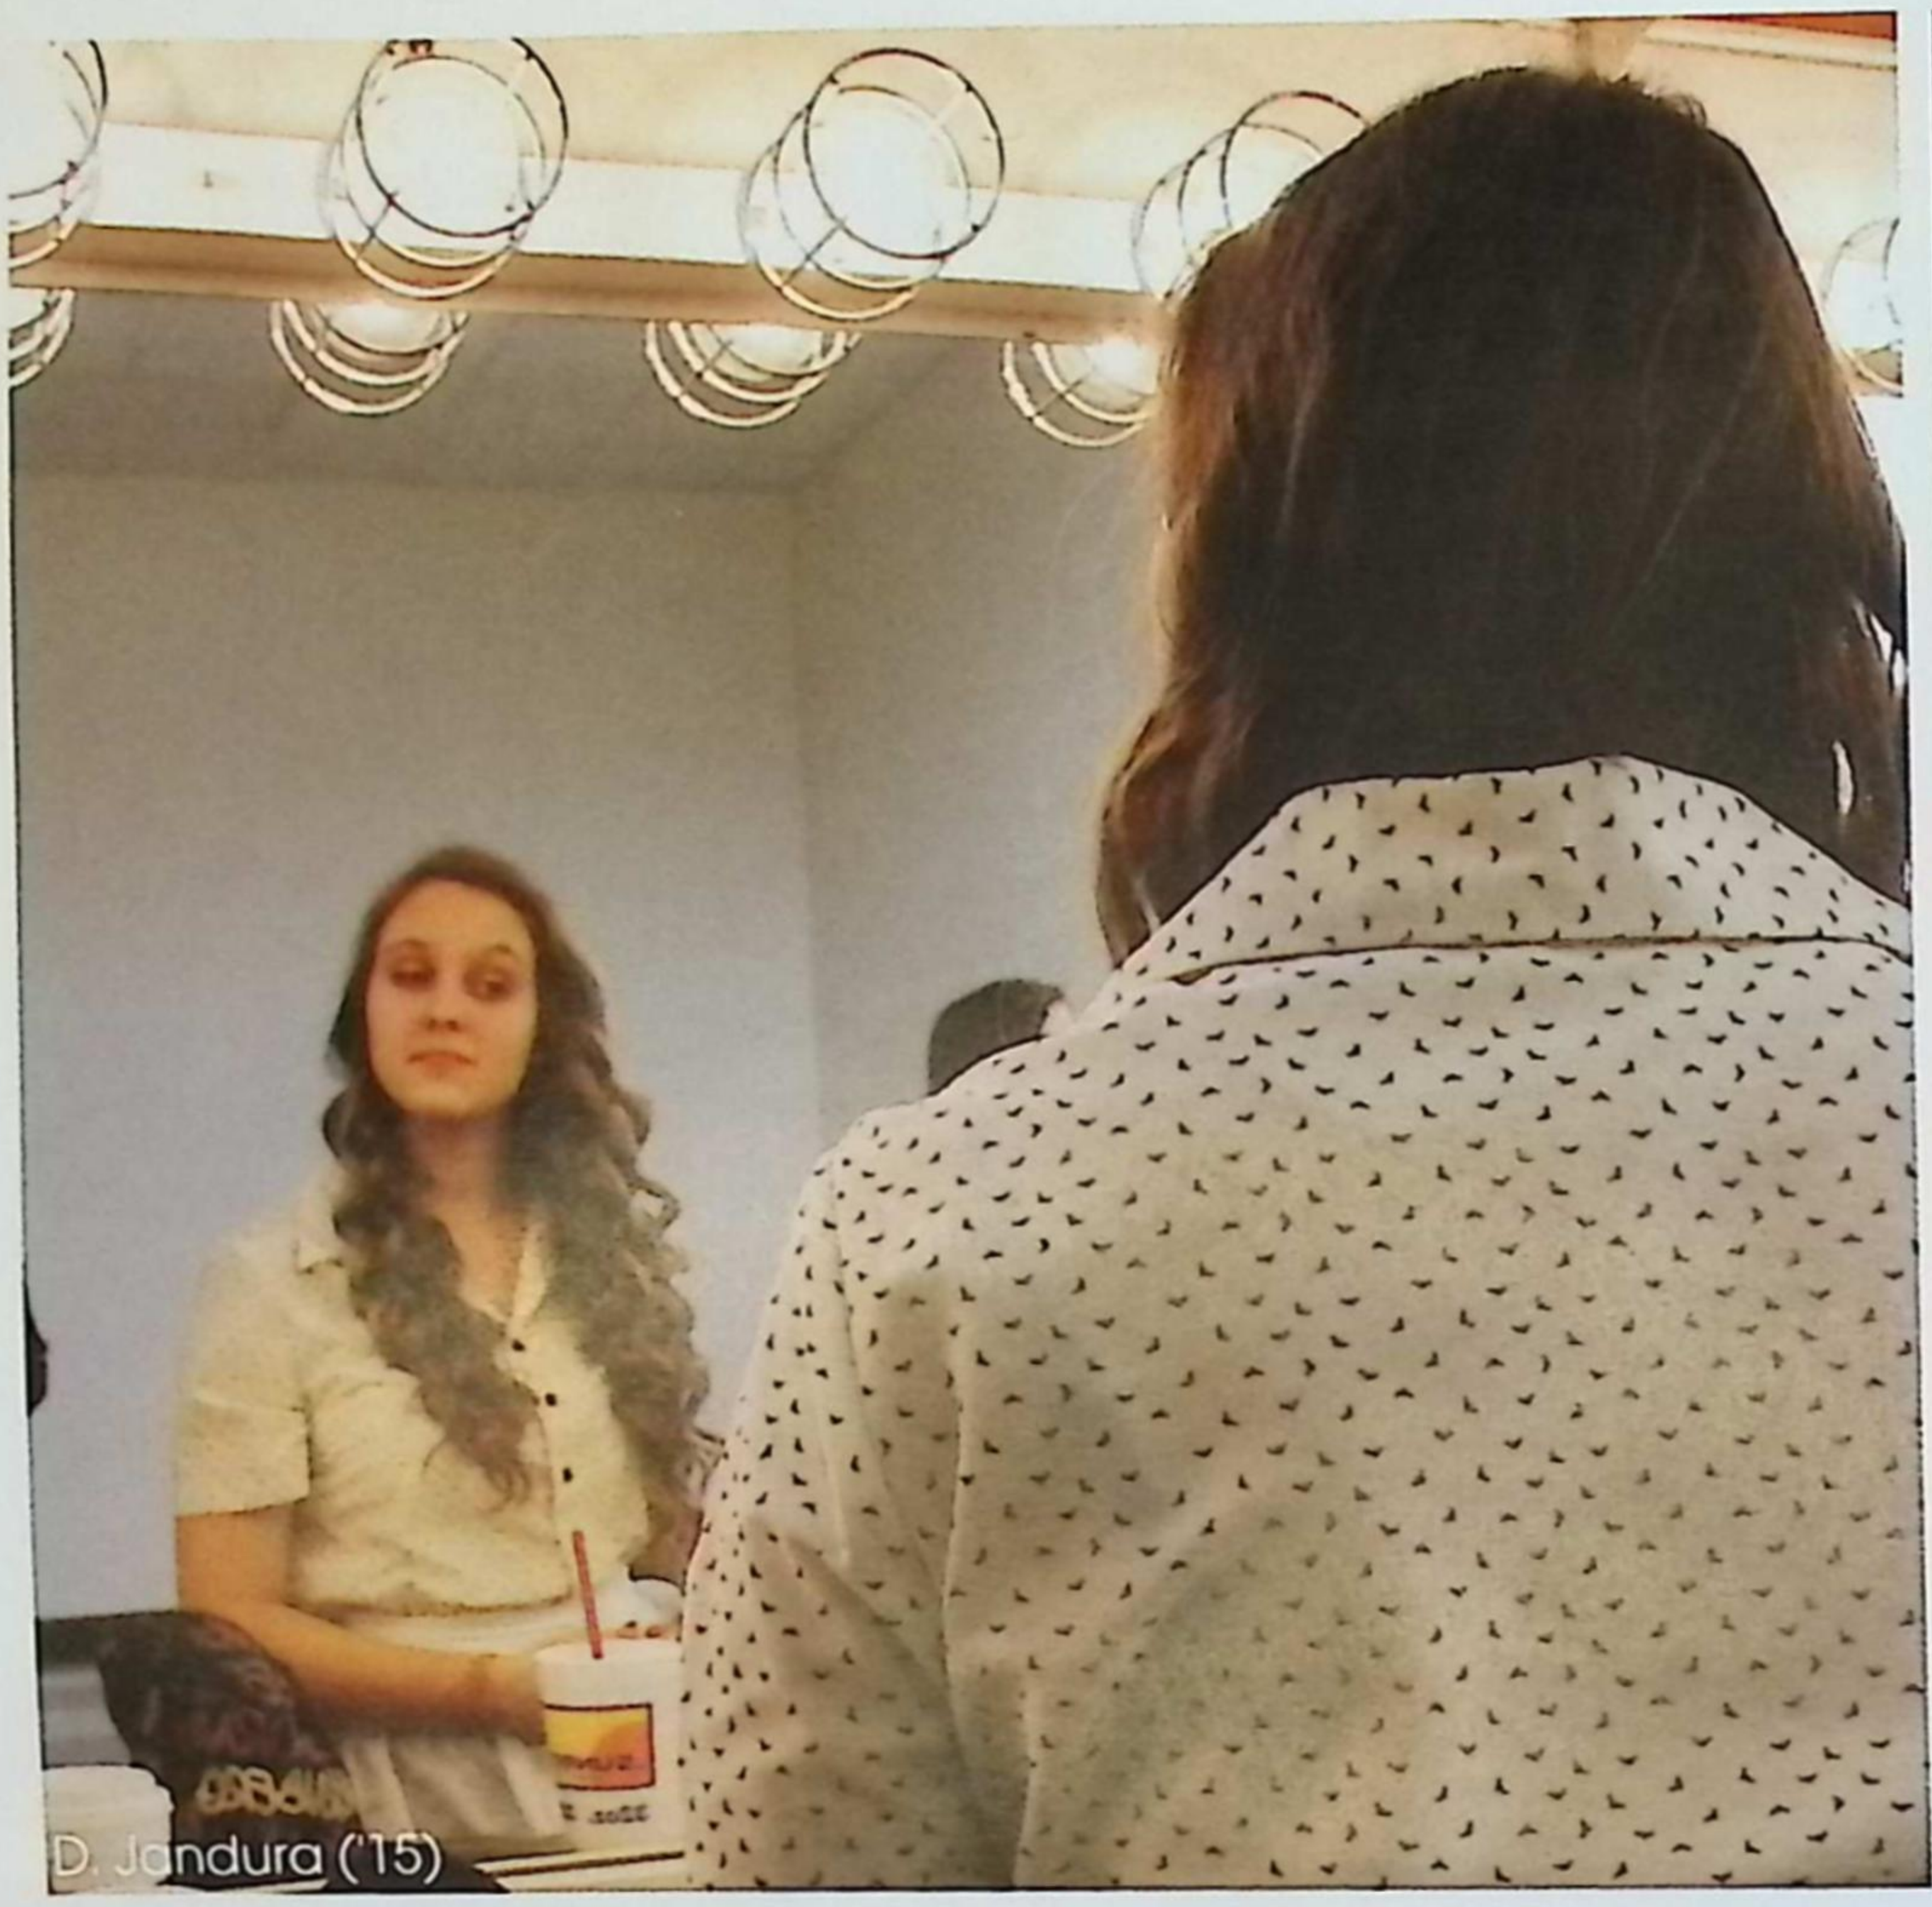
Cooking up Scares

This year's NHS haunted house had a bit of a twist to it, its theme was a zombie apocalypse. Unfortunately, last year's haunted house was cancelled; therefore the returning members, and new advisor, were starting from scratch. The group decided on many spooky rooms like a haunted kitchen, graveyard, jail, theatre, and farm. The NHS members worked very hard to pull all their ideas together to make one large and terrifying zombie apocalypse. All 59 members put in countless hours of hard work and dedication into this event. National Honor Society is a great way to give back to the community and create lasting memories for everyone involved.

Courtney Ingles ('14)



Theater Troupe

The fall production was a captivating performance unlike anything the theatre troupe has done before. The audience was given the opportunity to sit on stage with the "theatre in the round" seating arrangement. The Children's Hour demanded its character to act with moving emotion, but with the crowd breathing down their necks, the actors were challenged on new levels. "You can't make any mistakes because the audience can see every reaction you have; you have to perform from every angle," explains Michaela Venditti ('15). Finding the perfect balance allowed those watching to truly believe what the characters were thinking and feeling. The theme had a lasting impression on the audience as it compelled them to not jump to conclusions and discover the truth for themselves. The theatre troupe out did themselves with a tremendous performance that left a lasting impression on the hearts of all who witnessed it.

Powderpuff

Leaving a Legacy

For this year's Powder puff game the junior and senior girls traded in their shorts and tee shirts for pants and sweatshirts (with the exception of a brave few). The near freezing temperature brought an additional challenge to an already intense, difficult game. However, instead of letting the weather intrude on their fun, participates bundled up in layers, put their game faces on, and got ready to dominate on the field. With every unbelievable catch, lighting fast run, and impeccable throw, spectators and players knew that this was anyone's game. After numerous drives coming within just a few yards of scoring a touchdown, a close, low scoring game ended with the seniors coming up as the victors for the second year in the row. Even though students may get extremely competitive when it comes to winning, everyone knows that the true Powderpuff spirit is to just get out on the turf and come together as a team. This year proved to be no exception to this rule, creating another great bonding experience for students at SCHS.

Did you feel that the larger/smaller size of your Powderpuff team help or hindered your success?

"I felt that the junior's larger size was helpful because we had more people to rotate in and out of positions, allowing people to take a much needed brake and catch their breath."
-Lexi Painter ('15)

"The small size of the senior team was an advantage because we did not have to teach a lot of people what to do. Instead, we could spend more time perfecting plays and making sure that the people who were there were exceptional."
-Alyson Edgemon ('14)

Where'd you get that sweater?

Everyone has that one sweater that should have never been made, not to mention purchased. However, instead of stuffing them into the back of their closets, the students of St.Clair High School loved to show these wacky fashions off during December. People may have snickered at the crazy sweaters, but most students took pride in their horrendous holiday attire. Kevin Dombek ('14) really got into the Christmas spirit and crafted his own ugly sweater. "I made my own Christmas tree sweater (shown left). It took me about an hour to complete and I think it was really creative... definitely in the top 5 ugly sweaters," said Kevin. As some students rocked around the "Kevin Christmas tree" others simply borrowed friends' festive outfits to celebrate the days before Christmas break. Whatever the case, it was a day that put everyone in the holiday mood and gave them a few giggles that they will never forget - mainly because of all the photos that were taken.

A Spoon Full of Sugar

Even though the sound of it is something quite atrocious... Mary Poppins is a musical that has inspired senior figure skater Alyssa Hankins since her childhood. For the last eleven years, Alyssa has spent ten hours each week at Glacier Point Ice Rink learning the art of figure skating. Every year in March, the Port Huron Figure Skating Club performs their annual program. Last year was a particularly memorable opportunity for her. "I was able to skate as Mary Poppins, which was a dream come true for me. I love Julie Andrews and to portray her in my routine was the greatest experience! Ever since I was little she has been my favorite actress and to skate to one of her songs was the most memorable event of the season," said Alyssa. Devoting the entire month of February to prepare for the show, she performed with such emotion surely even Julie Andrews would have been proud. Embracing the winter months, skating is like "a spoon full of sugar" to Alyssa.

Giving his heart to Christmas, Nolan Lyons ('16) creates a heart shaped ornament in Mr. Perrin's chemistry class to hang on his Christmas tree.

"The fact that the sophomores came in second for the midyear prize was awesome, and having a cookie bar during lunch was just the sugar high we needed."

DODGE BALL

The dodgeball tournament is full of exciting wins and dramatic losses. All the teams go head to head in a vicious competition hoping to come out victorious. In past years, the male and female winning teams have almost always been composed of all seniors. This year the winning girl's team, The Incrediballs, was a mix of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. "It was really cool to win the dodgeball tournament as a sophomore. The Slaughter Melons thought they were going to beat us but we did our best, came together as a team, and pulled through" said Brooke Mahn ('16). The Incrediballs proved to everyone that age does not matter when it comes to winning the dodgeball tournament, but rather skill, teamwork, and an understanding of the game is what brings success.

Healthy Bodies, Healthy Minds

Although gym classes may not necessarily be considered a highly scholastic class, it certainly has the potential of turning out to be the most memorable. Gym class is very fun and easy going while an academic class like science can be very stressful. Memories are always made in freshman swim class, as uncomfortable as the newcomers may be. However, even the most awkward encounter with your partner while practicing swimming techniques doesn't even compare to the freezing cold showers that take place after exiting the pool. Trading swim shorts for Bunsen burners and beakers, the academic transition between gym and science classes is welcomed. Exercising the mind is just as important as exercising the body, and SCHS is all about having well-rounded students.

"Kallisto Theocritus"

Painting with acrylics for the first time, senior Pim Rhodes (pictured above) creates a masterpiece for her independent project. She quickly learned the many techniques of using acrylics, including the different strokes and how to shade. She created a feathered look in the angels' wings and shaded its face, mixing multiple values of the same color. She calls her work "Kallisto Theocritus: The Most Beautiful Judge of God" after painting an angel with beautiful wings. Pim says, "What I like most about acrylics is that if you make a mistake you can paint over it once it is dry." Although there are the positive aspects to acrylics, there are also many difficult quirks of acrylic painting; "Mixing the same colors would have to be the most challenging part of working with acrylics," according to Pim.

Injuries served to be a large obstacle for the boys' varsity basketball team during the 2014 season. In the very first game of the season, Clarke Lamb ('15) tore his ACL, and as a result injured many of the muscles and ligaments in his knee: "I was going up for a lay-up, and just landed on my leg wrong,"Clarke explained. Jared Tobey ('14) also endured an injury early on in the season. "In the Sterling Heights game, I was running and stepped on my ankle incorrectly and ended up with a high ankle sprain. I was out for a few games," Tobey states. Fortunately, both Clarke and Jared were able to recover relatively quickly and made their way back on the court to finish the season strong for the Saints.

Sub-varsity sports are often overlooked by the student body. However, despite their occasional lack of recognition, freshman sports, especially basketball, are an important point in an athlete's high school career. Coming into the high school for the first time, freshmen have a lot of pressure on them to make a memorable first impression. By standing out in their first season, players can gain recognition as a potential future varsity athlete. "I definitely feel that I have to work really hard this season, because I want to play for Mr. Sharrow on the varsity level next year," explains Riley Finnegan ('17). This year's freshmen definitely finished with a memorable season, making their mark on SCHS as up-and-coming great athletes.

Forever a Family

With faces extremely focused on Coach Mahns, the team takes one last sip of water and one more breathe of air before putting their hands in the huddle for a "team on 3" cheer. Having a shortage of girls posed a huge problem for the freshman team this year. Starting off the season with only 9 girls was troublesome, and then with injuries on the JV team, requiring two players to be moved up, they ended up with 7 girls on the squad by the final game. Even with the shortage of players the team worked hard and finished the season with a 7-11 record. Never letting any problem get in there way, they realized coming together as a team was all they needed to be successful.

Wrestling

Wrestling is not a sport where the only preparation takes place at practice. One of the key factors to wrestling is gaining or losing a few pounds in order to make a specific weight class. This includes the dreaded activities of exercising, sweating, and eating healthy to hopefully shed a few pounds. If the wrestlers can't meet their goal, they can't wrestle in their desired weight class. Alex Ecarius ('17) knows the problems that can arise from this, after he didn't make weight earlier this wrestling season, and he had to wrestle in a slightly stronger class because of it. In one match he was lifted completely off the ground and thrown down to land haphazardly on his back, resulting in an injury to his spine. To Ecarius, though, the experience was not at all discouraging. "I still like wrestling. It keeps me fit, and it's a lot of fun." For the rest of the season, though, he always made sure to keep to his own weight class.

Boys Varsity Swim

"The event that stands out most in my mind from this year was our 'Killer Saints' practice. I won swimmer of the meet and was able to create the workout for our next practice. I chose to do monsters on 50 yard intervals. This meant that after every two laps we would have to get out of the pool and do a set amount of sit-ups and push-ups. The other guys hated it, but to me it was really fun and challenging."

Best Friends 'Till The End

e on a cheerleading team, you must have a large amount of trust in teammates, especially within the stunt groups. In a stunt group, it is the es and back spot's job to catch the flyer as she descends from the high nts. Being in the same stunt group for the past two seasons has made ber Clees ('16) and Brooke LaRue's ('17) bond extremely strong. Since oke is Amber's flyer, they have to have tremendous trust in one another, cause it is Amber's job to catch Brooke when she falls. "We are pretty ch twins, we do almost everything the same, and we even have the e tumbling skills," says Amber. Their strengths cover each other's knesses, making them both stronger. Good Luck Charm

Jittery nerves rattled each cheerleader as they prepared to take the mat. Unrestful energy drifted heavily through the gym as jaw-dropping performances wowed the judges. The uplifted spirits of fellow classmates gave the team a confidence boost at every competition. Never forgetting their good luck charm, the team eased their tension before every competition by gathering in an enclosed huddled and giving the bright green plush turtle two kisses per cheerleader. "I will never forget kneeling on the cold, hard mat counting the endless minutes while waiting to hear the final results of the MAC Gold Championship," said freshman Molly Reuba. After giving an outstanding performance the team took the title of the 2014 MAC Gold Champions. All of the hard work and dedication that every team member put into the sport definitely paid off.

Happy Holidays!

Just before Christmas break, the members of Oasis decided to have a Christmas party. To get the party started, fun filled games such as Charades! and Apples to Apples were played. Soon after, all of the members gathered around to listen to a student read Bible question. Suddenly the sweet smell of warm, soft, gooey brownies and cookies burst into the room along with three boxes of Hungry Howie's pizza. Each member savored every bite of the mouthwatering treats that were served. As the party ended the members enjoyed playing one last round of Charades!, followed by a closing prayer.

The Court is Back in Session

After a four year hiatus, the Mock Trial team emerged as an after school curricular for interested students. Going to the first tournament in Port Huron, with no prior experience, was a daunting task for the team. The St.Clair Mock Trial team A scored well enough to place them sixth, and team B not far behind, was an accomplishment neither team had imagined. Avary Humes' ('14) stellar performance earned her an award for her outstanding rendition as a witness during the Port Huron competition. Exploding back on to the scene is an understatement; this talented team exceeded the expectations of many.

BAND

The transition from marching outdoors at football games and parades, to performing concerts is normally relaxing for the St. Clair band. However, this year they made that transition a little later than usual. The Marching Saints went on to perform for the first time in the Detroit Thanksgiving Day Parade. They were one of few bands that were selected to march at this special occasion. The parade was optional for the students, but they still had an outstanding turn out. The students were up bright and early on Thanksgiving morning to get on a bus headed to the "D". Anticipating some snow, the Marching Saints special ordered Under Armor shirts to keep nice and warm. They also had to bring rubbing alcohol to keep the instruments from freezing. Despite the cold, and the mini blizzard, the Marching Saints performed their best and were the winners of The Battle of the Bands.

Preparing for the Thanksgiving Day parade, Cassandra Harms ('15) puts all her effort into the march around the halls of St. Clair High School.

Daring to be different and a little spontaneous this year, the choir decided they were Doing a Show for their winter concert. Ms. Nadasky wanted to push her students to step outside of their comfort zone and not only put on a show appealing to two of the five senses, hearing and seeing; while not only singing but dancing as well. She choreographed an intricate dance routine for them to perform with their opening song. "It was a unique and different experience, and is definitely something I will always remember" says freshman Molly Reuba. For some, dancing and singing can be hard to do at the same time, but all of the performers put their best foot forward and put on a spectacular show.

Bright Lights in the Big City

Bright lights, sequined dresses, and the pitch-perfect harmonies of Chicago made the winter performance an event no one wanted to miss. - Olivia Child ('14)

"I have done a lot of service hours this year, I think over 30."
- Dana Delor ('14)

National Honor Society hosts Holiday Babysitting every December. The members of NHS gather bright and early to babysit elementary school children so parents can have a day to Christmas shop. The day is filled with many fun activities such as balloon animals, a bounce house, and, a particular favorite, face painting. This year, Pim Rhodes ('14) donated her time and fantastic artistic abilities to paint gorgeous designs and patterns on childrens' faces. Student Council

Not only did the numerous snow days that St. Clair High School had this year affect the lesson plans and learning of students, but it also delayed many activities that Student Council had planned for the student body. One of the biggest events was Winterfest. Originally planned for December, the dance was postponed till February due to hazardous winter conditions. The arctic polar vortex was relentless even as February rolled around. The day before the big dance was scheduled to take place, yet another snow day was called for the students at St. Clair High. While many students were happily running back to bed, other students were worried that Winterfest would yet again be delayed. Student Council members were determined to not let this happen and made the dance a success. In addition to Winterfest, the senior mid-year prize had to be rescheduled because of snow days. Rather than watching Elf and getting into the Christmas spirit, seniors got to watch Monsters University while warming up in cozy footie pajamas. Despite the chaotic delays and bitter cold weather, Student Council persevered and put on events that every one enjoyed.

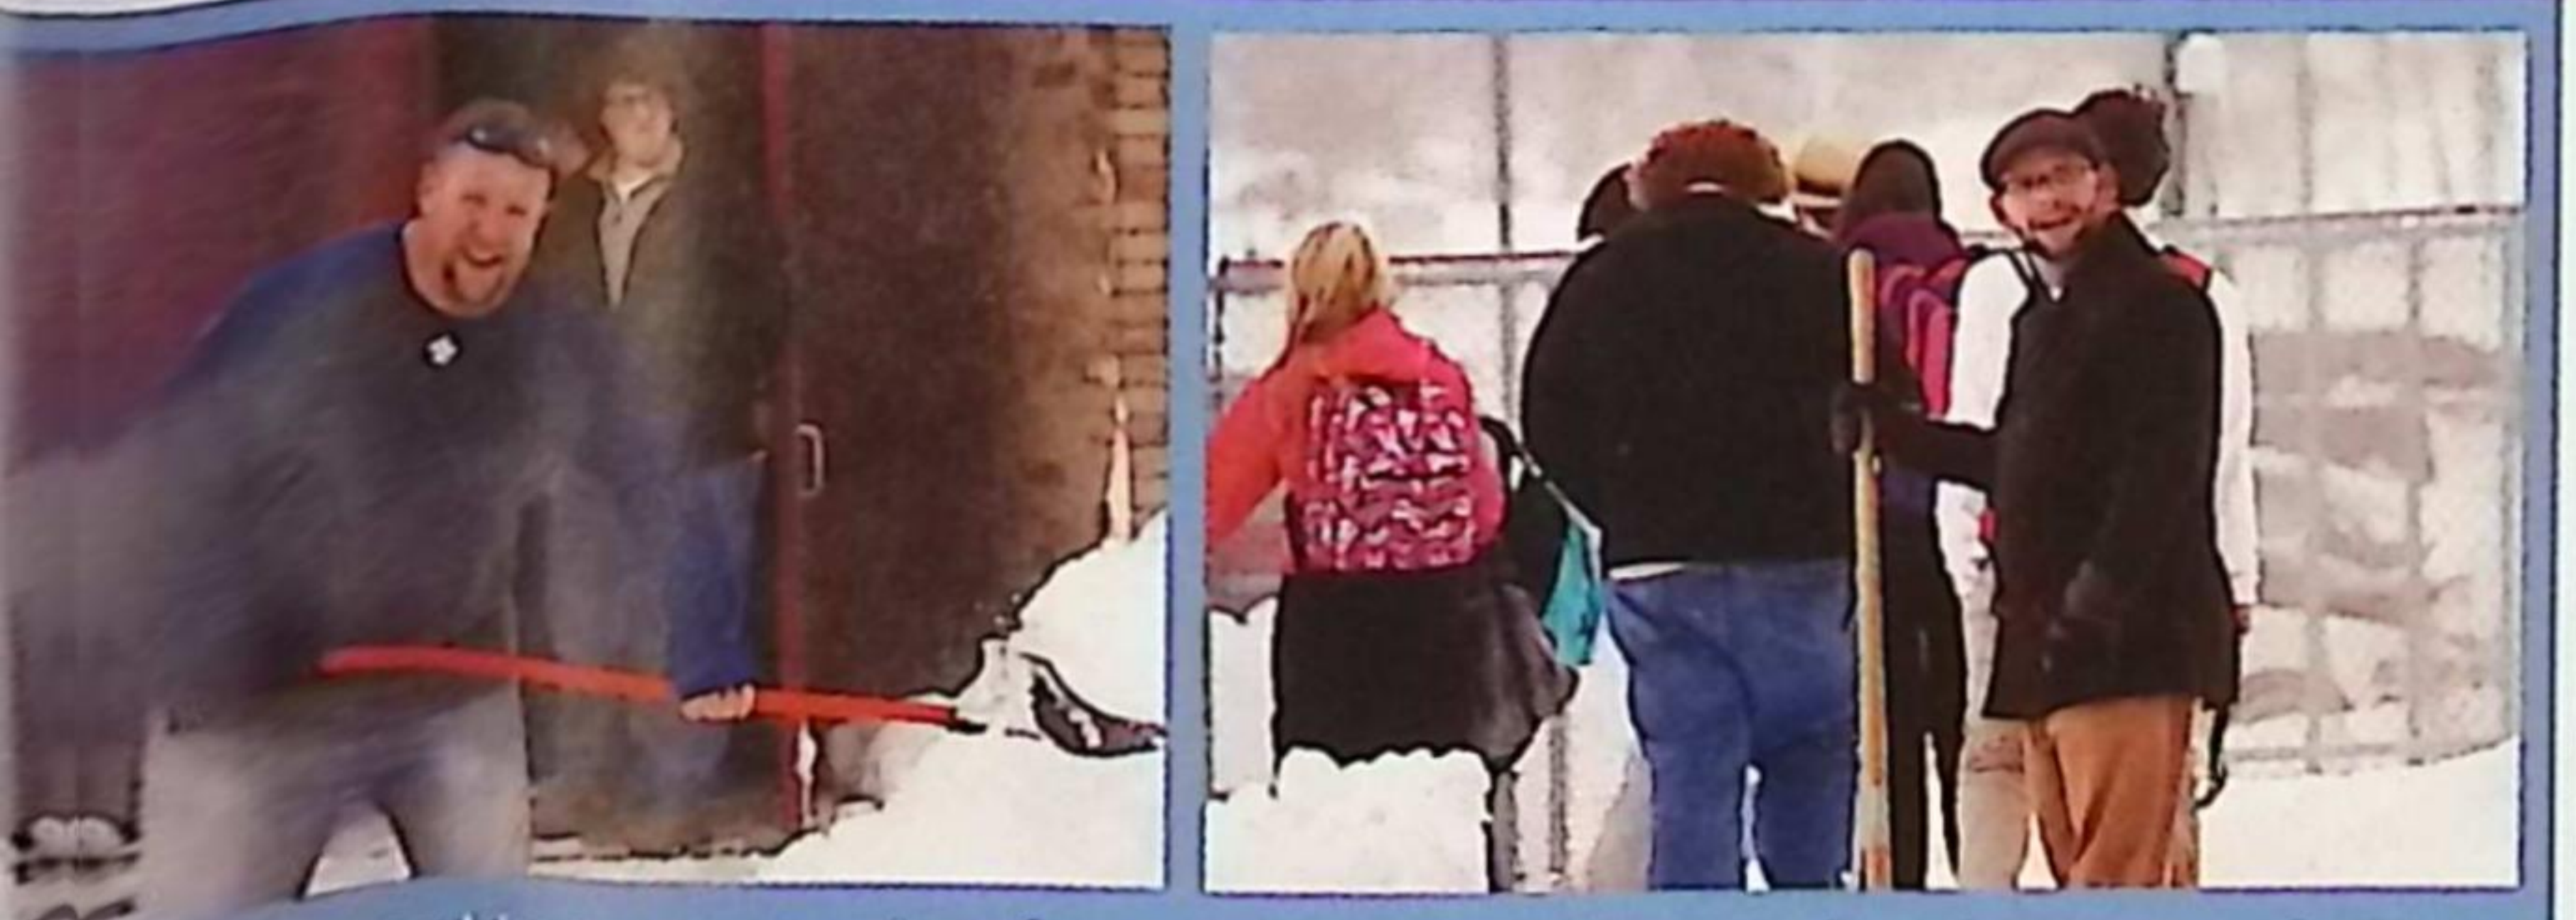
Double Trouble

Sisters Emily ('16) and Jenna Russell ('14) and brothers Joseph ('15) and Thomas Martin ('14) are all known for having pitch perfect voices, delivering emotional monologues with ease, and dazzling audiences with their jaw-dropping acting skills. The Russell sisters have been acting together for eight years and the Martin brothers for three. In this year's musical, Chicago, both of these brother-sister duos managed to snag all four lead roles. "Joey and I have been in more than six shows together," explains Thomas, "but Chicago is the first show that we have scenes together, and I'm really excited to work with him". Working with one's sibling for a long time could be a cause for conflict, but Joey states that it is just the opposite. "I love working with Tommy! Plus, when I first joined theatre, I already knew that I would have at least one friend there with me." However, when it comes to even the closest siblings, there are always a few bumps along the road. "In middle school, Emily and I both tried out for the part of Annie, and Emily got it," states Jenna. "I was kind of upset with her at first, but I got over it really quickly and Emily performed the role amazingly," she confesses. Overall, these siblings wouldn't be the actors and actresses they are today without one another. "If it wasn't for Jenna, I probably wouldn't be in theatre right now," says Emily. "During one of Jenna's previous musicals, one of the actresses dropped out. Since I was already there watching Jenna, I jumped right in, and my love of performing began!"



ecord breaking amounts of snow and polar vortex temperatures, was forced to take drastic measures in order to fight Mother this year. On a day that was predicted to only have two to three foot snowfall, students awoke to the disappointment of no snow and bundled up to head to school. Luckily, administrators such as Mr. Cook and Mr. Carlson ed above) grabbed some shovels and took matter into their own clearing the way for students to leave the pit safely.

Kelly Kaczmerak ('16) and Dani Jandura ('15) are never afraid to go all out for spirit days. "I have always received double points on dress-up days- never single points- and I'm not about to stop now," explains Dani. For nerd day this spirited duo paired up, sporting taped glasses, colorful suspenders, and mismatched socks, proving that even nerds can look cool.

Dear Olivia Rose,

It has been our privilege as parents to watch you grow from a cute toddler to an amazing young woman. You are trul a special person with so many gifts of music and theatre, of leadership, of horsemanship, of artistry, of academia, and simply of yourself. The greatest complement we can give as you move forward in life is that your Grandpa would be extremely proud. We love you very much and wish all the best for you in you future endeavors at MSU and beyond.

Tyler,
There is an amazing feeling that we as parents get when we describe to others the person you have grown up to be. Such an intelligent, hardworking, confident young man whose passion for learning and anything sports related have helped you excel at anything you do. Now that you have made it to graduation, we look forward to watching you continue to grow during the next phase of your life. So, to our college bound senior, continue to work hard, save time to play and love, keep your passionate spirit alive, and your family close. We love you Tyler! Our hearts are overflowing with pride. Congratulations! Now, Vamos, manos a la obra!

It's hard to believe that same little boy I dropped off for his first day of Kindergarten is about to graduate and begin the next chapter in his life. The years have gone by so fast, but they have been filled with the most treasured memories and more love than we could have ever imagined.

We sure will miss that adorable, fun and lovable little guy, but we look on with so much PRIDE at the amazing young man that you have become. So much determination, so much passion and more HEART than anyone we know.

From Power Wheels to Power Rangers... From Junior Football to St. Clair SAINTS first ever "Regional Champs!"... From WWE to an UNDEFEATED 171# MAC Gold Champion!... You have made us PROUD every step of the way!

Keep BELIEVING in yourself and keep chasing those dreams kid! You have brought more joy and happiness to our lives than you will ever know.

WE LOVE YOU MORE!

All our love, Grandpa David & Grandma Laurie

Garrett Royce

You've grown into a strong, but caring young man. You've been a great son and brother. Good luck in all you do. Keep God first and you'll go far.

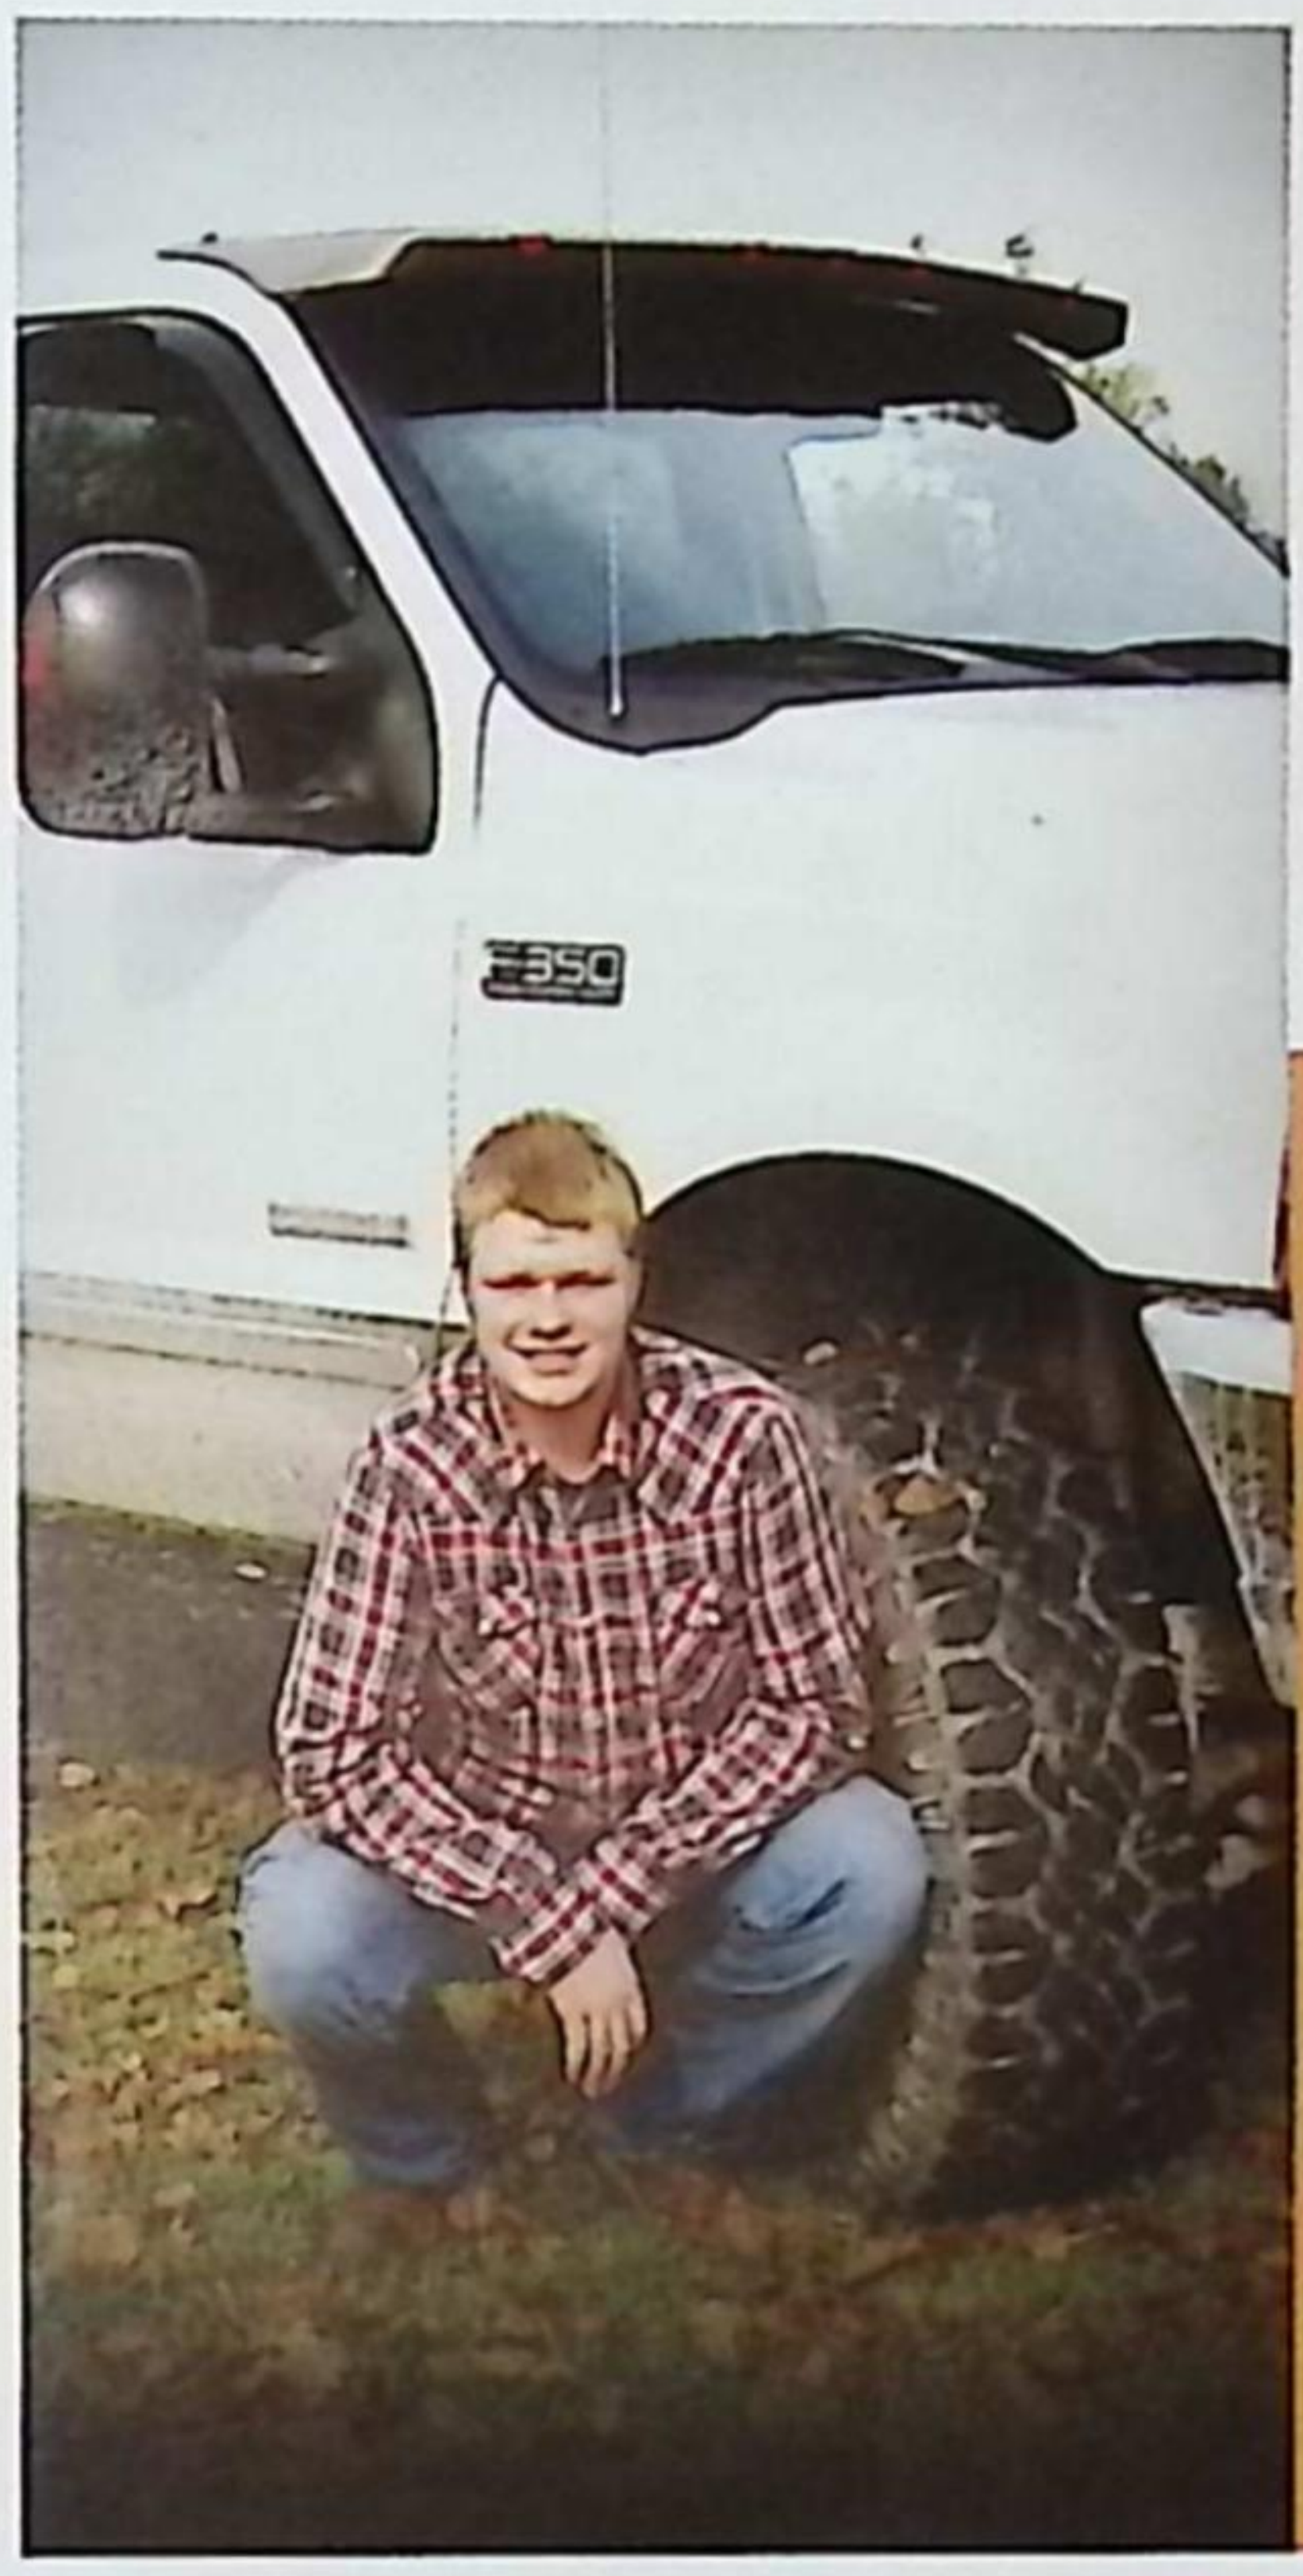
Love, Mom, Dad, and Jeffery

Kyle McPhee

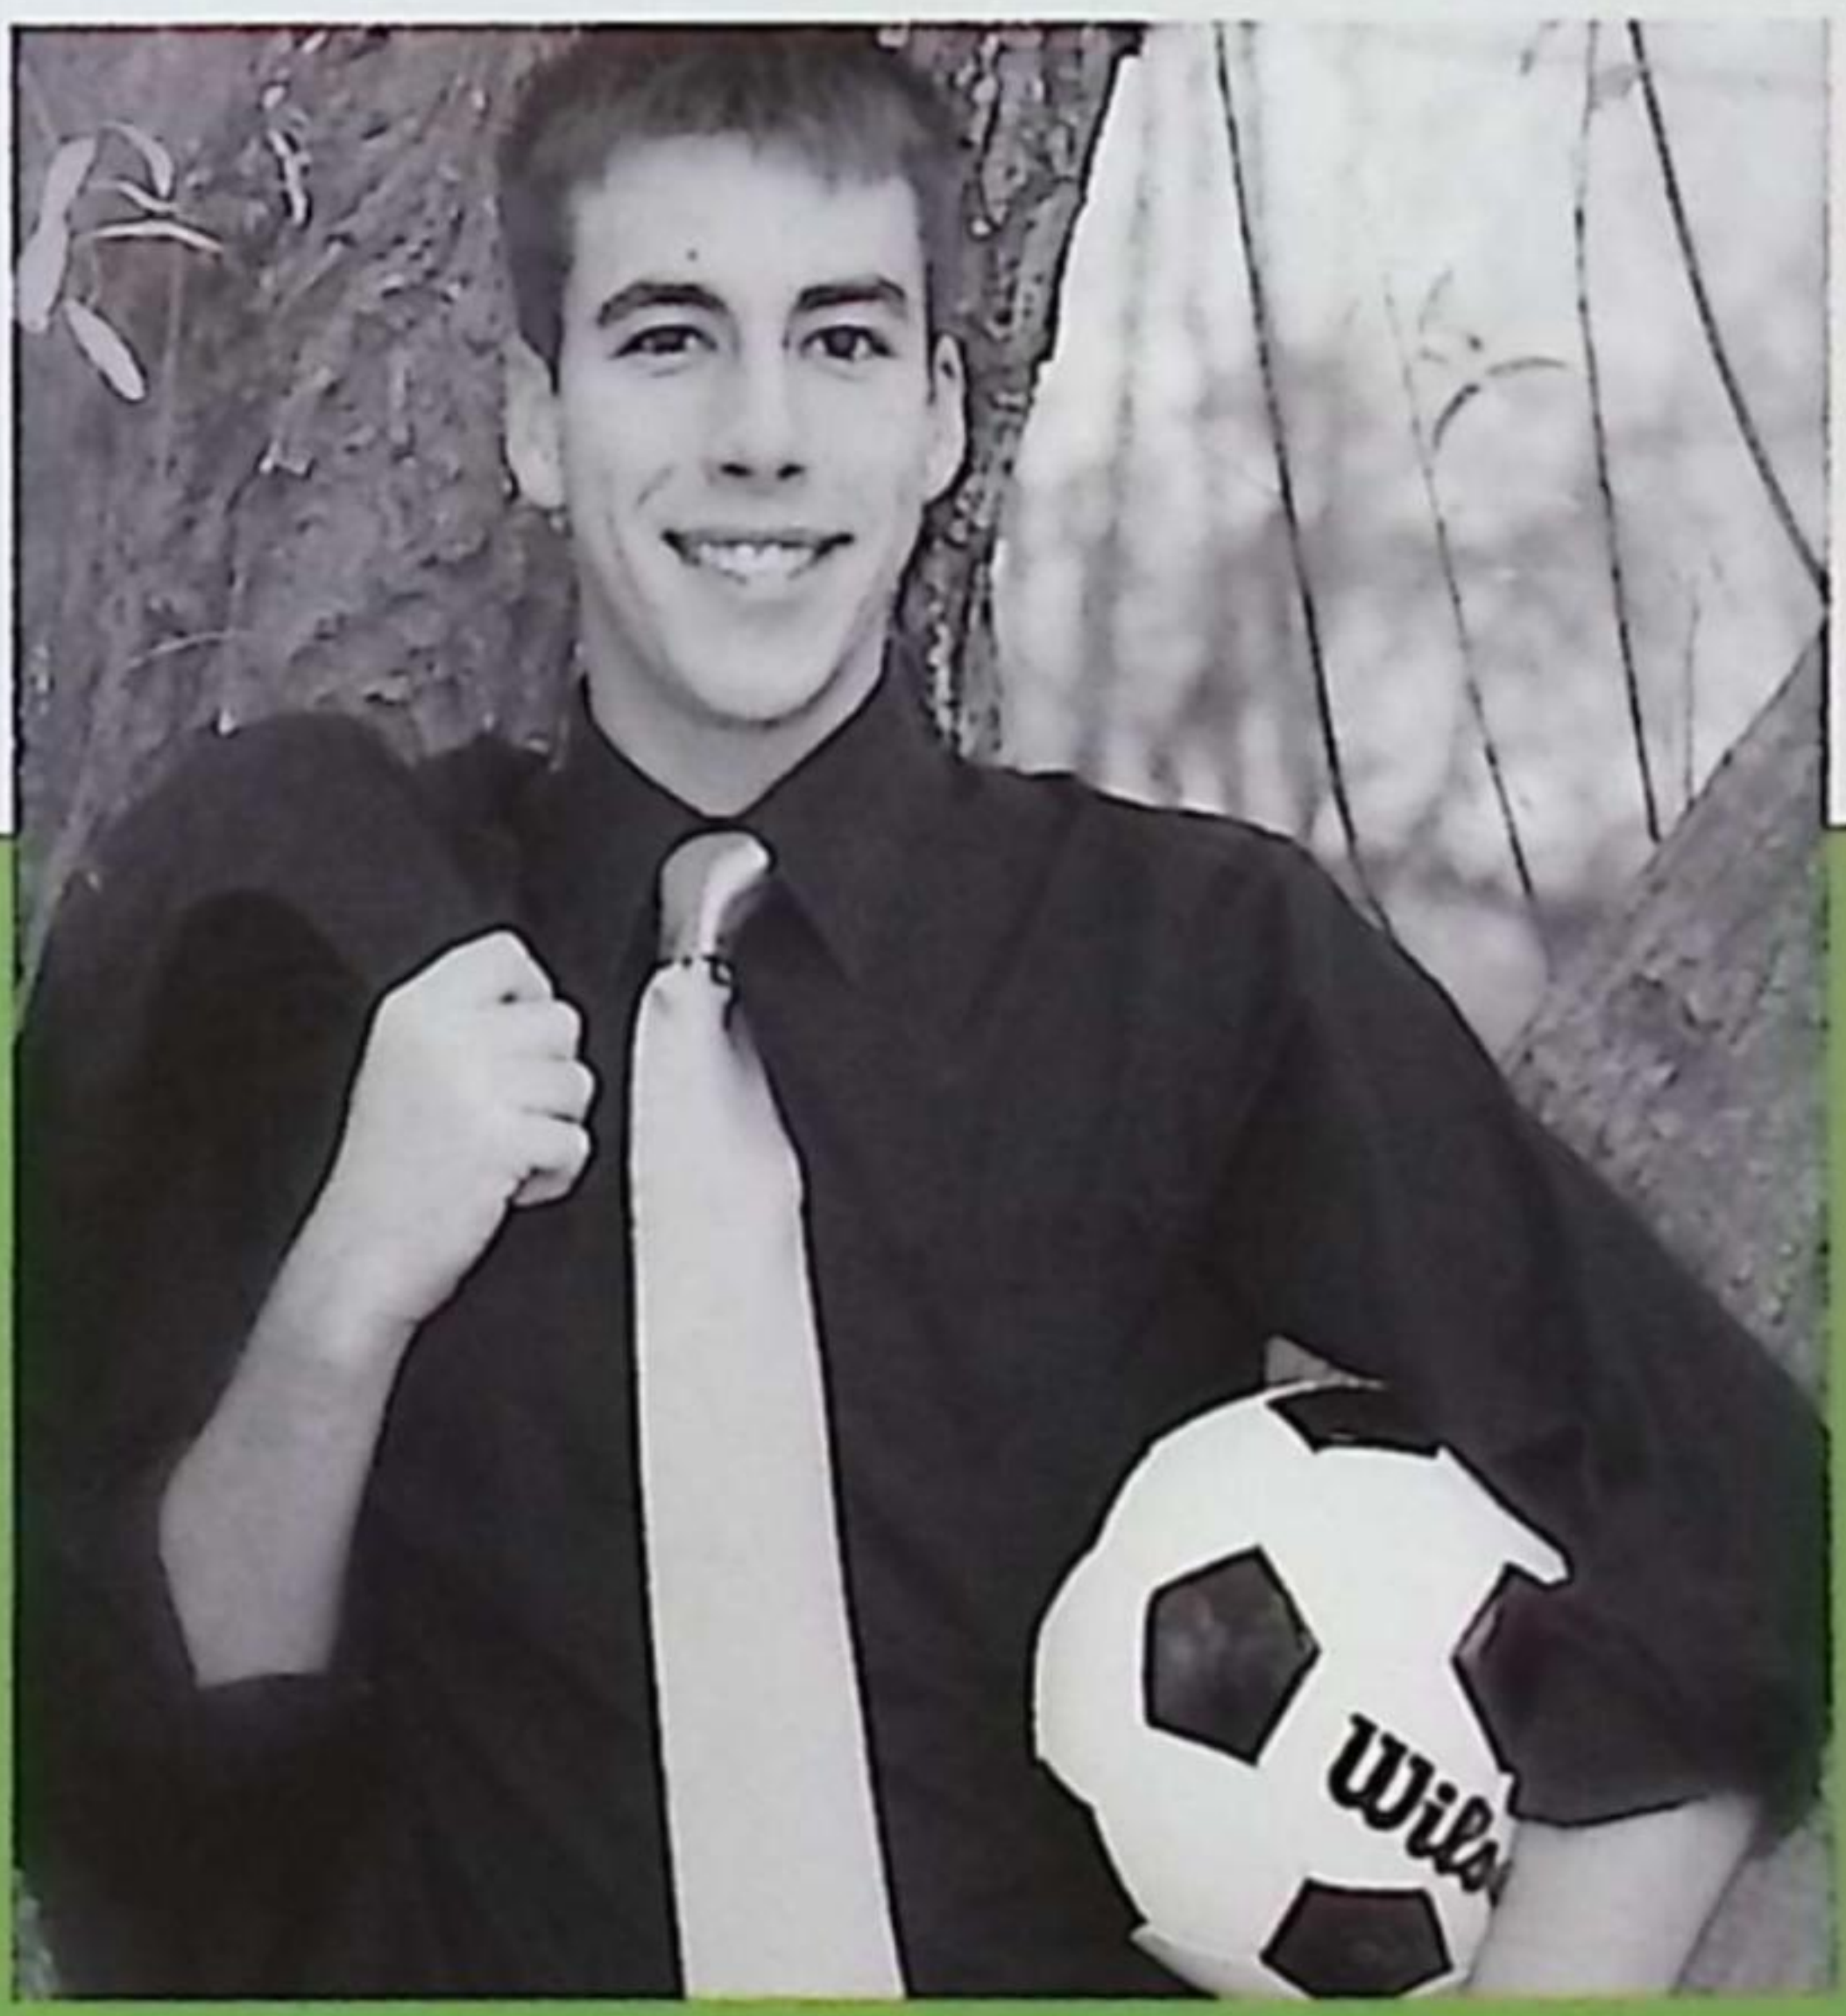
Dear Kyle,

We knew you were a gift from God when we seen your blue eyes and smile. You have filled our life with joy, and love may you carry that in to adulthood and follow your heart. We are proud of you

Love, Dad, Mom, Scott, & Grandma (CB4L Fluff)



Jaycob Schweiger



Jaycob

Our lives have been truly blessed because of you.
You are braver than you believe
Stronger than you seem
And smarter than you think.
Be strong in the Lord
Never give up hope
You're going to do great things,
I already know
God's got His hand on you
So don't live life in fear
But don't forget why you're here
Take your time and pray
Love will find you where you are.

I love you to the moon and back!
Mom and Dad

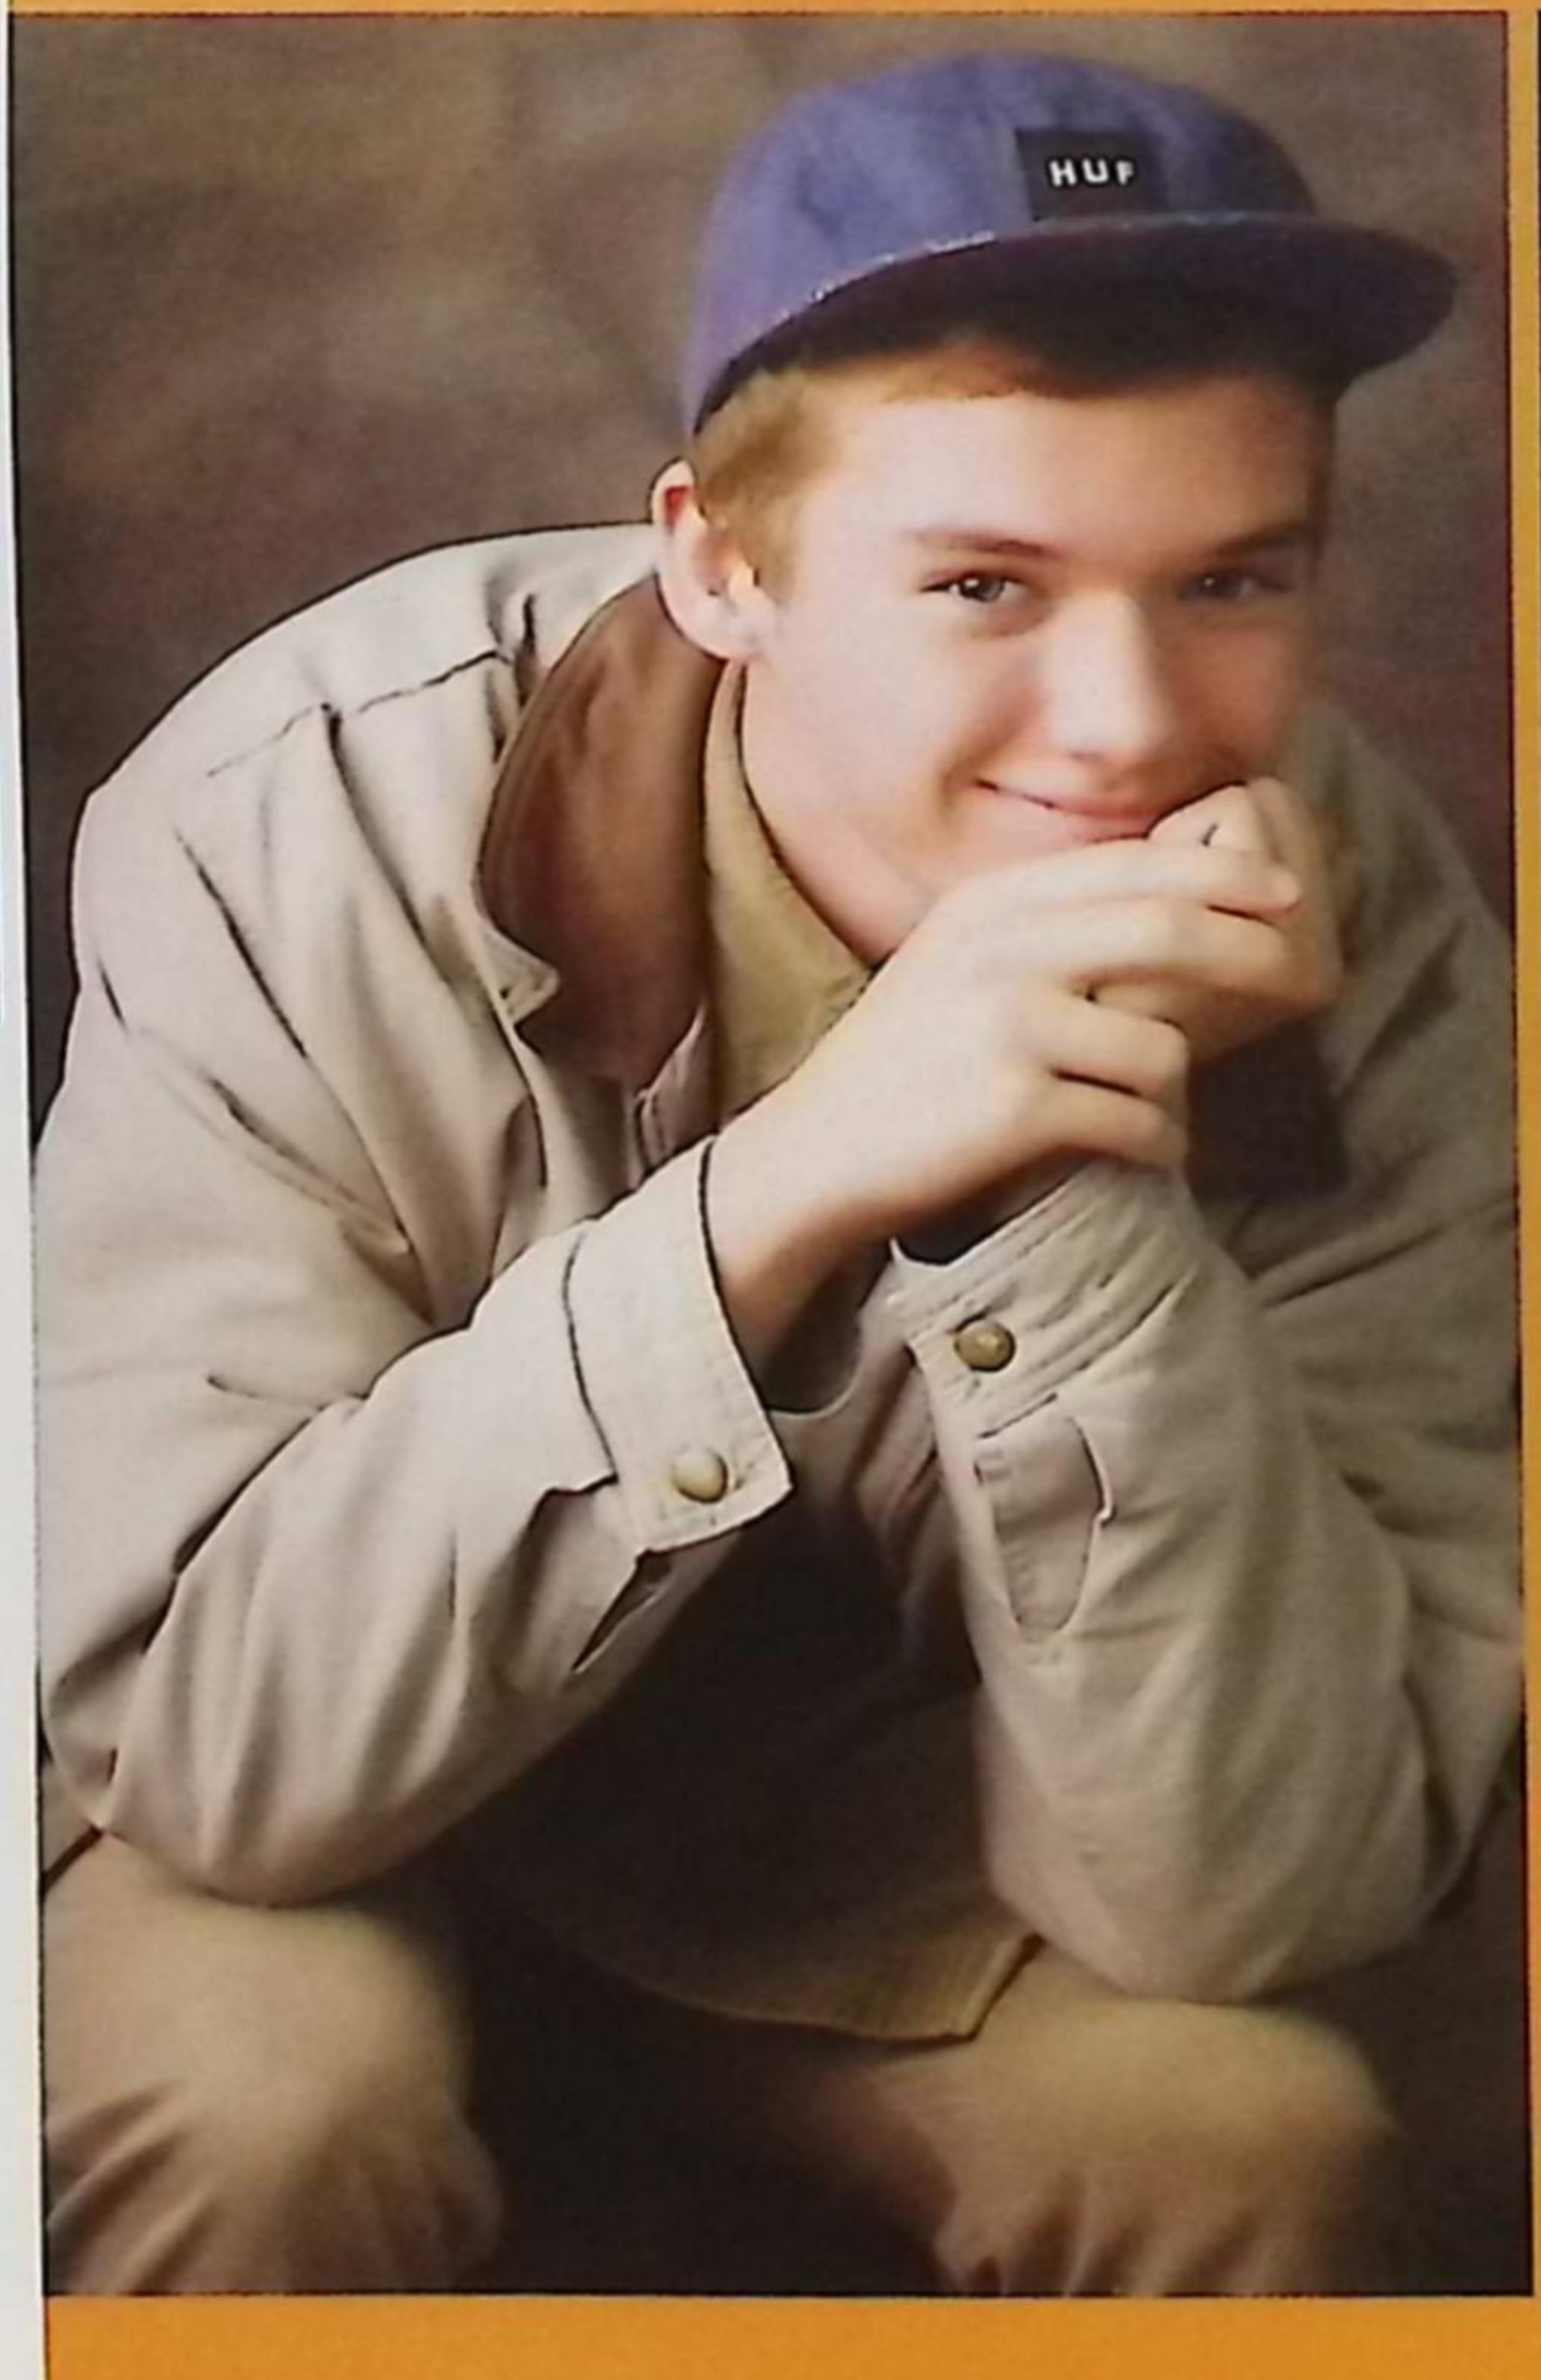
Evan,
You have always had wisdom beyond your years. You have a great future coming your way! Enjoy each day and enjoy your journey.
"Sign your name with excellence!"

We are proud of you,
Love, Mom, Dad, Jordyn, and Shane

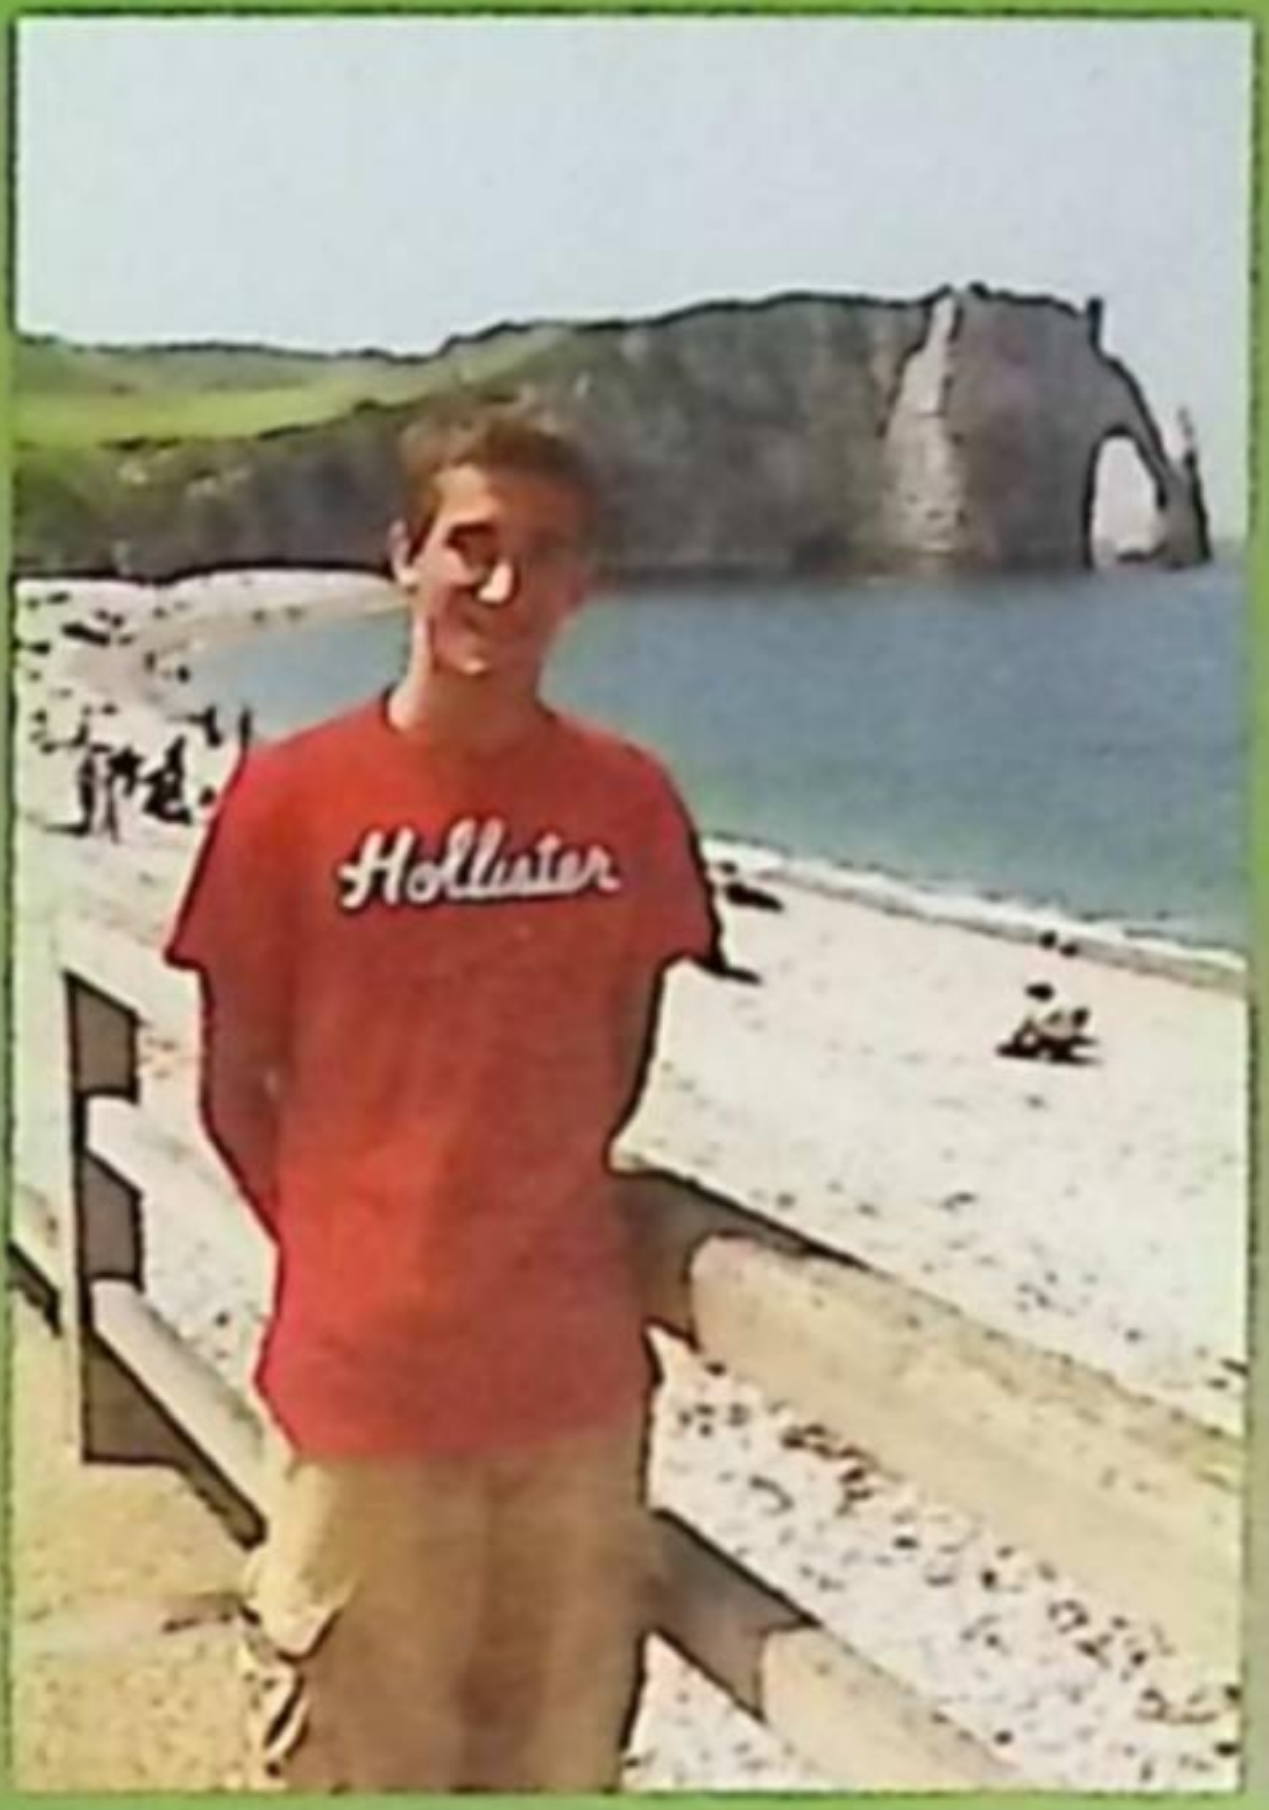
Evan Denomme

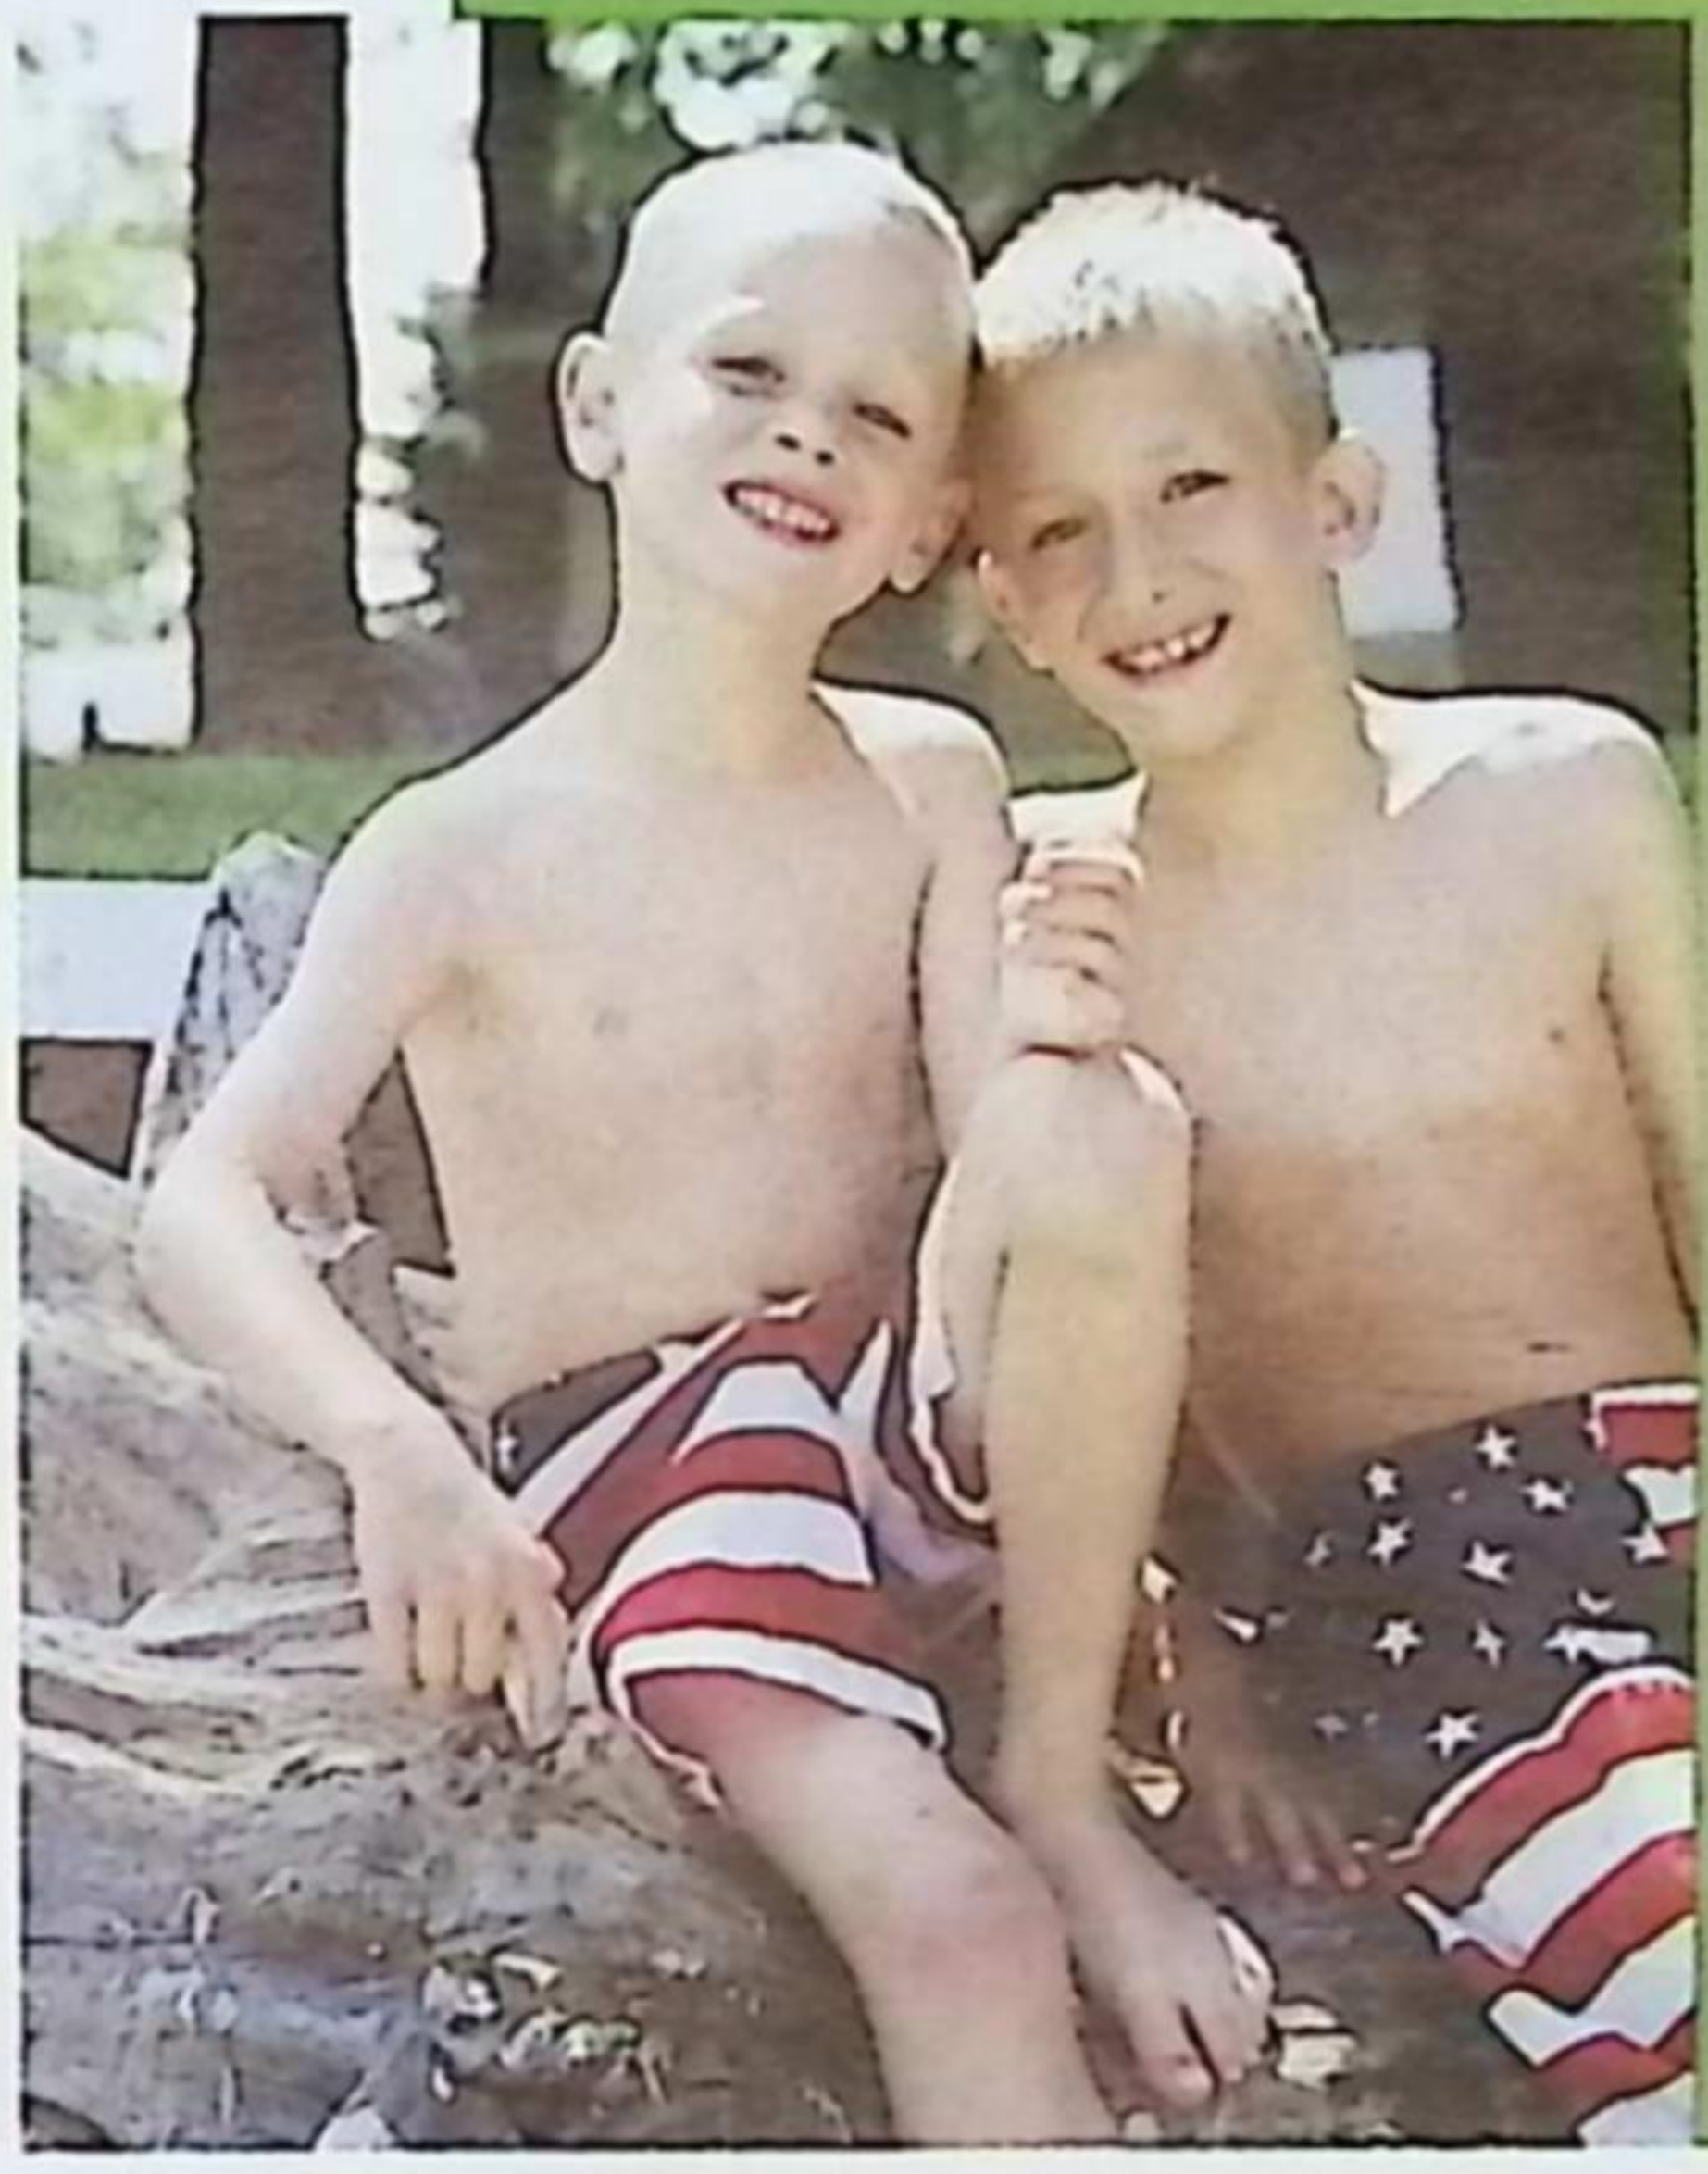


Brian Higgins

Brian,
It has been such a joy to watch you grow to become such an outstanding young man. We are so proud of all that you have accomplished and can't wait to see what lies ahead. Your kindness, energy, and adventurous spirit will take you far. Be bold, be honest, be faithful, be genuine, be hard working, be patient, but most of all, be yourself; you are the perfect you!

All our love,
Mom, Dad, and Collin



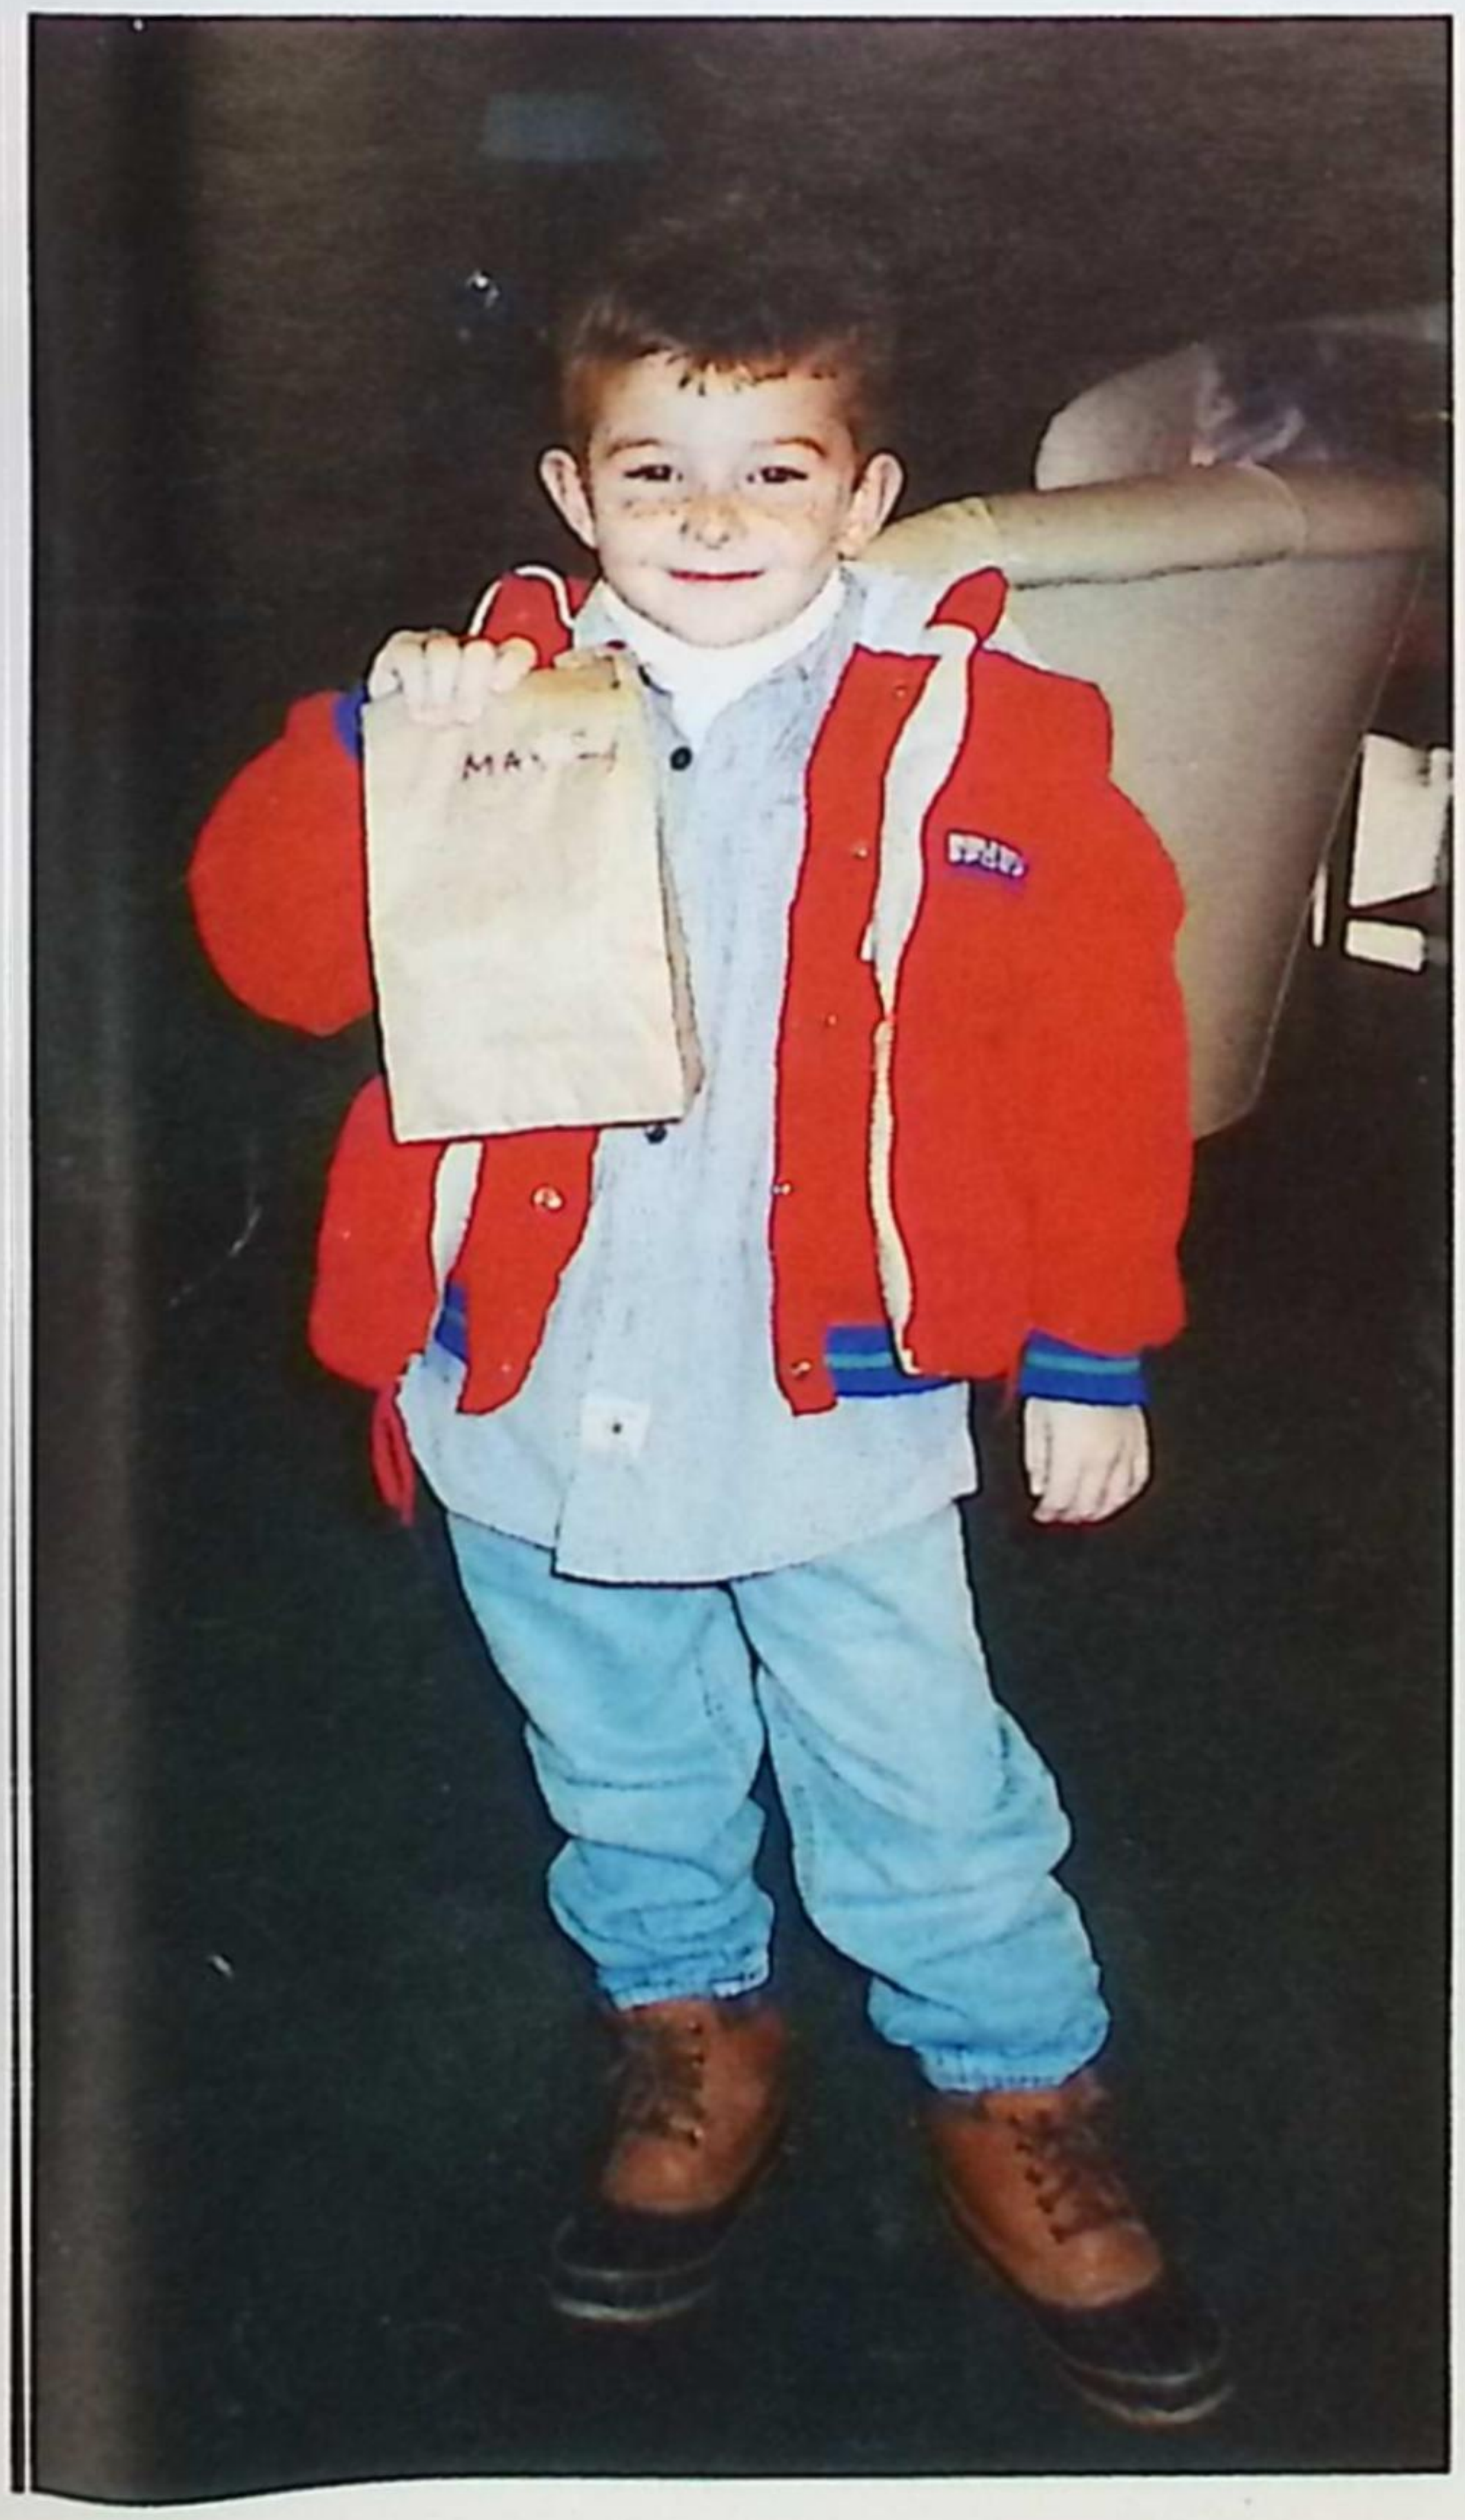


Max Sabbagh

To Max, Our "Ultimate",
Spend this time gaining the breadth of life, experience to enrich the depth of your thoughts, for wisdom requires both.

"May you work like you don't need the money, love like you've never been hurt, and dance like no one is watching." –Mark Twain

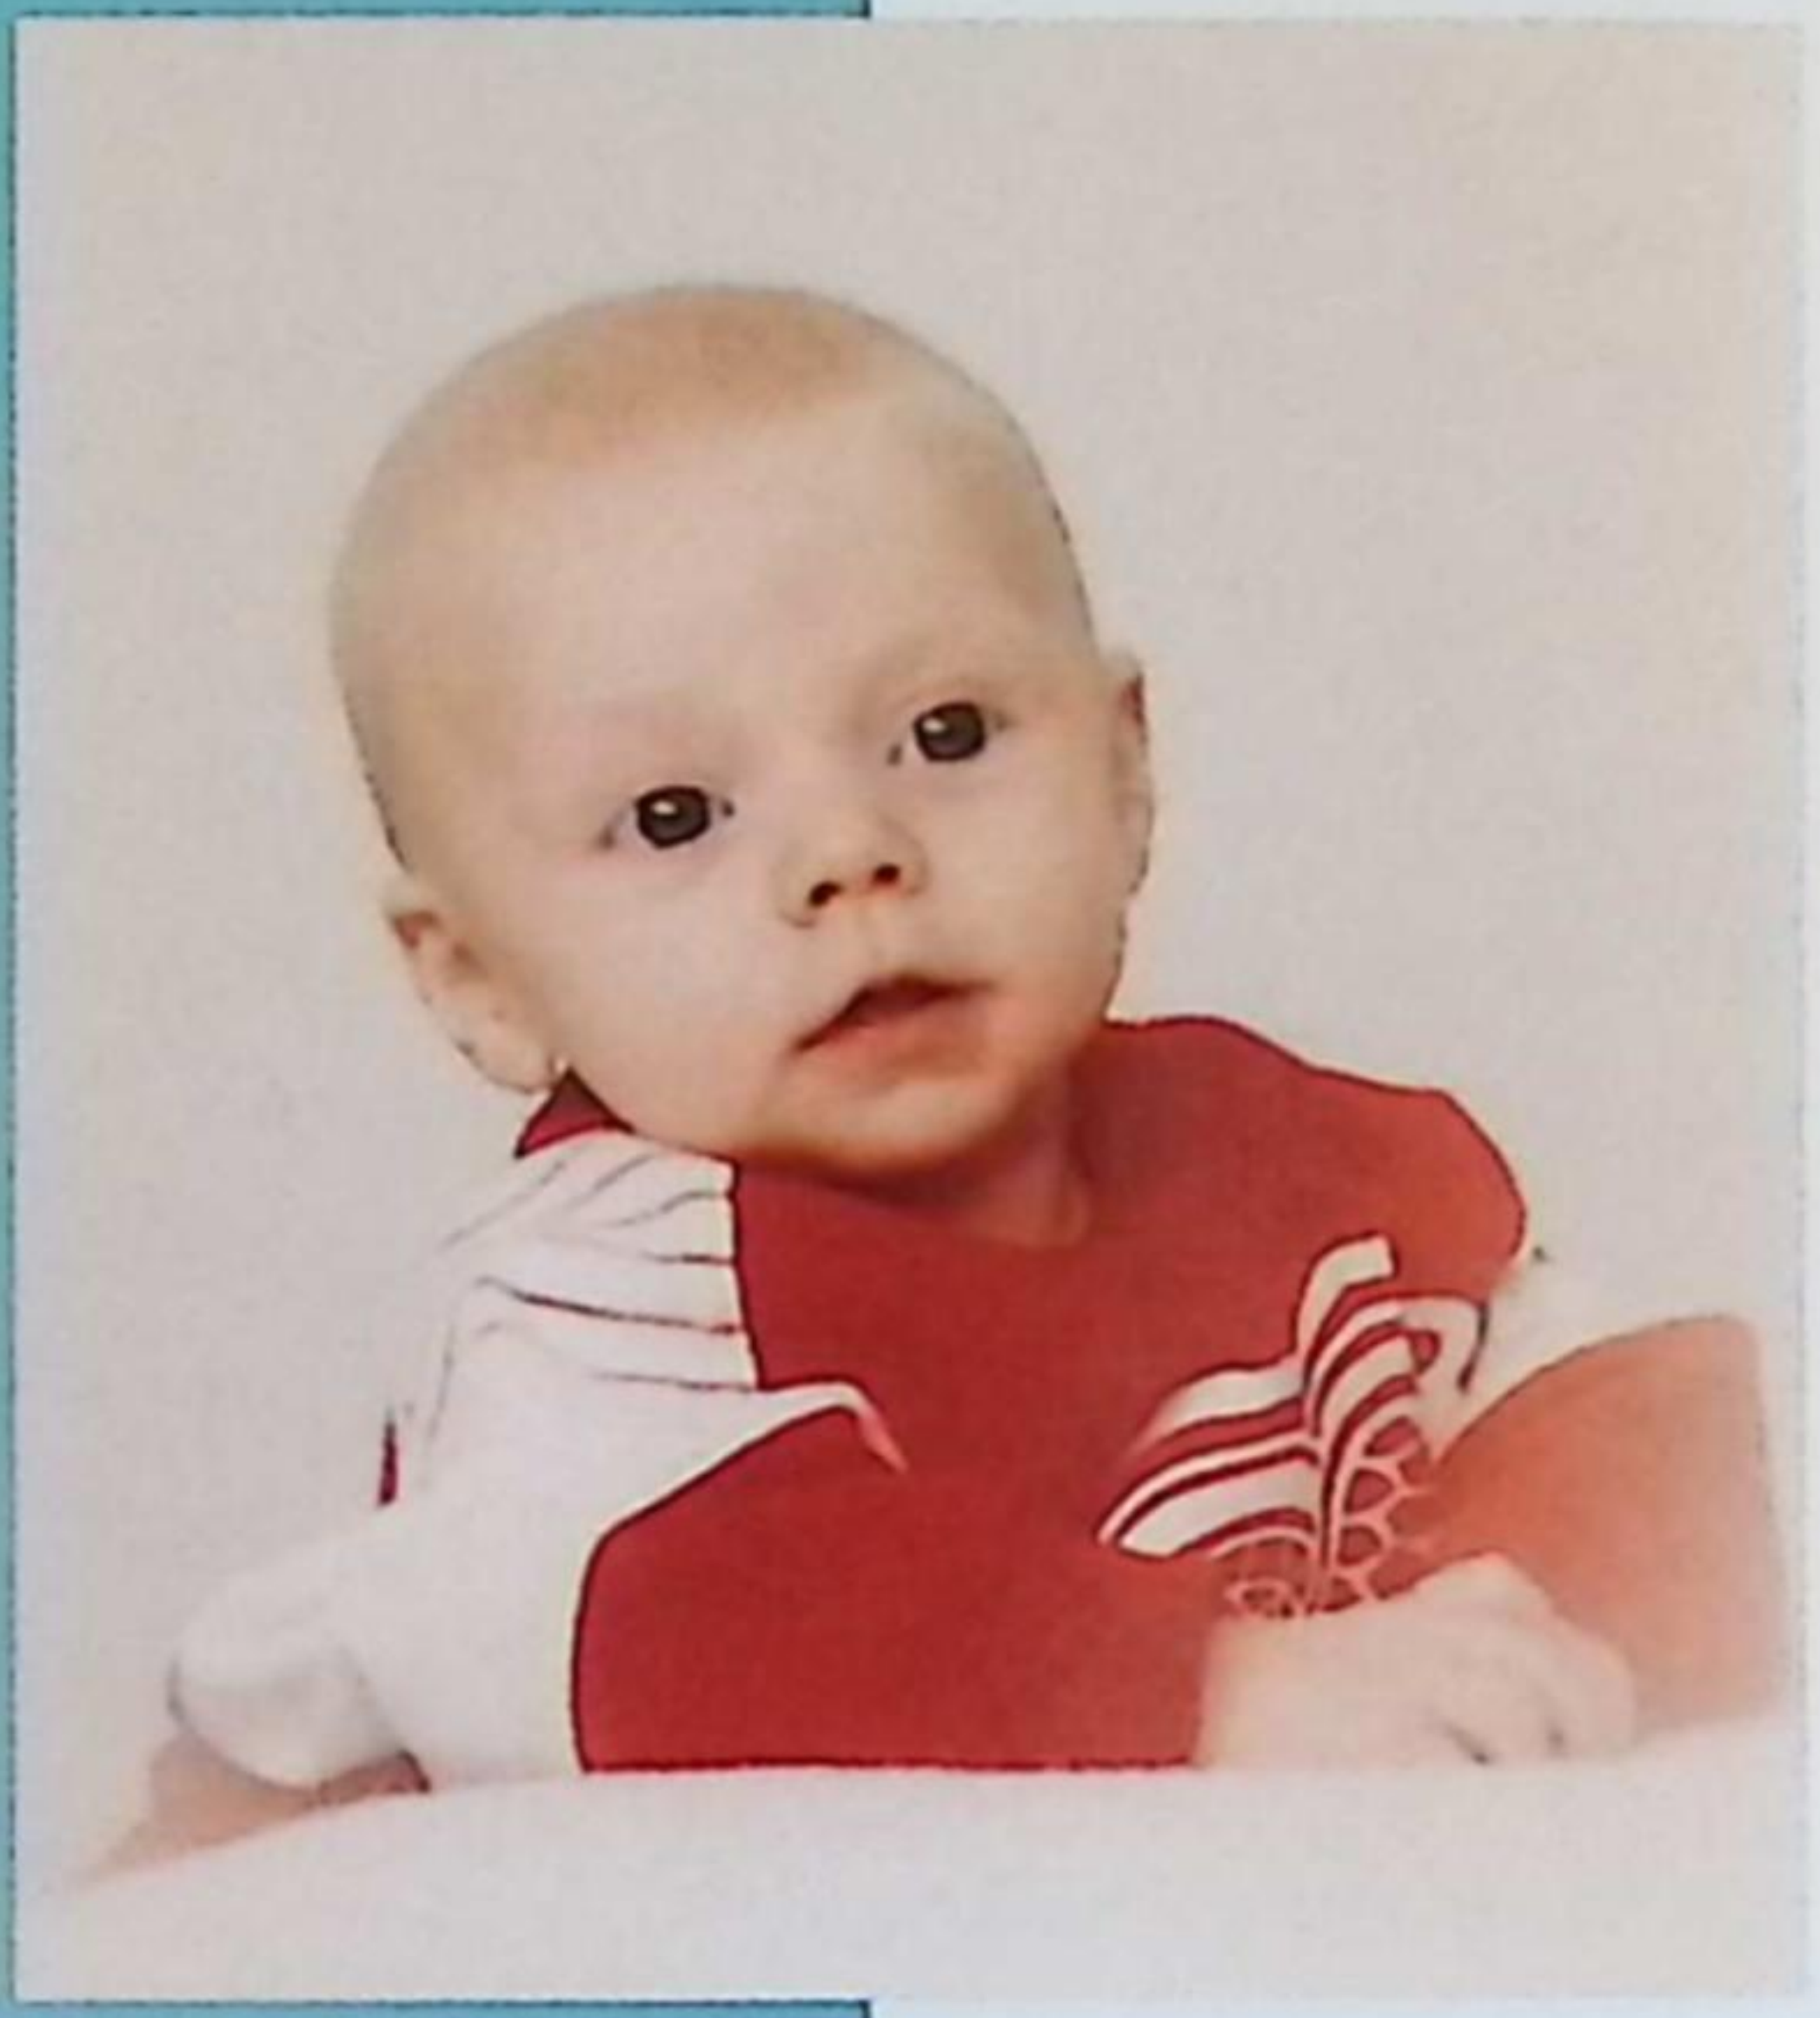
With All of Our Love and Respect,
Mom, Dad, Dave, and Ben

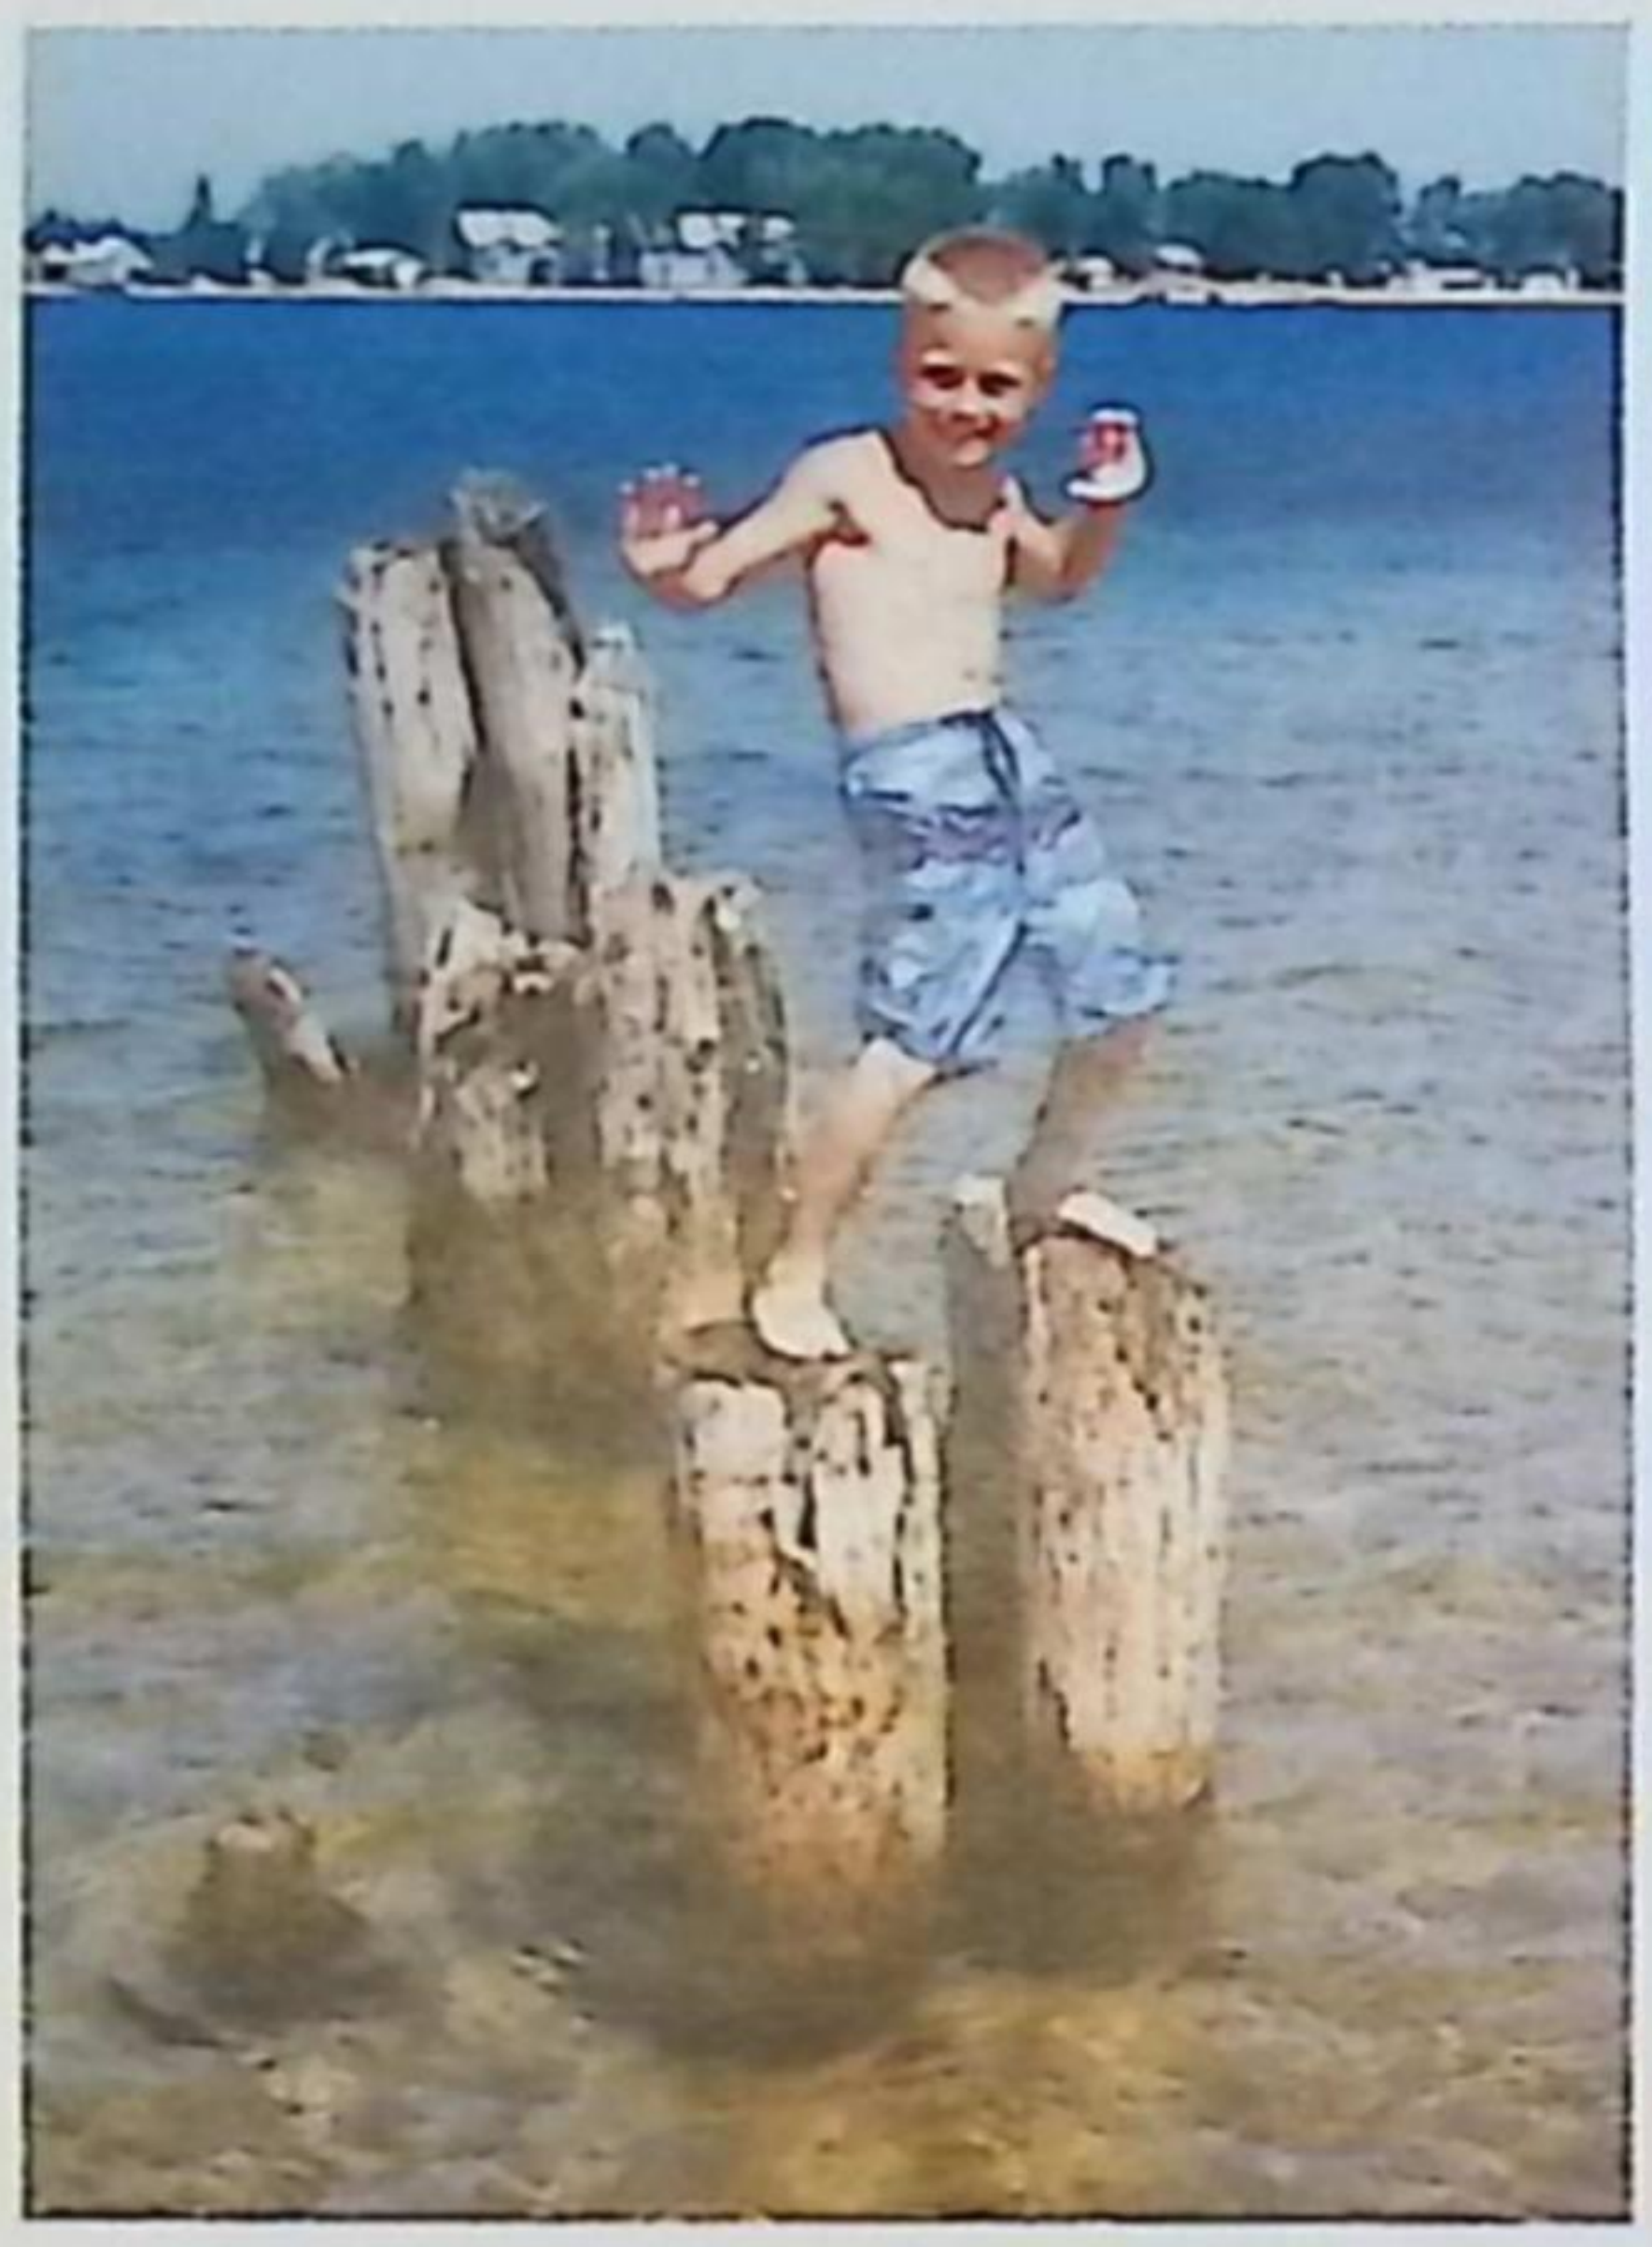


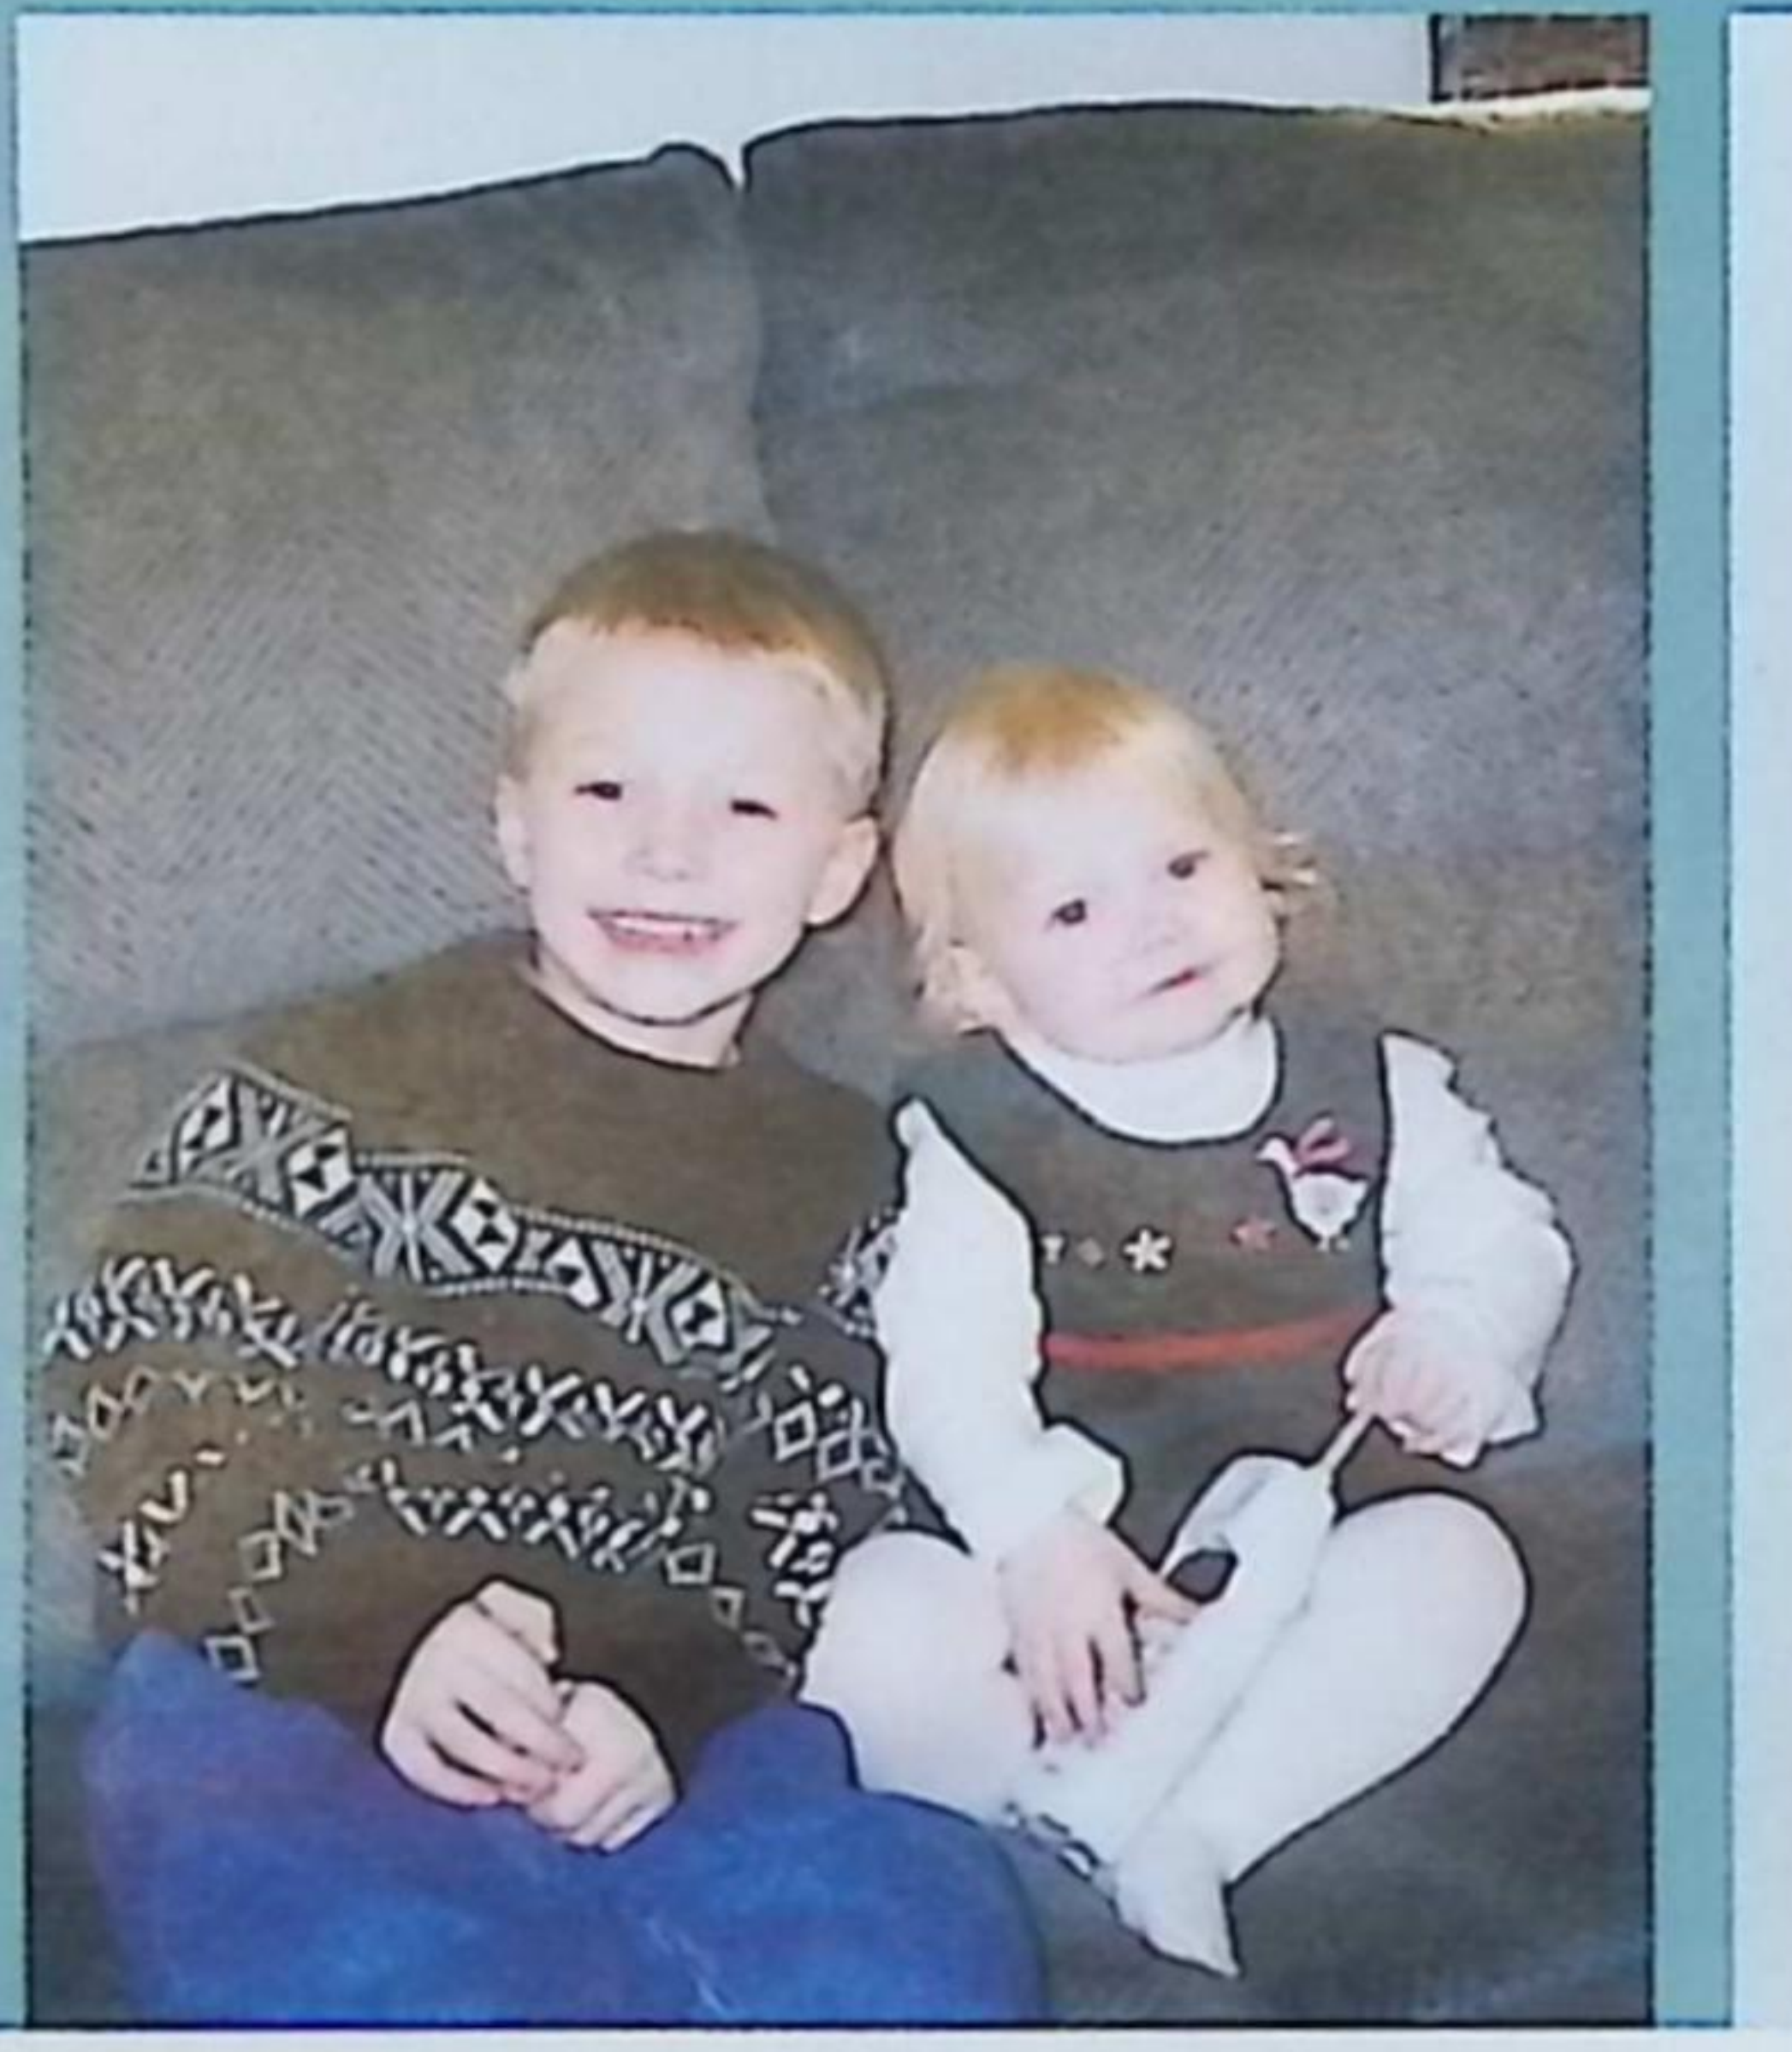
Tyler Smith

Congrats Ty!! You have turned into a wonderful young man. Be yourself, no one can tell you you're doing it wrong. Believe in yourself and know whatever you do or where life may take you that we will always be here to support you.

We are so very proud of you,
Love you always,
Mom, Dad, & Gabriella oxox





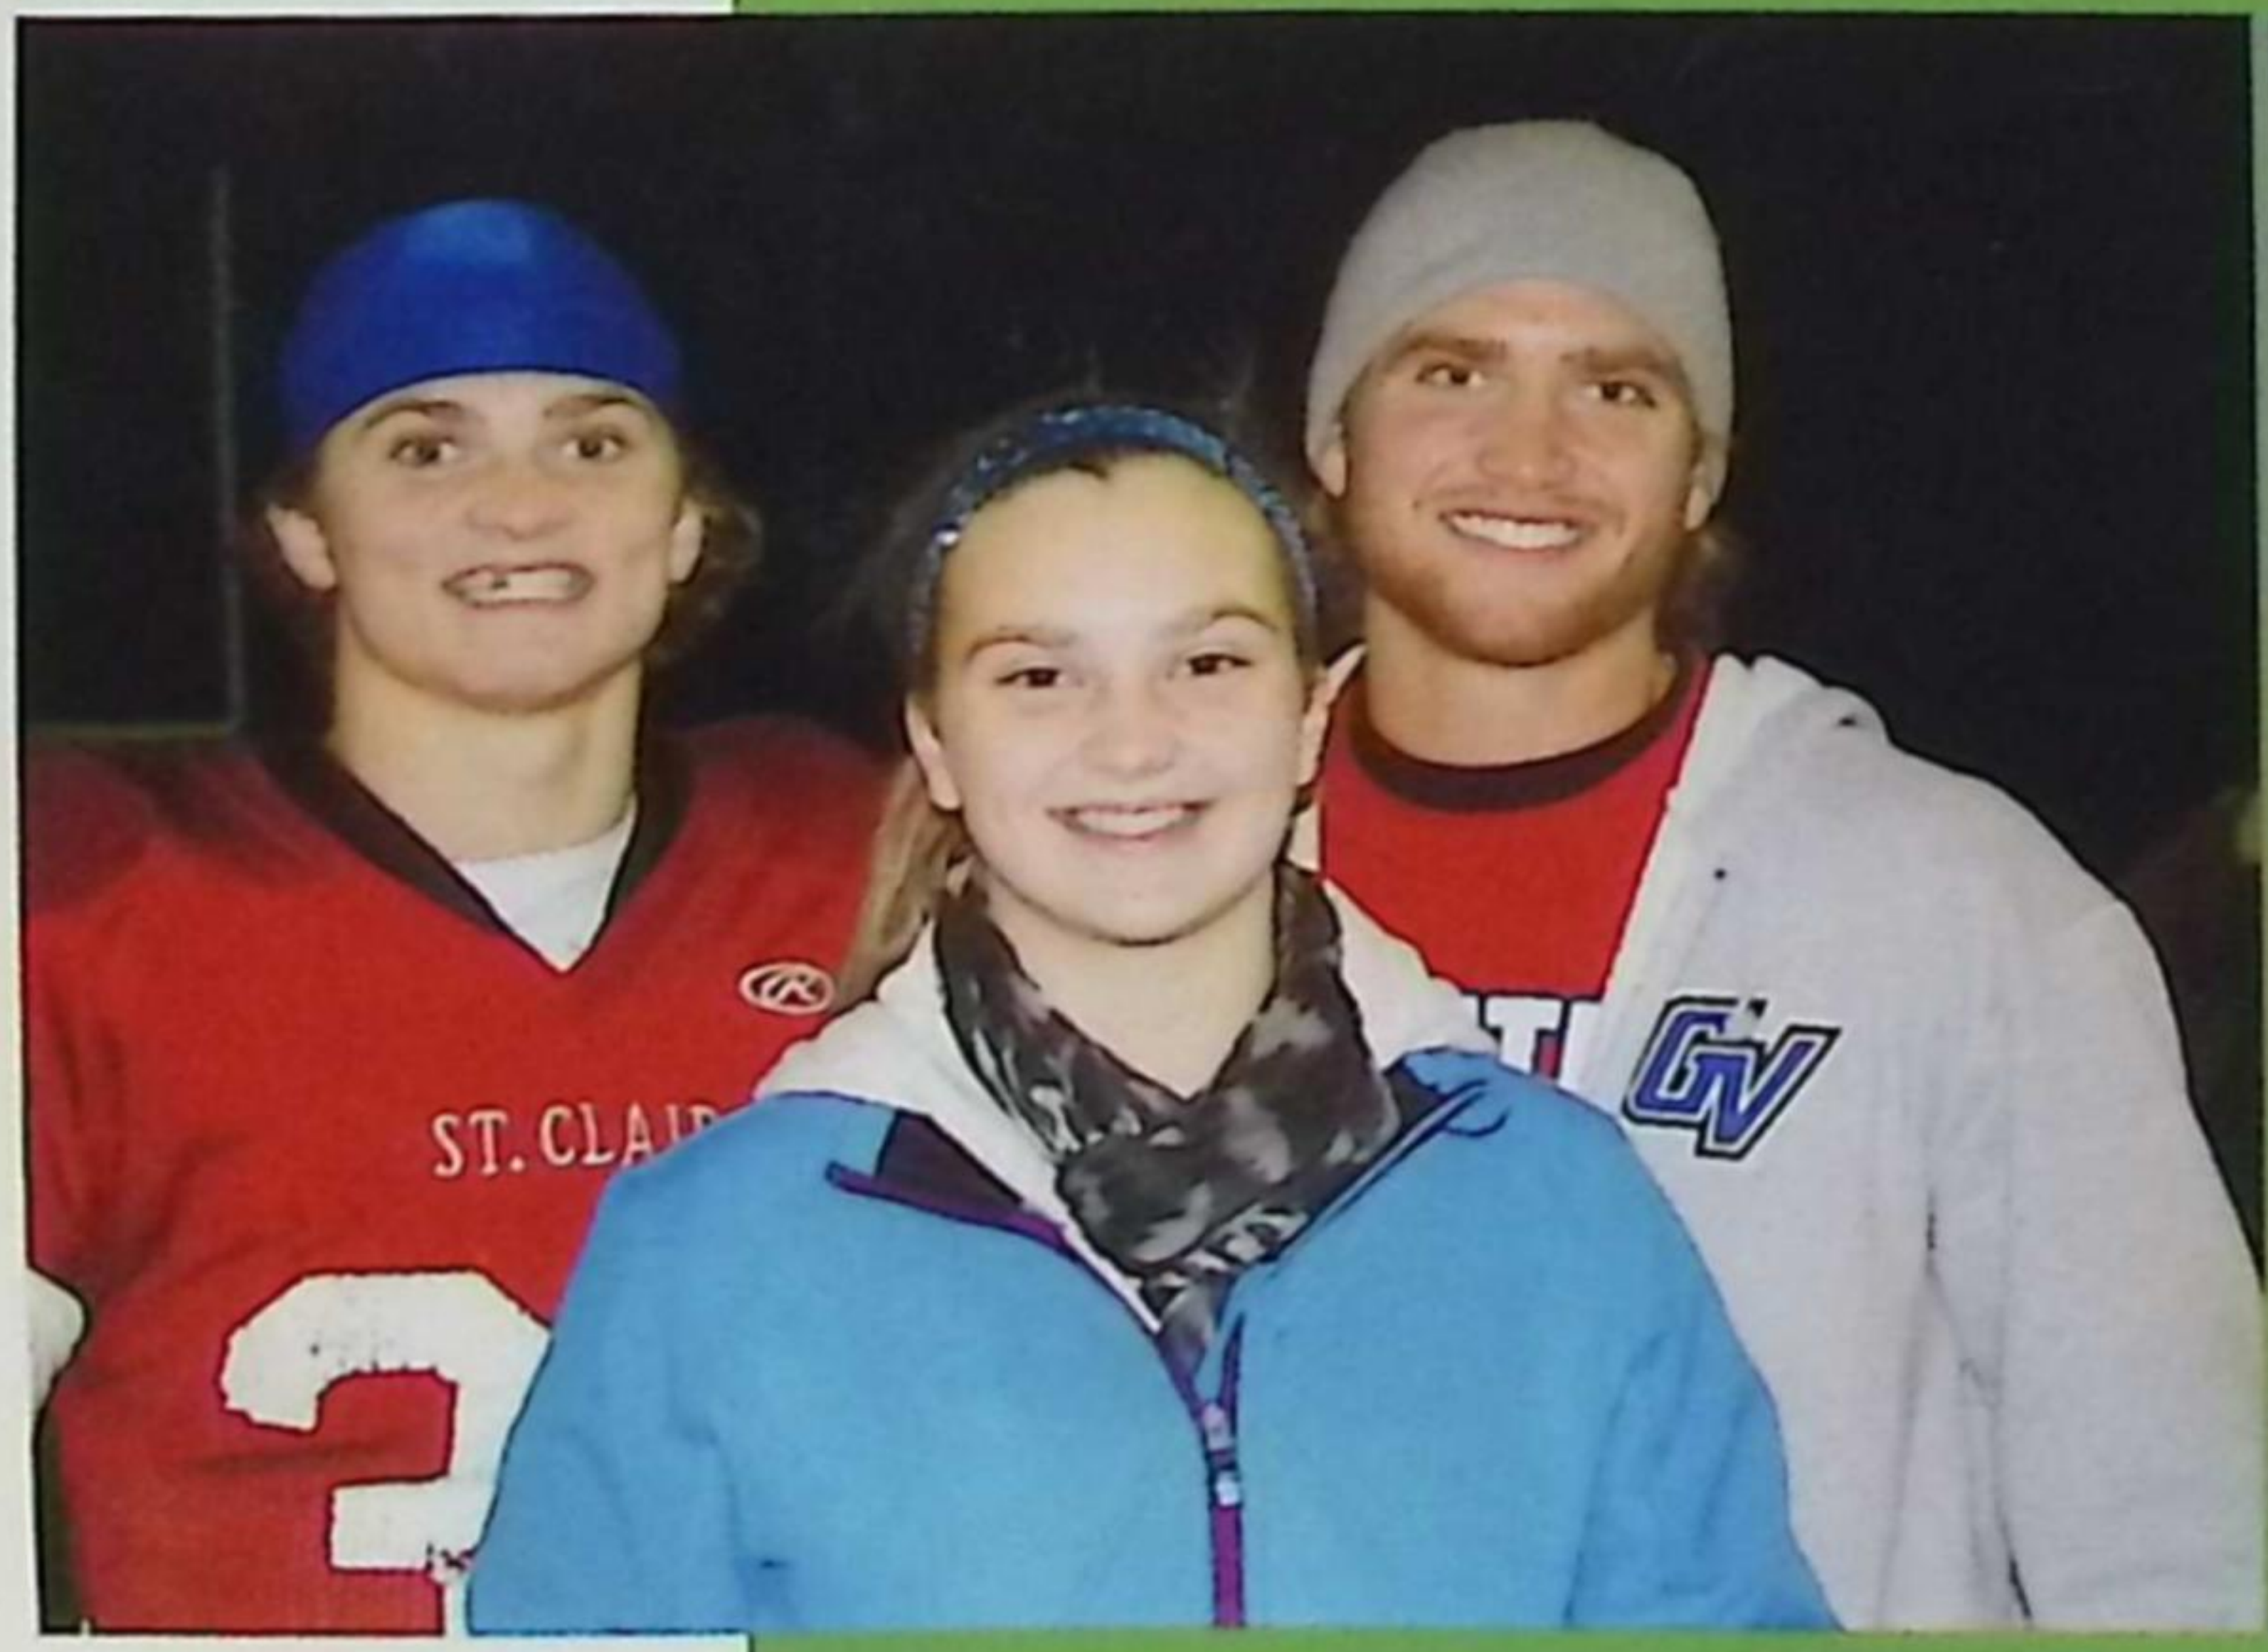


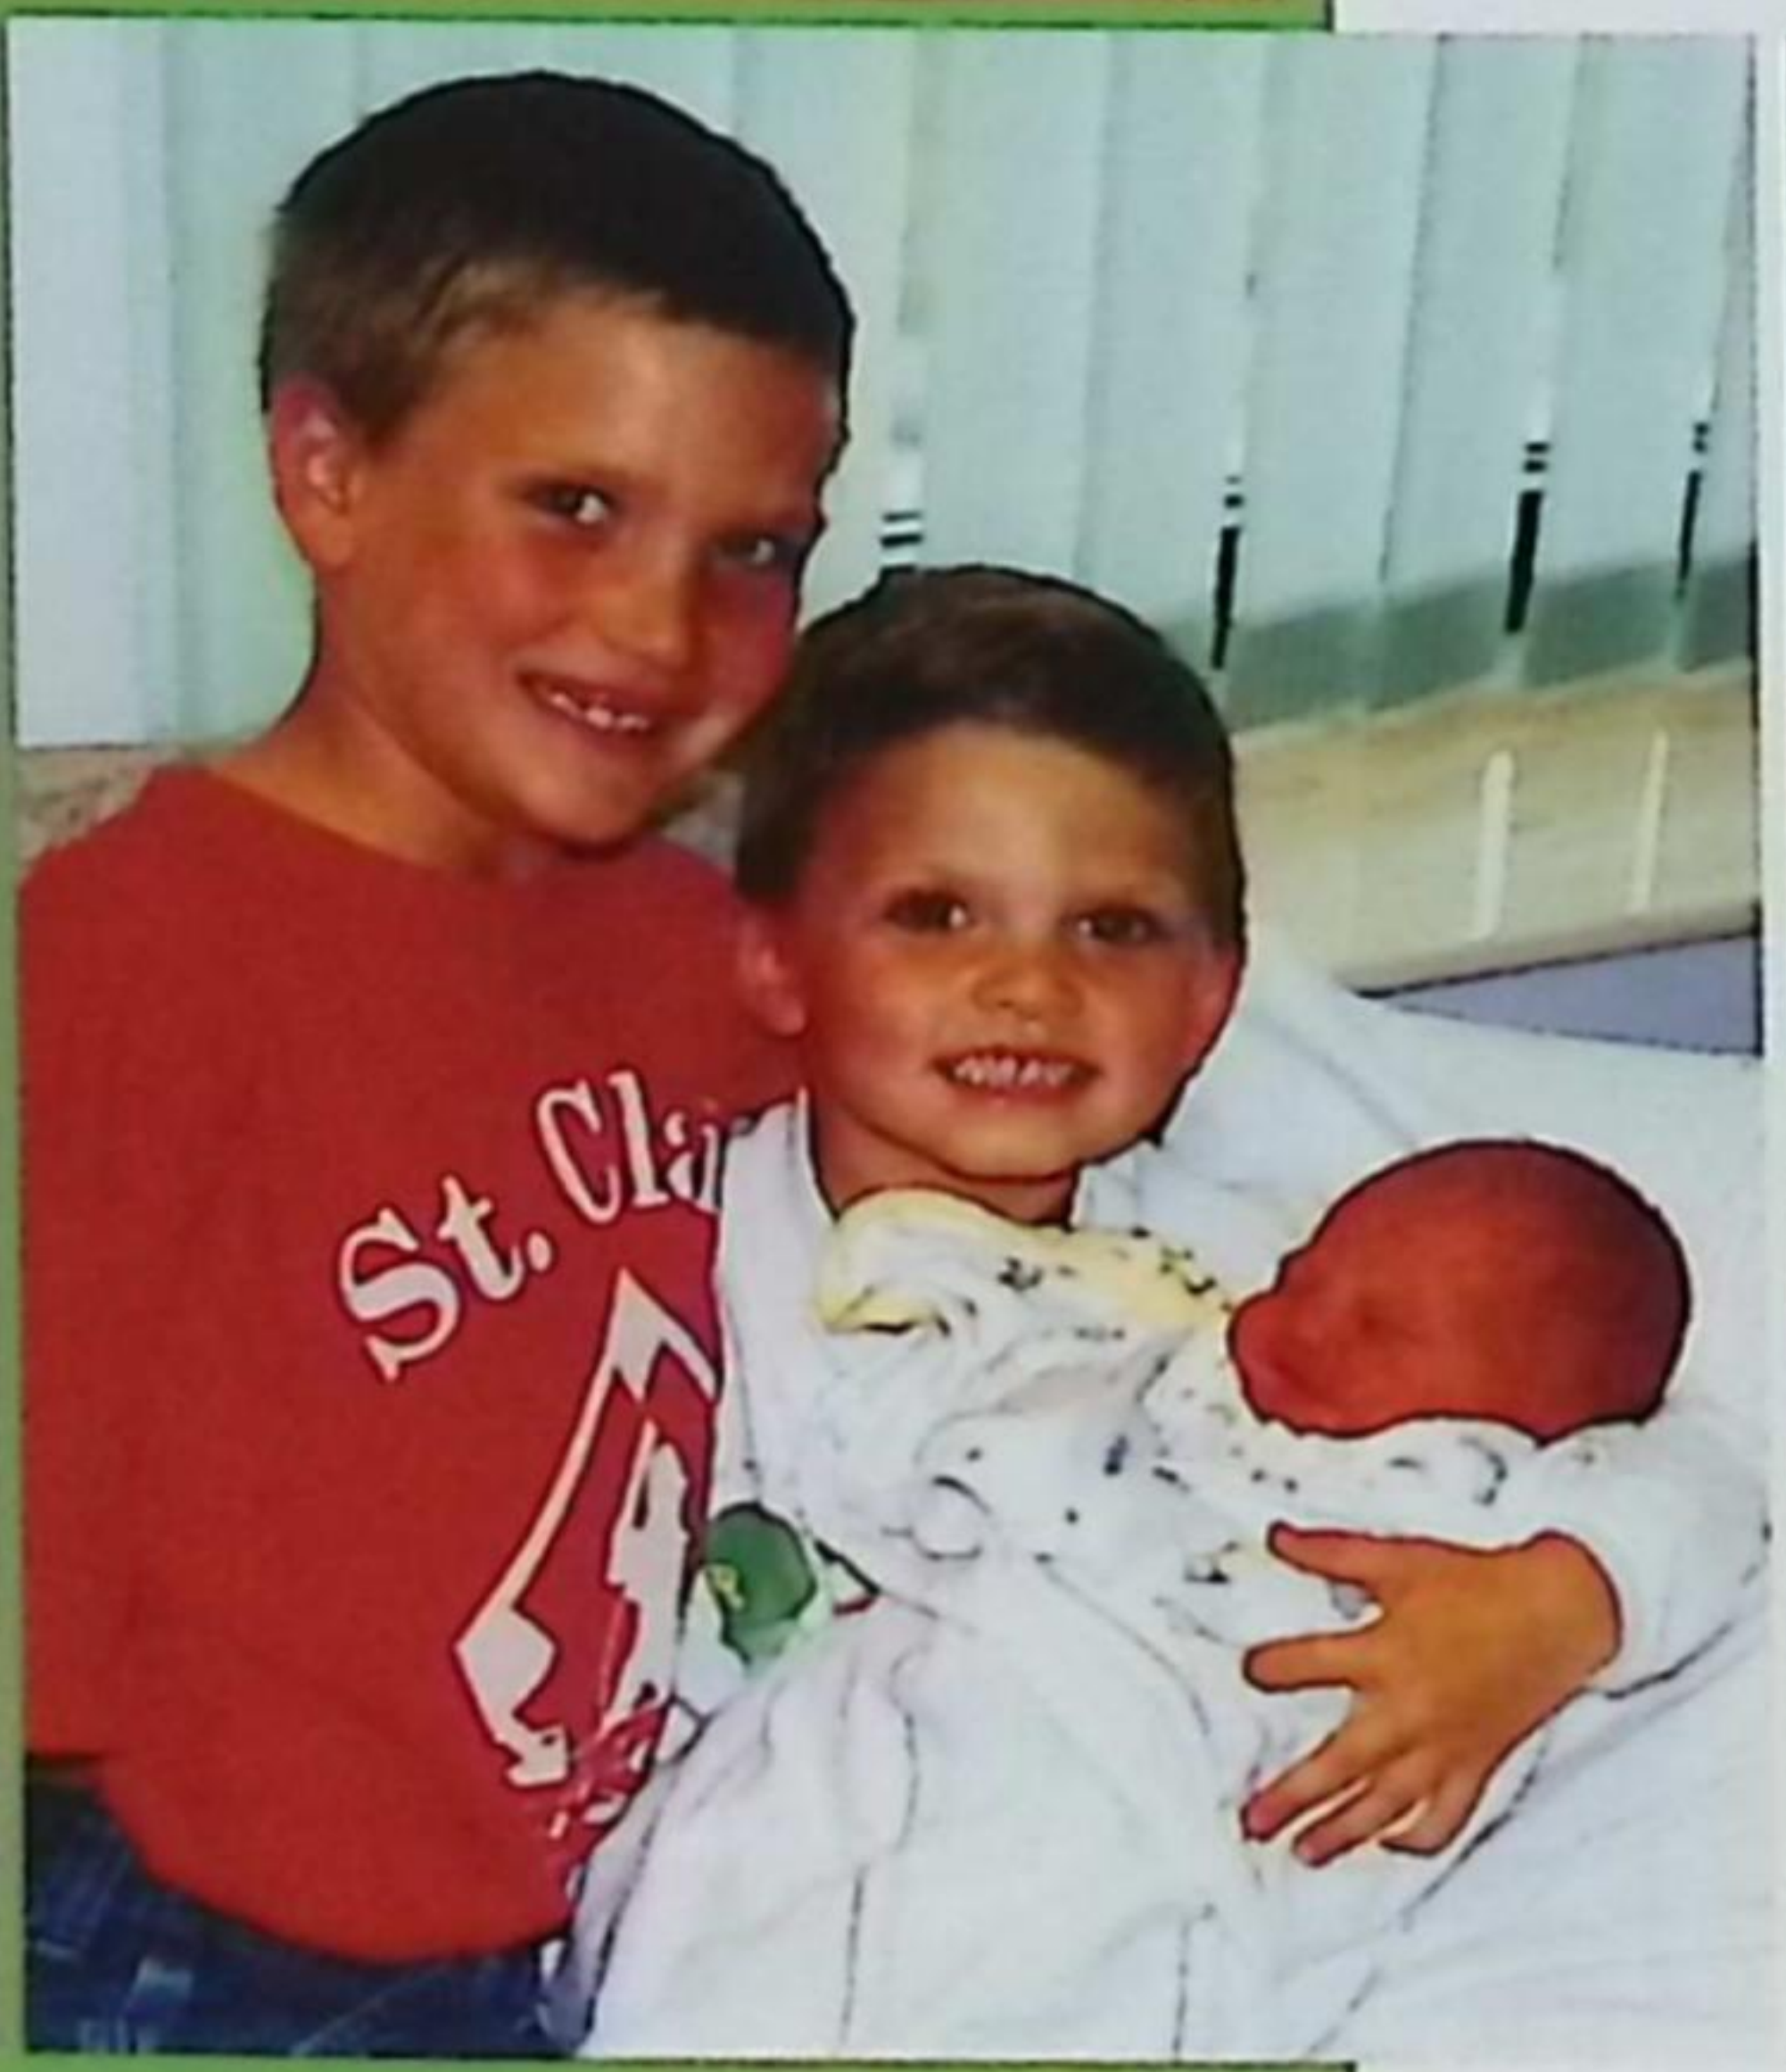
Nolan Young

Congratulations Nolan!
As we have watched you grow, we have enjoyed your enthusiasm and passion for life, generous heart and respect of others, along with your wit, smile, and spirit. Continue to share these gifts.

We have been blessed with a wonderful son and brother.

With all our love and support,
Dad, Mom, Scott, & Olivia





Joey Umloff

Joey,
Follow your dreams, turn them into goals, turn your goals into achievements, and you will never be disappointed. You are truly an amazing son and brother. We are so proud of you!

Love, Mom, Dad, & Bethany

Dee - ...THE BOOK IS DONE!! Oh, how many times we have said (or screamed) this after a year of hard work. Four years we have cried and stressed together! Thank you so much for always being there for me and for making this book absolutely amazing!

Katie K - We have become so close over the past years in this class and I am so grateful for it! Thank you for your amazing advice on both the book and my personal life! You are such a great friend and photo editor!

Maddie - Diva status right here! I love you to death, and am so thankful you joined yearbook! For only being on staff for two years, you have worked your butt off and have made this book just as fabulous as you are!

Mariah - You have helped me so much this year and we have grown so close! I can come to you with anything and you always have my back. Your creativity and cleverness made this book spectacular!

Brooke G - Cute little Brooke! You are absolutely adorable! Coming on staff for only one year is usually difficult, but you handled it with ease! Thank you for your hard work and making this book possible!

Katie B - I will never know why we thought it was a good idea to have the two Katies sit next to each other! But despite the confusion at times, you were always willing to take on more work and help others! Thank you!

Claire - Claire-bear! Sitting next to you has been fantastic! You are so insightful and helpful. Good luck next year, I know you will make an amazing editor, just remember to breath every once and awhile!

Megan - Our little gymnast star! I don't know how you did it, but you managed to handle your physically demanding schedule paired with the stress of yearbook. It's safe to say you're an inspiration!

Mackenzi - This year was definitely stressful for me, but you always took the time to see if I was okay or needed any help. You always speak your mind, which we all appreciated this year! You helped make this book flawless!

Ashlee - I am SO happy you joined yearbook this year because we have become such good friends! You've handled the stress of yearbook perfectly and your pages turned out phenomenal!

Alexis - Talk about talent!! You came into this class and proved to us all that you were meant to be here! You fearlessly took on pages and made them amazing! Your determination and skill was inspirational!

Whitney - You are such a sweetheart! I really appreciate your hard work and dedication! Your innocent nature helped keep everyone calm with the stress of deadlines!

Brooke M - A part of me wanted to write yours and Whitney's together because you too are two peas in a pod! You are seriously adorable and hilarious! Your easy going nature kept everyone smiling all year, thank you!

Bethany - If I could give an award for most improved, it would go to you! You took every instruction and advice with grace and it shows! You are going to be such a great writer and journalist! Keep up the good work cutie!

Molly - Walking into this class halfway through the year must have been intimidating, but your bubbly personality was a perfect fit! You jumped right in and got to work, and for that I thank you!

Well, Here we are! It definitely has been a battle to ensure that this book would be completed on time (thank you mother nature.) But despite the lack of school days, we managed to make the deadlines, thanks to you! You were able to keep the staff, and myself, motivated and on task. Without your expert leadership and knowledge of how to create a yearbook, I would have been lost. Thank you for helping me discover my love for journalism. You have made yearbook such an amazing experience for me, and I will miss you so much!

Office Gals

(Mrs. Butlin, Mrs. Zoeplitz, Mrs. Steinland, Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Robbins, and Mrs. Durham)
We are so grateful to have such a supportive office staff. Thank you for taking the time out of your day to help us. Without you, this book would not have been completed! All the little favors were crucial in making this book a success! Your kindness is not overlooked!

Mrs. Brosky & Mrs. Short

Pictures can either make or break a yearbook, and both of you so willingly offered your assistance whenever we needed it. Whether it was helping us get extra photos for a page or lending the perfect lens, you both have contributed so much to this book! Thank you!

Technicalities:

The 2013-2014 yearbook was published by Jostens Printing and Publishing in Topeka, Kansas. The 249 page book was published in color for the 9th consecutive year at St. Clair High school. The cover was a collaborative effort by a majority of the yearbook staff. Together, we created the simple design of the Blue Ribbon Flax material from the Jostens Premium Cover Materials collection. The title is embossed white type "Hit it Hard" while the rest of the writing is blind embossed. Our Jostens representative, Michael Page, was a huge help in developing the content and our in-plant representative, Cathy Goodman, also contributed in the completion of this book. The two main fonts used were AYT Avalon Book and AYT Avalon Book XLight. Sixteen computers armed with Windows 7 enabled the staffers to use Jostens Yearbook Avenue to create this book.

Where to begin...it seems like yesterday you walked into our yearbook room as a freshman and now you're heading off to U of M in the fall. Each year, over the past four, you have grown in so many ways. You should be so proud of this book...it's clean, attractive, creative and thorough. Undoubtly, without your insight and direction none of it could have been possible. We will truly miss you and your beautiful smile. Best of luck in everything you do!

Dee Donakowski

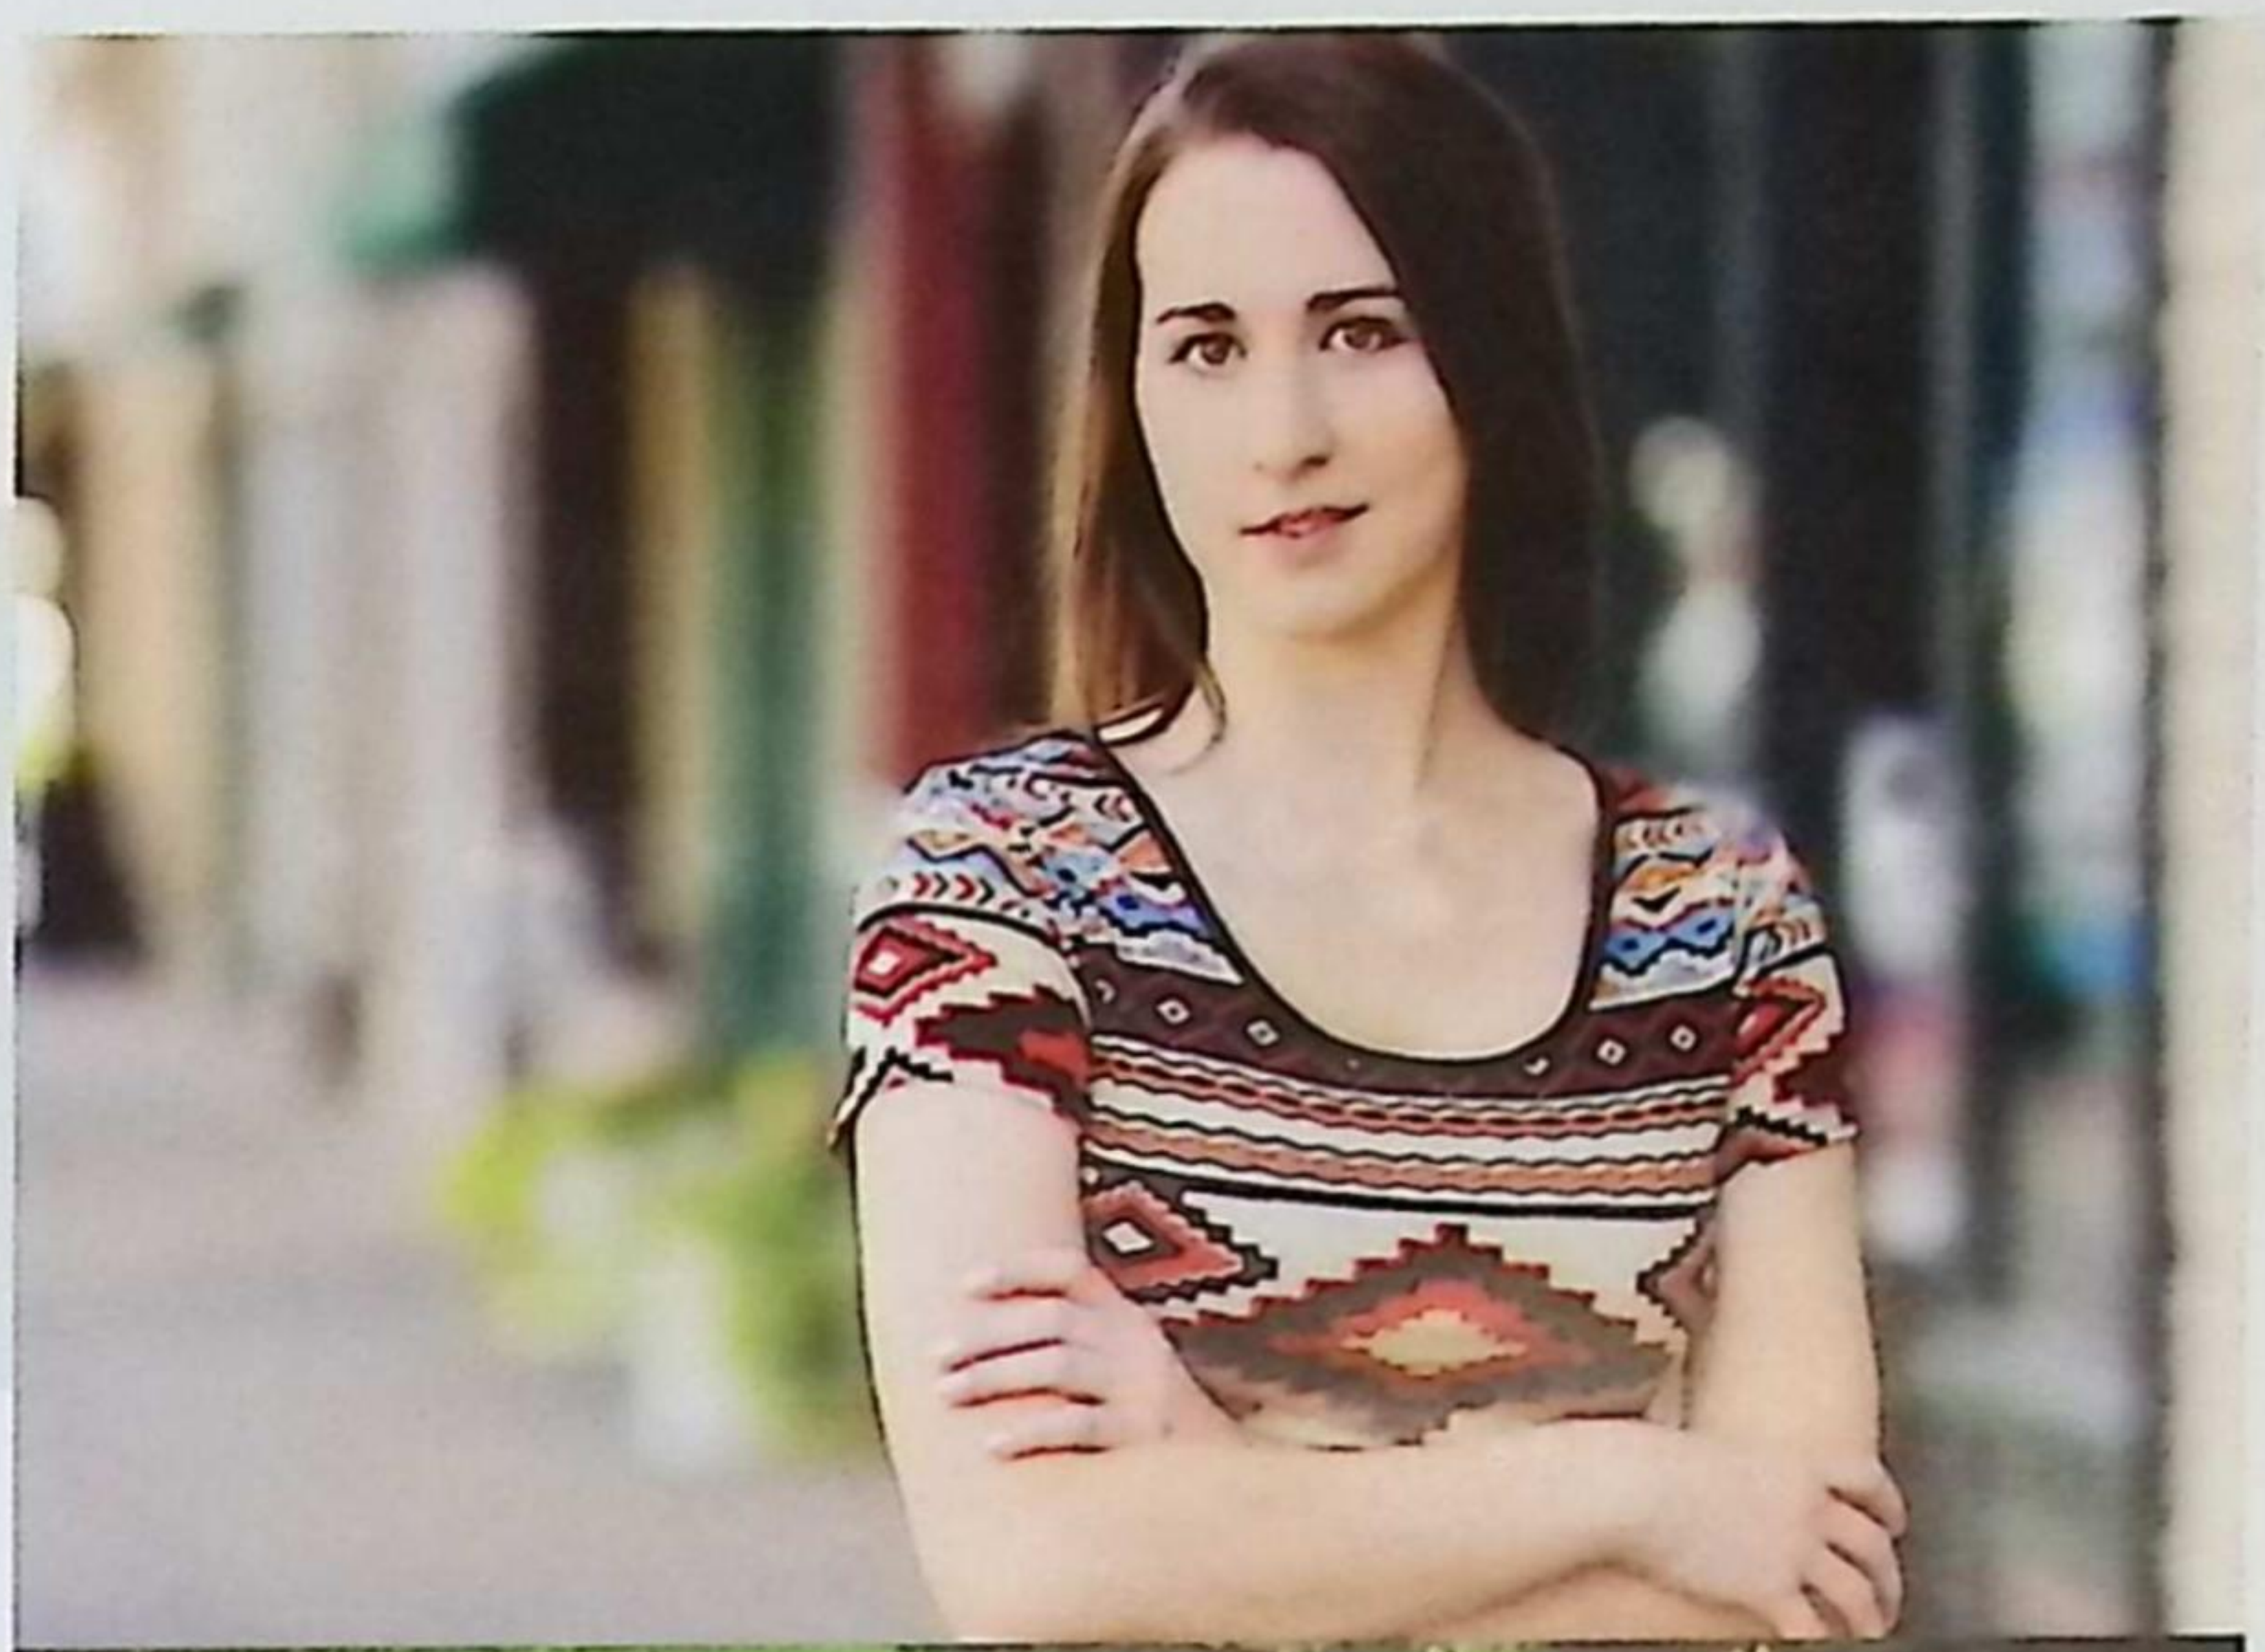
You have been, by far, the "oil that has kept this machine running" for the last two years. You are the most unselfish, dedicated, considerate student I have ever met. If anything needed to be done, you were always the first to volunteer to help. The number of evenings you spent in the yearbook room until well past 7pm are too many to count. You are going to be impossible to replace! Thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Have an absolutely fantastic time at Oakland University.

Katie Kennedy

The four years you have dedicated to this yearbook is an accomplishment you should be proud to have achieved. We just want to say thank you for working so hard! Without your input, guidance, and of course editing, our pictures; which most consider one of the most important aspects of a yearbook, would not be possible. Enjoy your time at Michigan State!

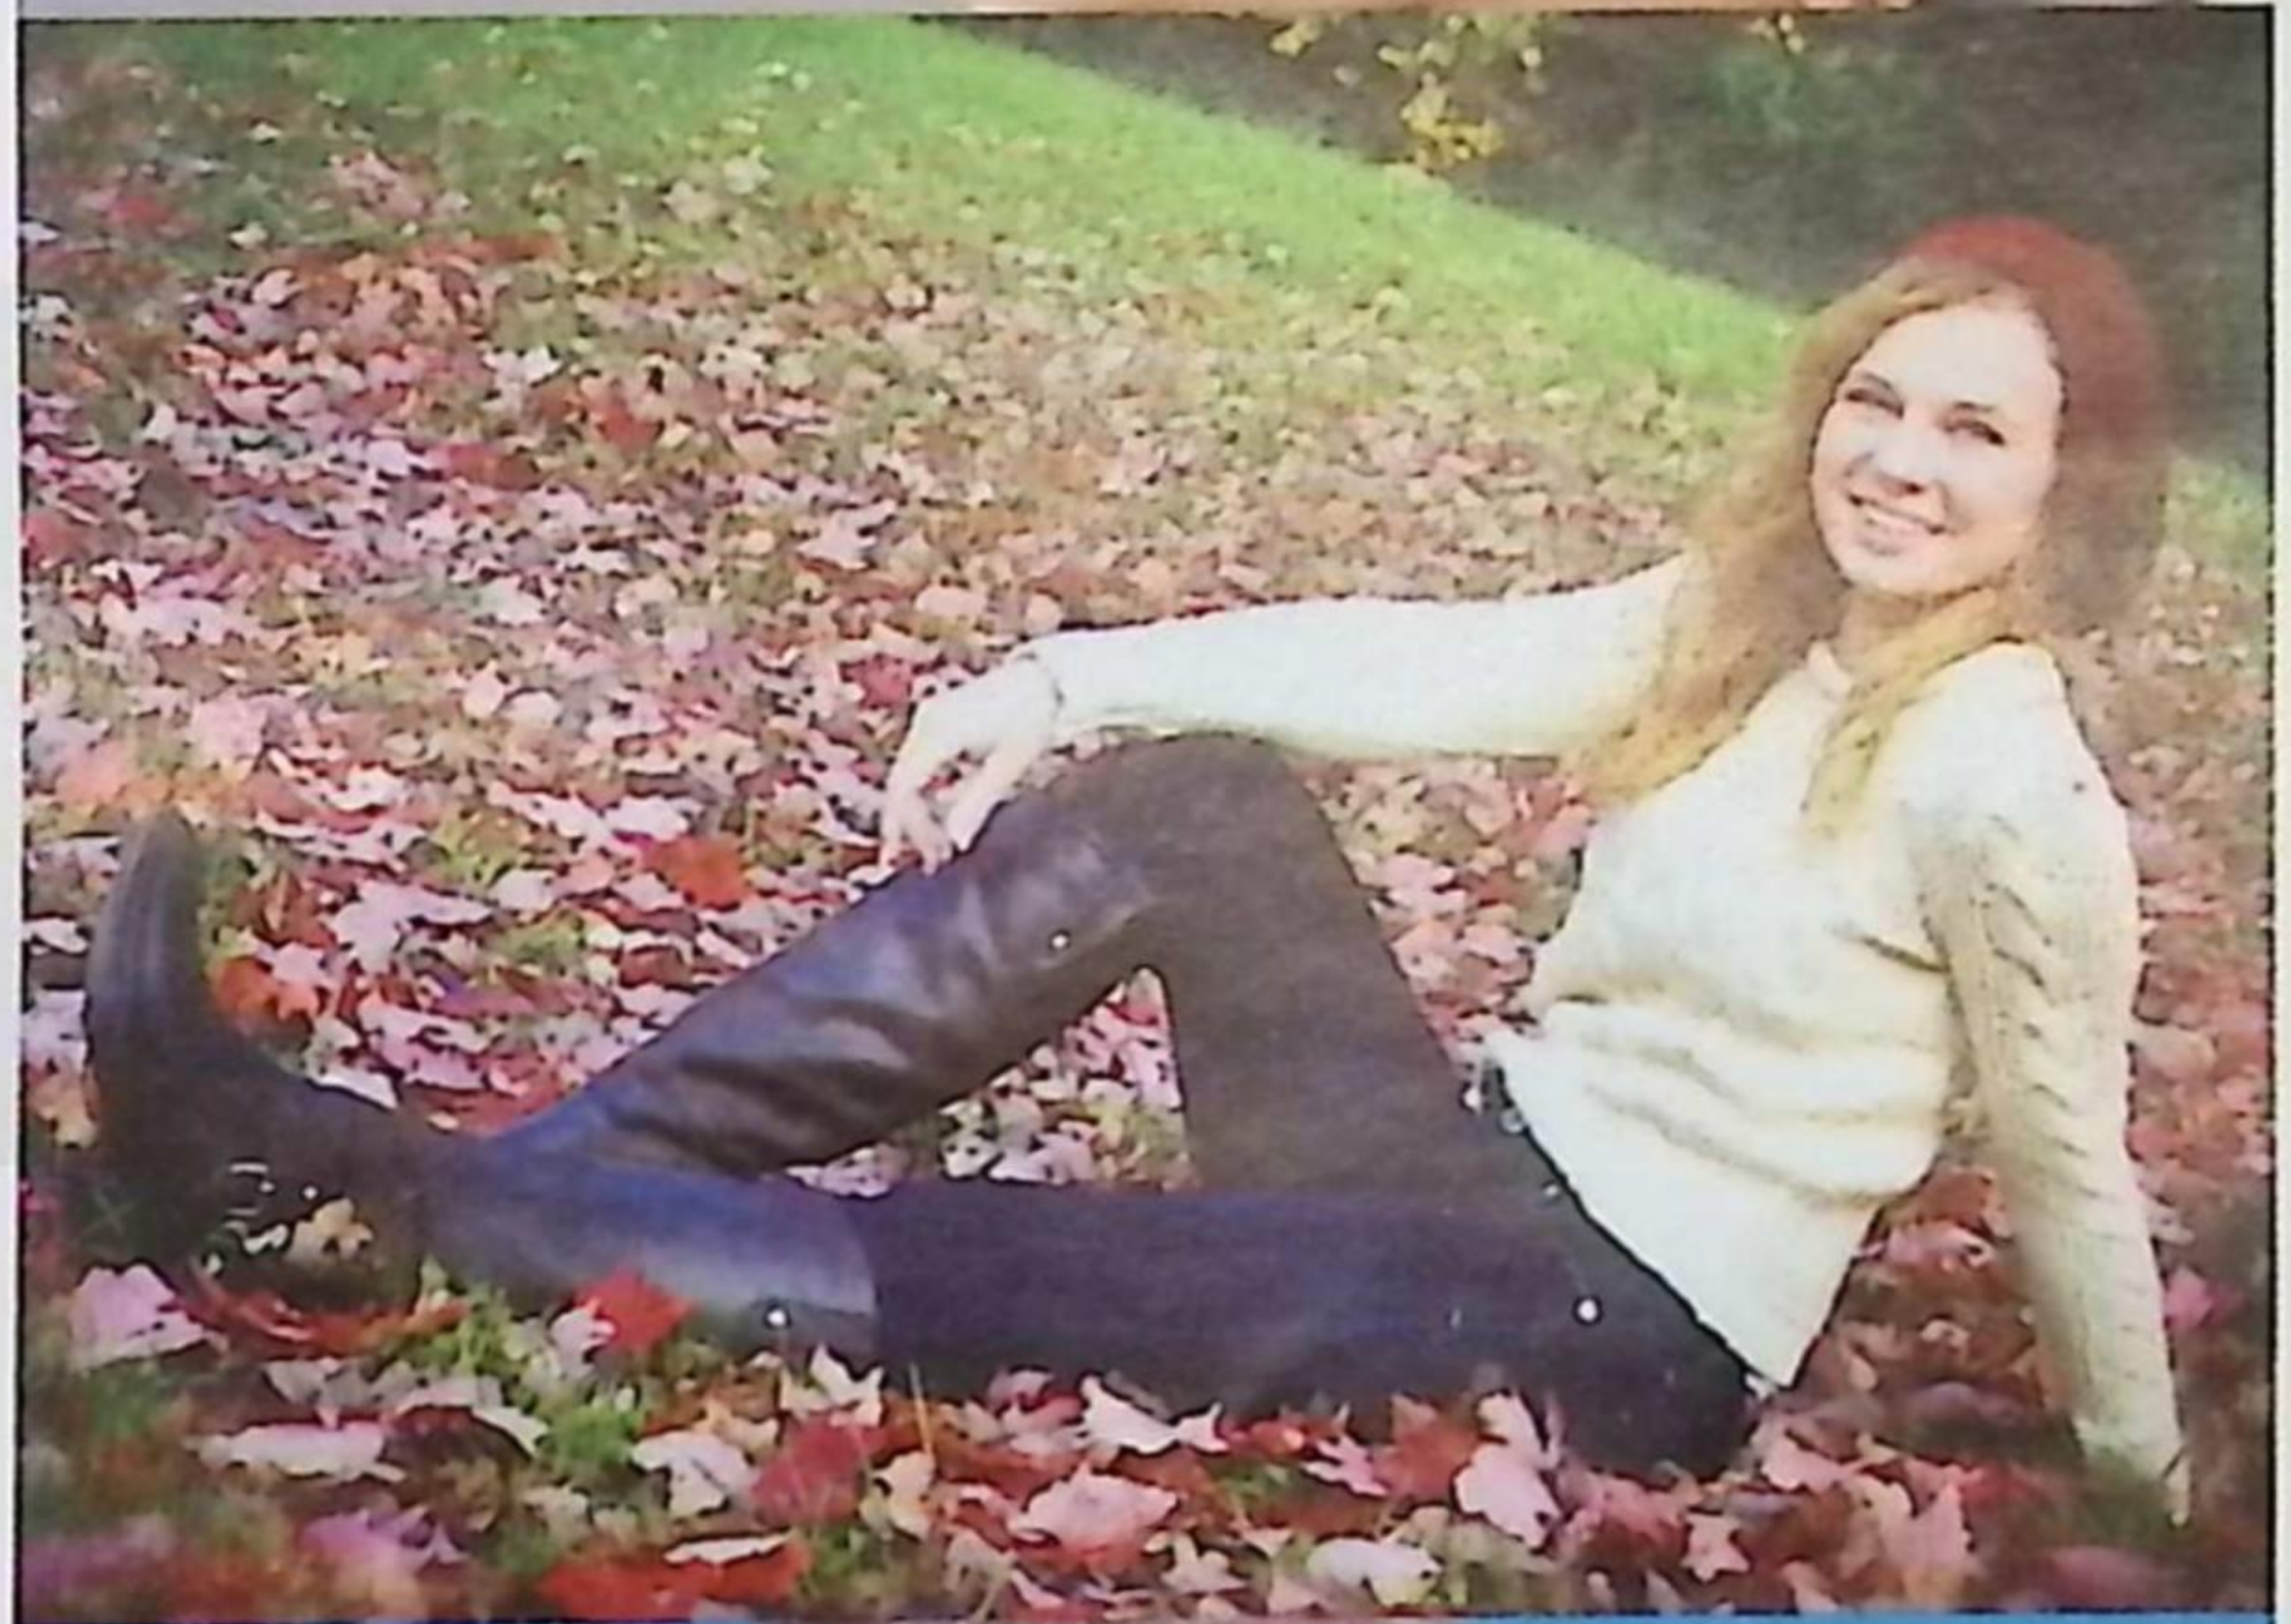
Mariah McLeod

Well, we can be certain when we say that you have been, by far, the most "ill" yearbook staff member in recent history. Yet, your humor and positive outlook continued to shine anyway. Thank you for helping with the caption editing, you certainly have a talent for creativity. Good luck and have fun at Michigan Tec.



Maddie Moore

What can we say to thank you for all that you have done for this staff over the past two years? The work you've put into, not only the senior mug section, but your help editing, cropping, and covering events for people, shows just how devoted and committed you are as a person. You have been, by far, our unsung hero! Enjoy your time at Saginaw Valley.



Katie Boni

Thanks so much for all of your hard work this year. You have been a great addition to our staff and we are so glad you decided to join us. Your willingness to help out when others needed you did not go unnoticed. Good luck next year, and beyond!

Brooke Geck

It has been so great getting to know you this year! You're such a quiet soul, but your dedication and quality of work is very impressive. Joining Yearbook, and having the courage to push yourself outside of your comforte zone, is not something many people would attempt. Congratulations and good luck at Albion!

Lady Saints, district champs once again!

This year's Ladies Saints softball team won districts for the third year in a row. What helped the team stay together, and be so successful, was their willingness to work hard as a team and get things done correctly. Things like batting practice, ground balls and pop-ups were the norm. However, at least once a week the team would leave their practices and get together at someone's house for a team dinner. To make things even more interesting they would play card games while waiting for their food. The team's favorite card game was "Hurt Your Neighbor." "I was the best, I won every single time!" exclaims Avary Humes ('15). In the future, the Saints will continue the team building, team dinners and hard work, but they will also focus on not only another district championship but possibly a regional or even state championship as well.

JV Softball

Playing a sport in the near freezing temperatures is a struggle that the JV Lady Saints softball team knows all about. With multiple cancelled games due to weather and flooded fields, the girls had to prove their talents with a limited season. Battling through rain clouds and icy winds, the Saints placed first in the Roseville tournament and crushed Marysville during the annual Pink Out game that raises money for cancer awareness. Defending themselves not only from the Vikings, but the elements as well, the Lady Saints pulled through to gain a 13-3 victory. The shortened season for the JV Saints was a well fought one with multiple victories and hardships that had to be overcome. But nothing can stop a Saint- not even Mother Nature.

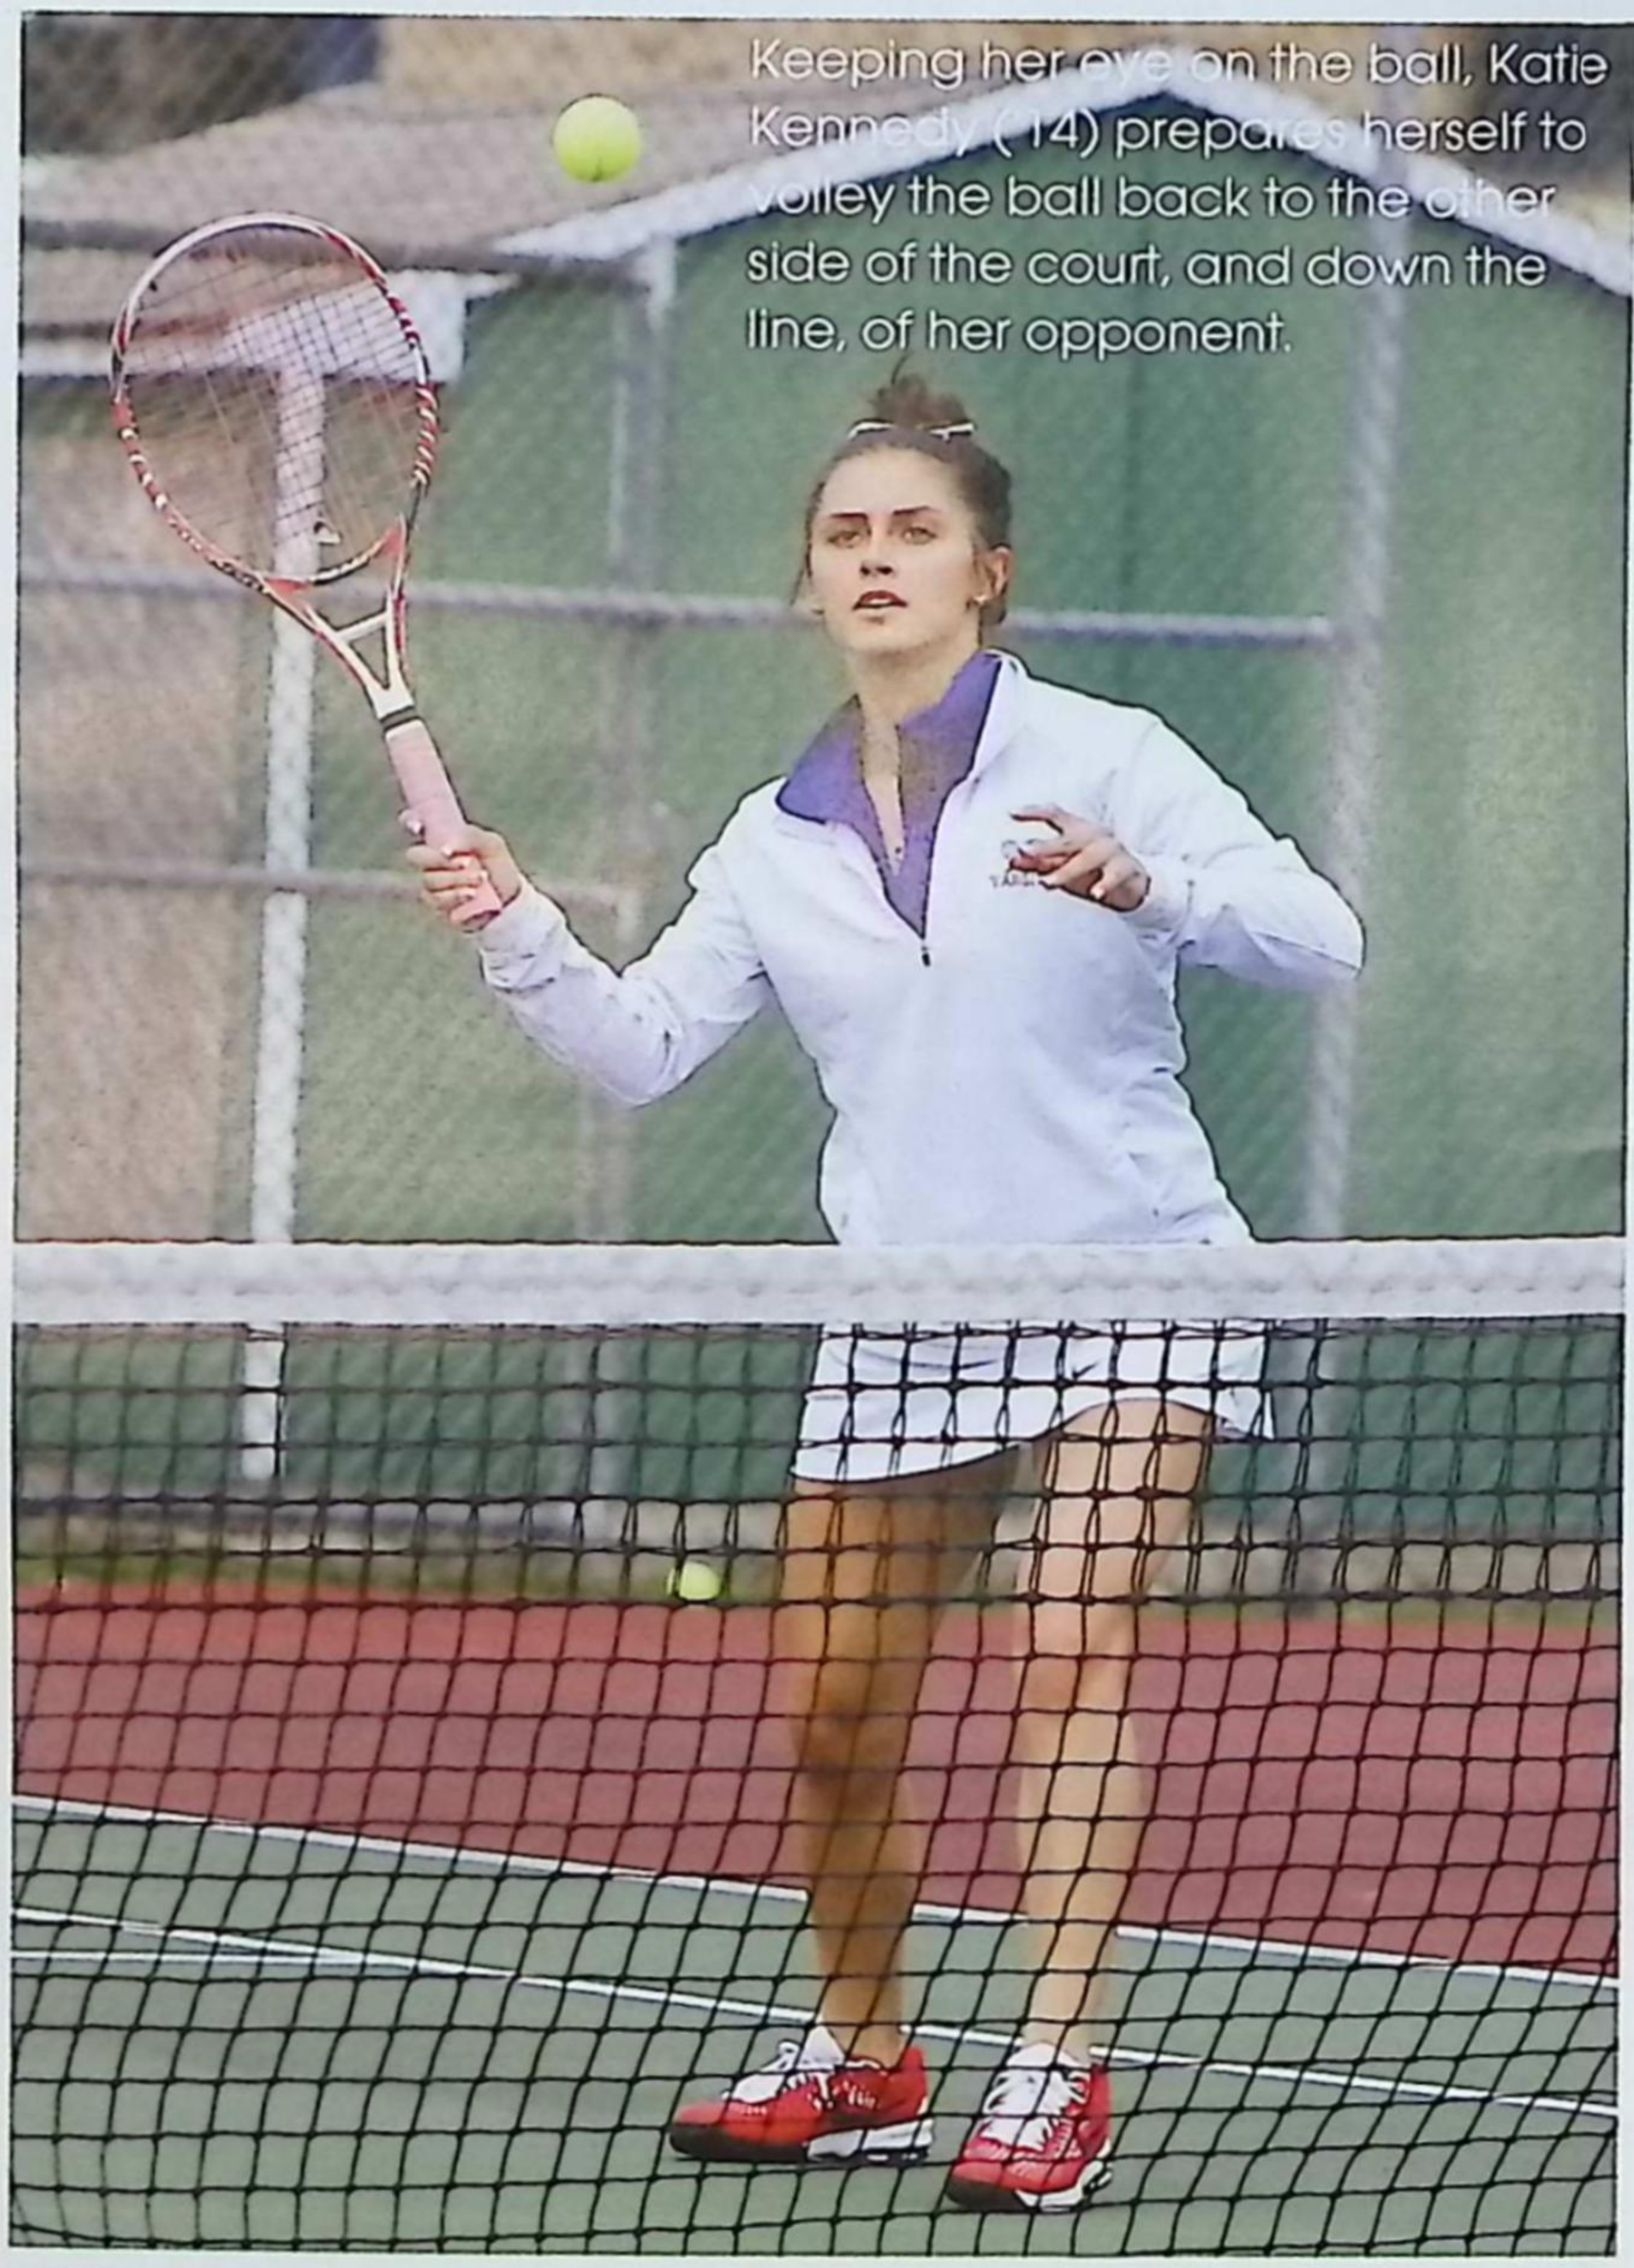
Serving It Up

Team bonding is a vital feature that the girls' varsity tennis team does every year. To get to know each other before the season started, the girls had their own team sleep over where they ate snacks, told stories, and played games that allowed them to form a deeper bond with one another. During this team sleep over they stayed up late at night and gathered around the bonfire; they played ping pong and watched plenty of movies. When teammates learn new things about each other, it gives them the opportunity to create a friendship that will last longer than just the tennis season.



Keeping her eye on the ball, Katie Kennedy ('14) prepares herself to volley the ball back to the other side of the court, and down the line, of her opponent.

Varsity

Small over Tall

The St. Clair varsity girls' soccer team played two games against Marine City. Claudia Packan ('16), possibly the smallest and one of the youngest girls on the team; played defense against one of the Mariner's biggest and best players for both games. Dealing with the daunting height of her opponent, she never showed any signs of submissiveness. "I wasn't intimidated," says Packan. "I may be small, but I make them all fall." Time and time again the two would clash, but Packan proved that size was no issue. She never let up or backed down, and she even came out successful through several of their scuffles. Perhaps Packan may not be the tallest person around, but she showed us all that good things really do come in small packages.

With her backup ready behind her, Mackenzie Kent ('15) confidently and expertly pushes the offensive line forward.

Not always graceful on the courts, Bettina Lee ('16) and Pim Rhodes ('14) acquired the nicknames Bambi (Pim) and Baby Bambi (Bettina) during their season. According to Bettina, these nicknames started one day when the girls were practicing for a doubles match. Bettina scored a good volley and was dancing about the court, doing a victory cheer. She was too busy celebrating that she didn't notice Pim's serve. Smack! The ball whacked Bettina's ear and she fell to the ground. Stunned from the hit, she sat on the ground for a couple seconds, blinking away the surprise. Then like a baby deer, unstable on her legs as if they were new to her, she got up, no longer Bettina, but now Baby Bambi. Everyone on the court was laughing and grateful to have such ungraceful "Bambis" on their team.

A Part of Something New

Being a part of the track team is much more than just running, hurdling, shot putting, or pole vaulting; it's about bonding and sharing experiences with teammates. Emmy Marcath, Maddie Shepard ('17), Nicole Conigliaro, and Samantha Marcath ('14) all know this first hand. After every track meet, these four ladies get together at McDonalds and bond over milkshakes. Sisters Samantha and Emmy Marcath started this tradition one day after a very hot and tiring meet. They then invited all the girls to join them and this turned into a new tradition and a great team bonding experience for everyone. "Now that the seniors are gone I'm not sure our tradition will ever be the same, but it will definitely be a memory that will stay with me forever," pleads Emmy Marcath. This tradition strengthened the girls' bond as a whole and taught them the true meaning of being a part of a team.

Baton hand-offs are one of the most crucial parts of relay races. Timing has to be precise in order to be sure the baton lands perfectly in the other teammate's hand. "As I approach my teammate, extending my arm, I know that I am putting all of my hard work and dedication into his hands, trusting him to finish the race strong," stated Jack Keais ('16). Being on a relay team requires each member of the team to put all of their trust in one another. Believing in each other gives every member the motivation to give their all during every second of the race.

"Seeing the Eiffel Tower was a dream come true for me. It was one of the coolest things I have ever experienced."

Planes, Trains, and Automobiles, Oh My!

Spring break 2014 was one that is sure to be remembered. SCHS students took off to various locations across the globe and within the United States. While several students flocked to the sandy beaches of the Dominican Republic or Florida, many other students chose to spend spring break half way across the world in Europe. For many seniors, having to choose between Punta Cana and Europe was a tough decision, but for Dee Donakowski ('14), the answer was clear. "I have dreamed about going to Paris since I was a little girl, so when this opportunity arose I had to take it. Paris holds the key to my heart, and I plan on returning at some point in my life," says Dee. Whether it was 4,000 miles from home or a few hundred soaking up sun rays in a tropical paradise, the students at SCHS will surely never forget their experiences.

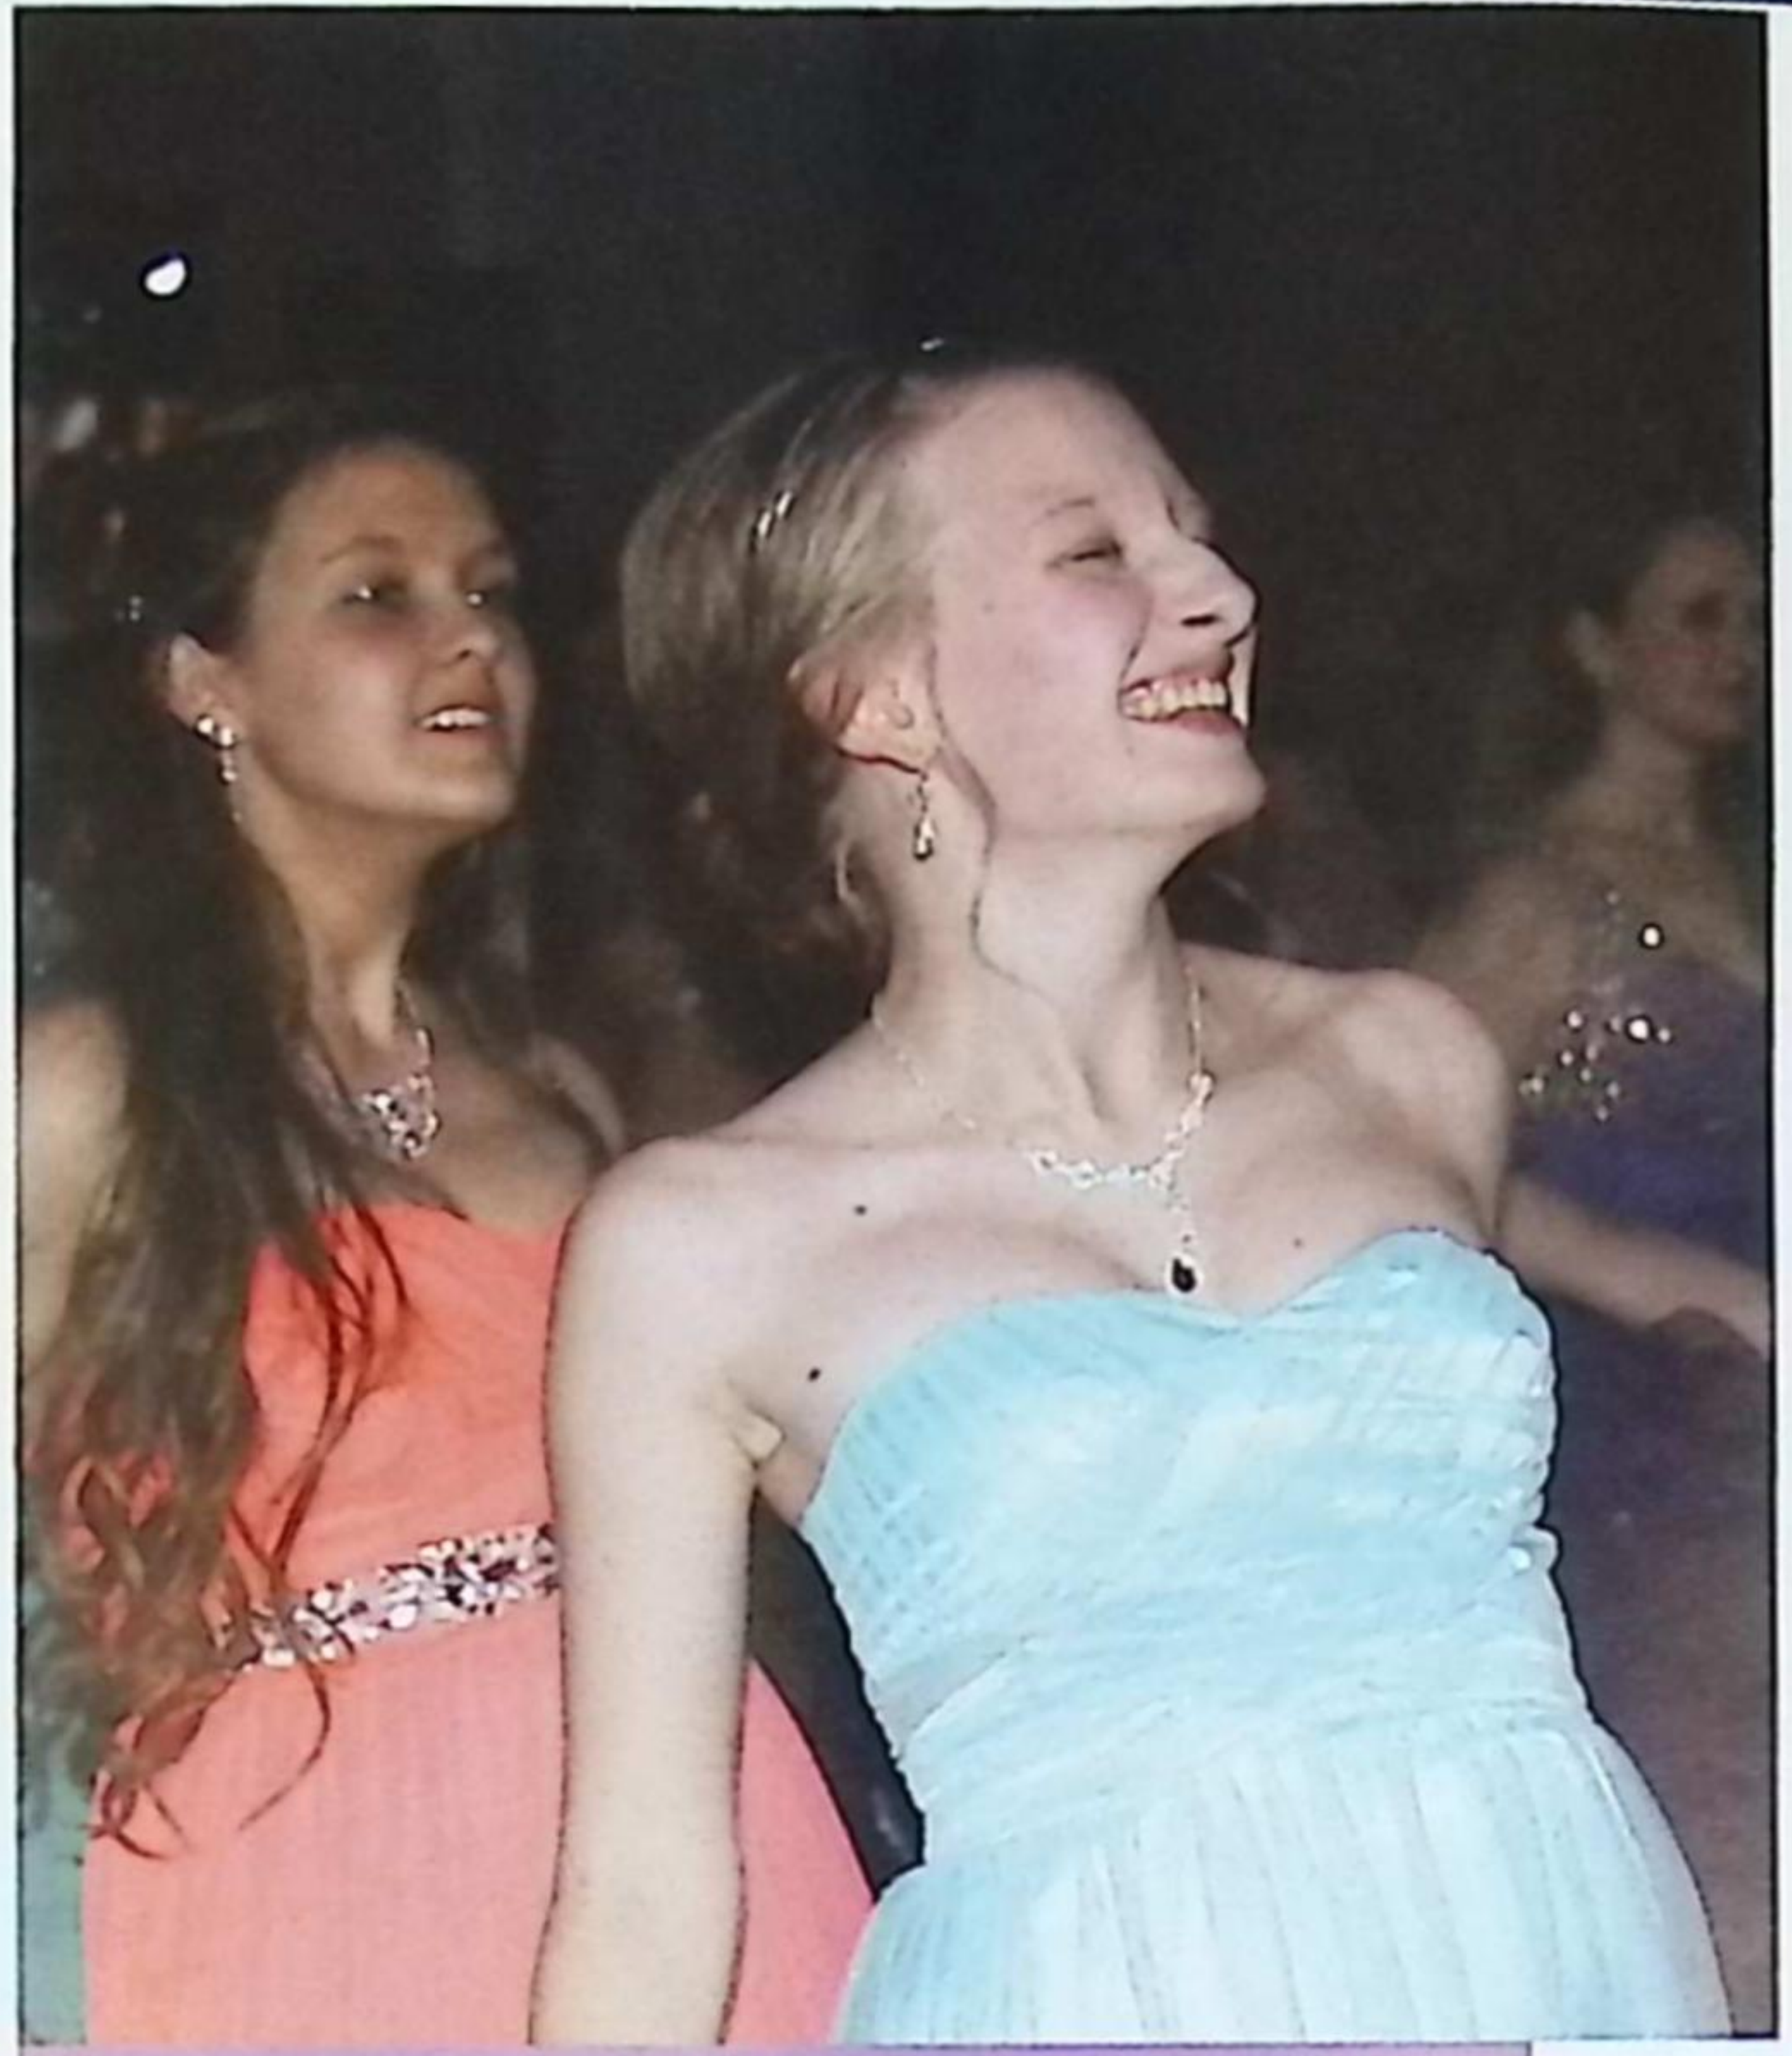
Battling it out for PROM

Every year leading up to prom, the seniors participate in the Battle of the Crown competition to determine the prom king and queen. This year the student body raised an impressive $7,000+ in cash and donated items which put the school's 15 year total to just over $100,000. This year's battle for queen, however, had an interesting twist in events that lead to duel-prom queens. Marianne Schoenmann and Paige May ('14) were the contestants who finished in a confusingly close time frame, which resulted in splitting the title. Also, the king, Trevor Holowaty, was represented by Adam Hall ('14) during the games because Trevor was doing his thing at a track meet. The exciting, yet confusing, Battle of the Crown events lead to a very successful, memorable dance the next day where many seniors and underclassmen boogied the night away.



Breaking out her best dance moves with her friends, Jenna Russell ('14) joins in "The Wobble" and embraces the time she has at her senior prom.

Gettin' Down

What was your favorite dance of the evening?

"I loved the "Cupid Shuffle." I thought it was awesome that so many people knew the dance and could dance along."

- Jaycob Schweiger ('14)

"I really enjoyed "The Wobble" at prom. It was fun to get everyone to participate together."

- Amber Gerritts ('14)

Representing one of his best friends, Adam Hall ('14) races to the other side of the gym to complete the pinning of accessories on his "date."

Amber Gerrits, Katie Boni, and Micayla Meyers ('14) appear to be pretty tangled together while they wait to be told the next move which may determine who will be crowned winner of their Twister game.

End of the Year Prize

What was the best part about winning the end of the year prize?

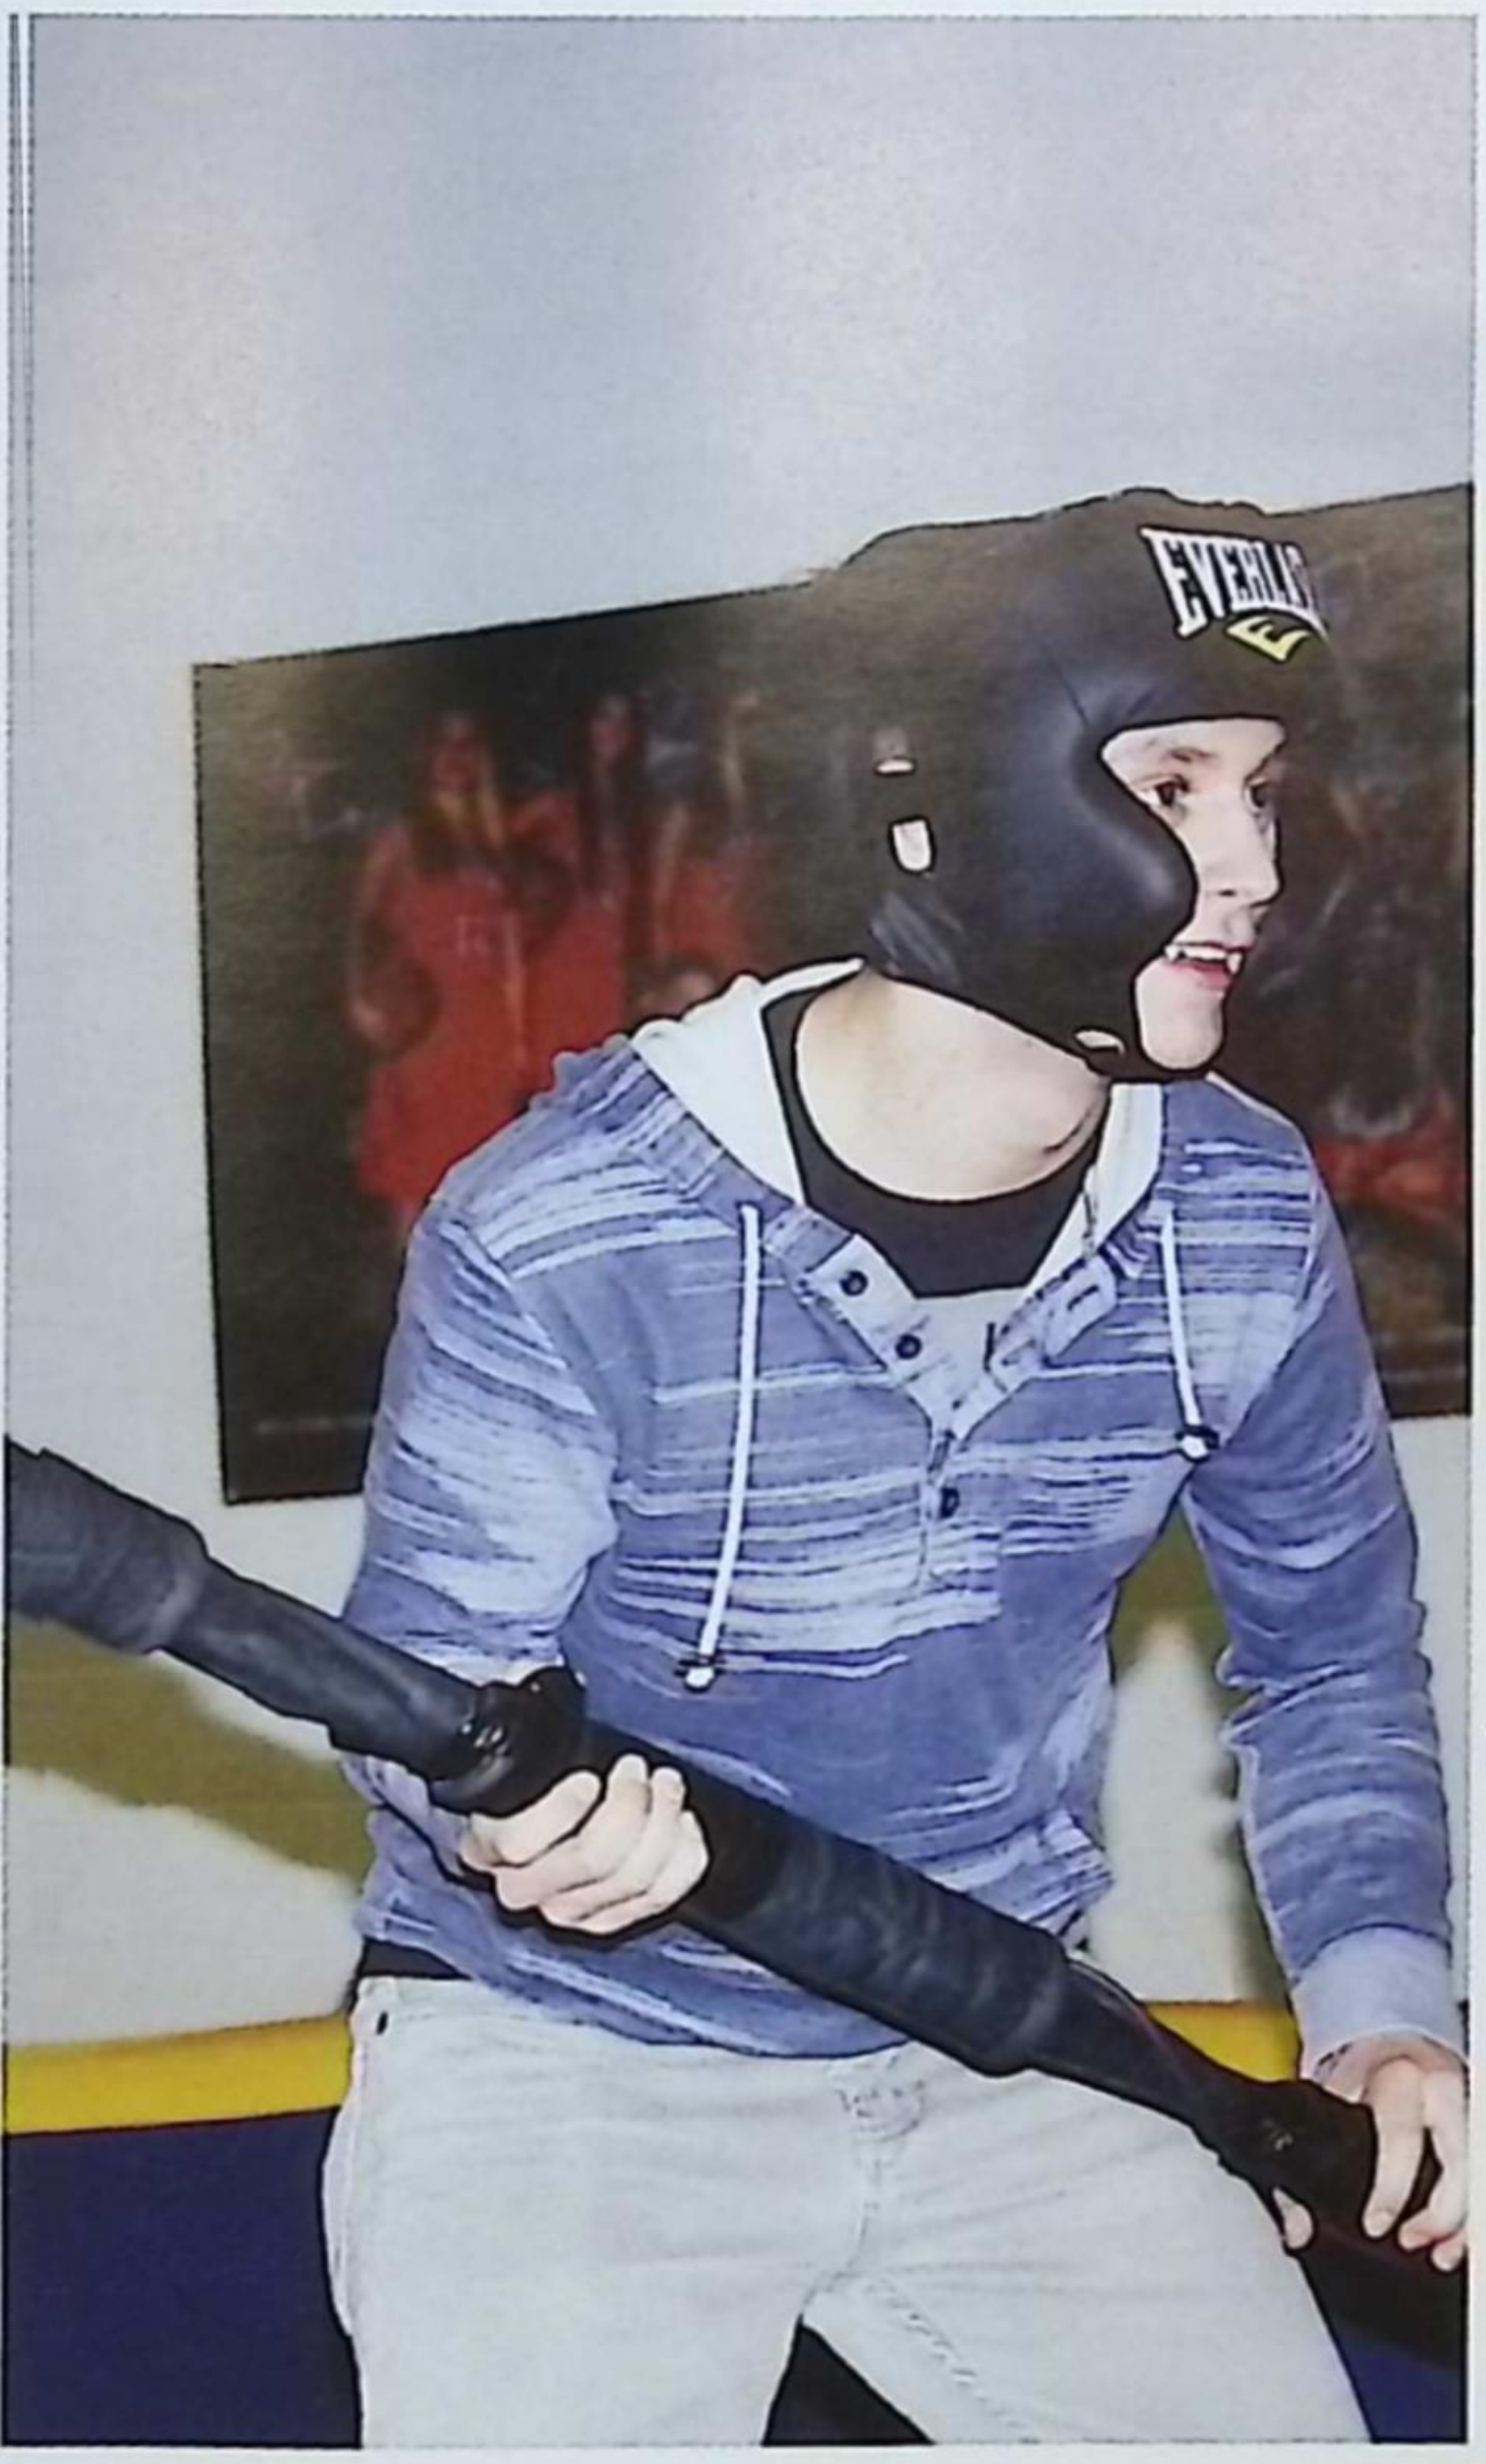
"My favorite part was just having fun with my friends."

- Kaitlyn O'mara ('14)

"It was really fun when we made a dance circle and I got to enjoy the company of my favorite senior girls.
- Monica Matthews ('14)

"The best part about winning the prize was knowing we got to have fun for two hours while all the underclassmen were stuck in class."
- Cody Wilson ('14)

Best You've Ever Seen



After battling with the underclassmen, particularly the sophomores, for the end of the year prize, the seniors came out on top. Friends Nick Alexander and Olivia Cataldo ('14), however, are not here for fun and games; they are ready to fight to the death in order to claim the title of Jousting Champion. Grasping the lance with all their strength these two friends get ready to push and shove until the other falls to the ground. In the end, Nick is victorious and ends up winning the final match. However, despite the intense competition in the jousting ring, Nick and Olivia are able to shake hands and enjoy the rest of the activities as friends.

GRADUATION

Leaving a Legacy

As the class takes the treacherous, seemingly endless, walk across the graduation stage, floods of emotions rush into each senior's mind. Some students feel a wave of sentimentality, finally realizing that despite their numerous countdowns to the end of the year, they will truly miss the simple things about Saint Clair High School. "The thing I'm going to miss most about SCHS is definitely the people," explains Olivia Child ('14). "The teachers, student sections, and all of the other friends I have made are what make the environment caring and fun; I'm just really glad I was able to be a part of it all". On the other hand, many other students can't wait to rush out of the doors of McMorran and step foot in the world as SCHS alumni. Despite one's personal feelings about leaving high school, every single graduate, student, parent, and teacher at graduation knew that the class of 2014 truly left their mark on SCHS. With a class full of back-to-back cross country state champs, football players who made it to the state quarter-finals for the first time, scholarship recipients, and talented artists, it is obvious that the legacy of the class of 2014 will live forever.

Senior Highlights

The journey of life gives us memories

The anticipation of spring break is the highlight of senior year. At the last minute, the class of 2014 made the decision to change their destination and go to Punta Cana. The class originally made plans to go to Jamaica, but they had a sudden change of heart and realized Punta Cana was the place they wanted as their senior trip. "As fun as Jamaica sounded, when it came down to finalizing our reservations we decided that Punta Cana was a better place to be," exclaimed Olivia Cataldo ('14). Even though only 43 out of the 208 students went, they still had the best time of their lives. Punta Cana allowed the seniors to go on many exciting adventures such as zip lining through the lush tropical jungles, taking a scenic cruise on the Atlantic Ocean, and definitely making memories that will last a lifetime.

Through Thick and Thin: Few people are lucky enough to have their cousin as their best friend. However, seniors Savannah Caister and Michaela Boulier are like two peas in a pod, and they have had the honor of being with each other since grade school. "Having my cousin by my side throughout high school is something I would not trade for the world. We always have each other's backs and are inseparable! Plus, I can force her to be my friend even when she is mad at me," exclaimed Savannah. From football games, to prom, to the end of the year prize, these two girls have been able to make memories together through their high school years that will strengthen their family bond for the rest of their lives.

This is the moment that seniors have been waiting for, yet dreading, all year long: the tradition when the seniors are called to move to the chairs on the floor and become alumni of Saint Clair High School. Anxiously waiting, Alex O'Connell and Jalissa Watt ('14) get ready to run to their new seats and leave behind their old bleachers behind.

"Team Abbey" Fighting for a Cure

At a young age, Abbey Dombrowski ('16) was unexpectedly diagnosed with JRA (Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis). Various forms of arthritis affect 2.3 million adults but only 10,300 children. With a kind heart, Abbey has been participating in various arthritis walks ever since she was three. She helps raise funds for others who live with this similar disease. Every January Abbey's local church hosts their annual "Rock-a-thon" and this year the money that was raised went to Abbey's charity, "Team Abbey." "This year my church raised a little over $1,500 dollars, and all together my team nearly raised $3,000 dollars!" In addition, her arthritis walk took place at the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak on May 10th and over fifty family members, friends, and people from her youth group walked with her to fight for a cure. "The walk was on a beautiful, sunny day and was very enjoyable." Abbey claims. Although Abbey lives in constant pain every day, she is a fighter and will overcome anything that steps in her way.

WALK TO Cure ARTHRITIS

"When my boyfriend suggested that we take dance lessons together, I was ecstatic! We have been taking lessons together at the Marine City Dance Company every Thursday since the end of September. I have fun going to the lessons and being able to be with him, and doing something we both enjoy is awesome!"

- Kate Beauchamp ('16)

This past spring, sophomore Krystal Sablowski received the opportunity to travel to New York for dance. "I went with my aunt who is an instructor at Farmington Dance Company, and we travelled there by bus with two other rival dance teams." While in New York, Krystal danced at Alvin Alley School, Danny Studios, and Broadway Dance Center under the instruction of a cast member from the Broadway musical Newsies. In between her busy schedule consisting of 4-5 dance classes per day, she also attended musicals and recitals at Juilliard. "It was an amazing experience," she exclaimed. "I had the time of my life, and I wouldn't trade it for the world!"

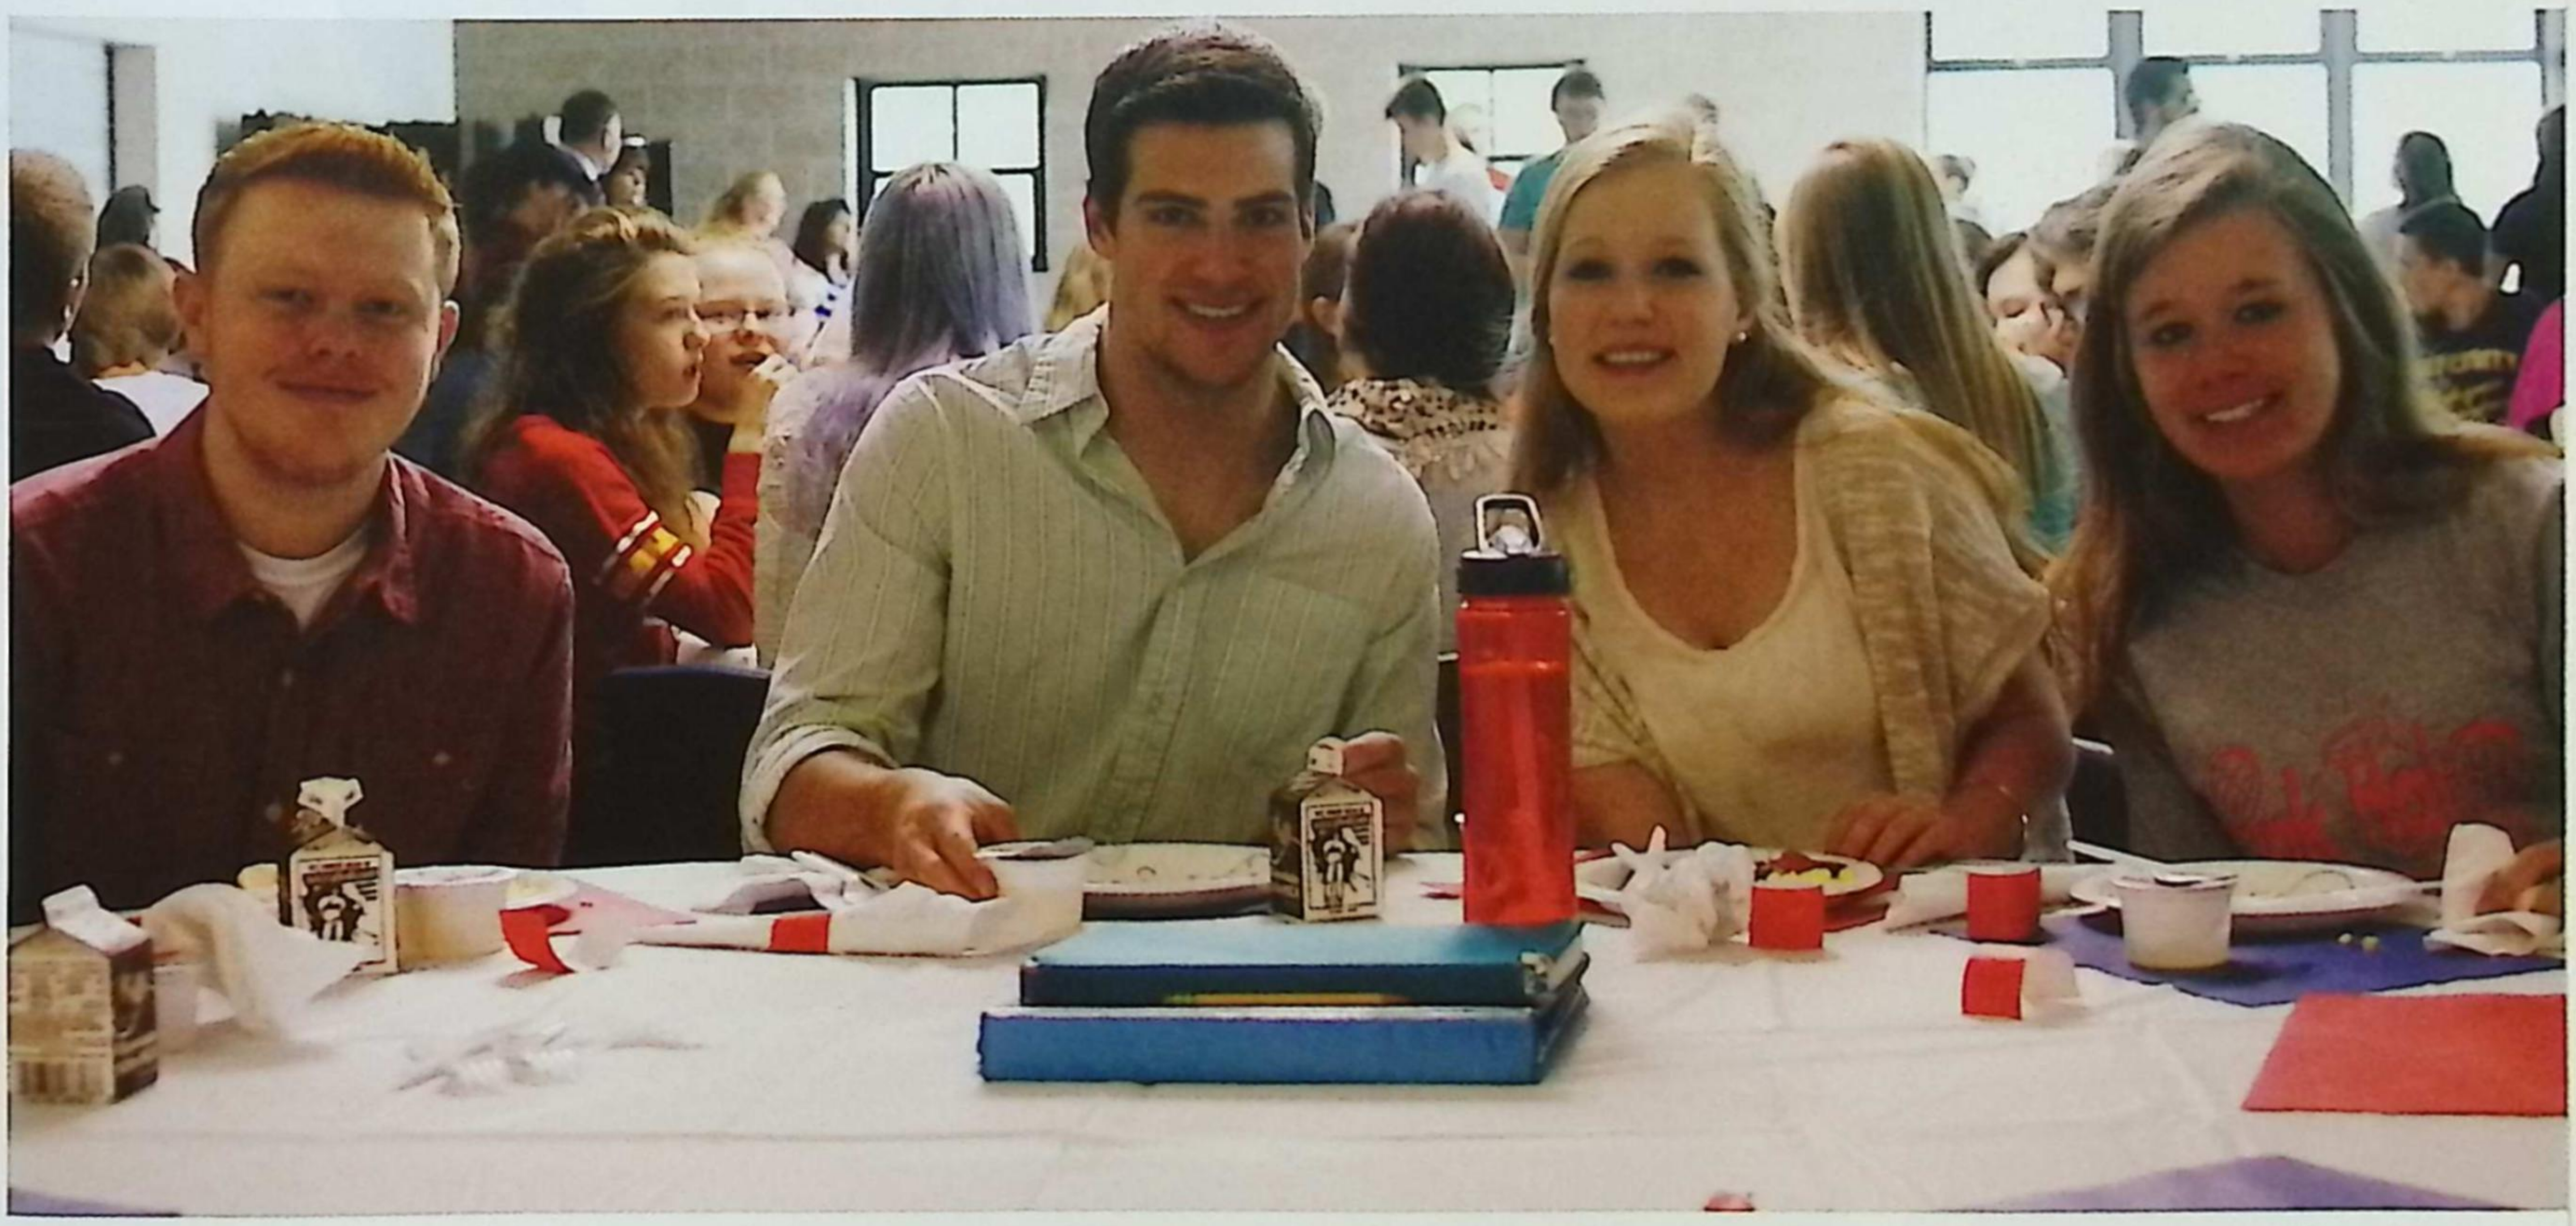
How did you score tickets to see Lady Gaga?

"I talked about going to the concert for months, and my parents surprised me with tickets the week before the performance."

-Younique Williams ('17)

Each spring often leads to a very stressful time of year for students in high school: semester exams. Finding a way to release some of that stress is important, and many find that relief through their pets. "Cats are not easily stressed, unlike people. My cat gives me a certain level of comfort, which provides me with enough strength to get through the rest of the year."

- Samantha Scofield ('16)



Juniors Graham Schweihofer, Todd Armstrong, Erica Werden, and Hailey Buslepp enjoy their last underclassmen Honors Breakfast together– an event they have all attended for the past two years.

Festival of the Arts

Ho Hey

Imagine a heart pounding moment - hundreds of eyes watching you as you step up to the microphone, take a deep breath, and sing the first words. Many people have a fear of performing in front of a crowd, but for senior Iman Azar (picture right) performing is second nature. This year Iman sang "Ho Hey" by The Lumineers and was accompanied by Trevor Holowaty ('14) on the drums. "When Trevor and I first had the idea to perform at Festival of the Arts we never really had time to practice. We had a quick rehearsal, about 5 minutes, before we auditioned." Iman's ability to think quick did not end at the audition, however. "My personal guitar I wanted to use ended up not working with the amplifier, so I had to use a teacher's," shared Iman. "Moments before performing, the thought hit me that this would be my last performance ever for Festival of the Arts. After I sang, seeing and hearing everyone applaud my performance was really emotional. Knowing that I had accomplished such an enormous task and sang my heart out gave me such pride." It did not matter if you knew the song or knew who Iman was, her voice astounded the audience, leaving everyone in awe.

Don't Rock The Boat Baby

It took twenty six years of teaching and numerous boat regattas for Mrs. Cedar to realize it was time to finally get in the pool and race her own cardboard masterpiece. Taking up oars with her partner Mrs. Malane, Mrs. Cedar and the S.S. Bazinga made up a deadly single-corrugated competition for the other sea-worthy vessels. After successfully maneuvering their boat through two events, it all came down to the Battle Royale. Being thrown into the heat of the battle, Mrs. Cedar and Mrs. Malane found themselves as the main target for their students. With a powerful final blow to the S.S. Bazinga, Austin Ramcheck ('15) was victorious in sinking St. Clair High School's favorite physics teachers. However, having to head back to her sixth hour, it didn't take Mrs. Cedar long to realize that teaching a class is a lot easier when you're in a dry outfit.

"As the results were about to be announced, we were really excited and hoping for first place. We were missing some of the necessary documents though, so we ended up taking second. It was still a really fun experience."

- Jake Tracy ('14)

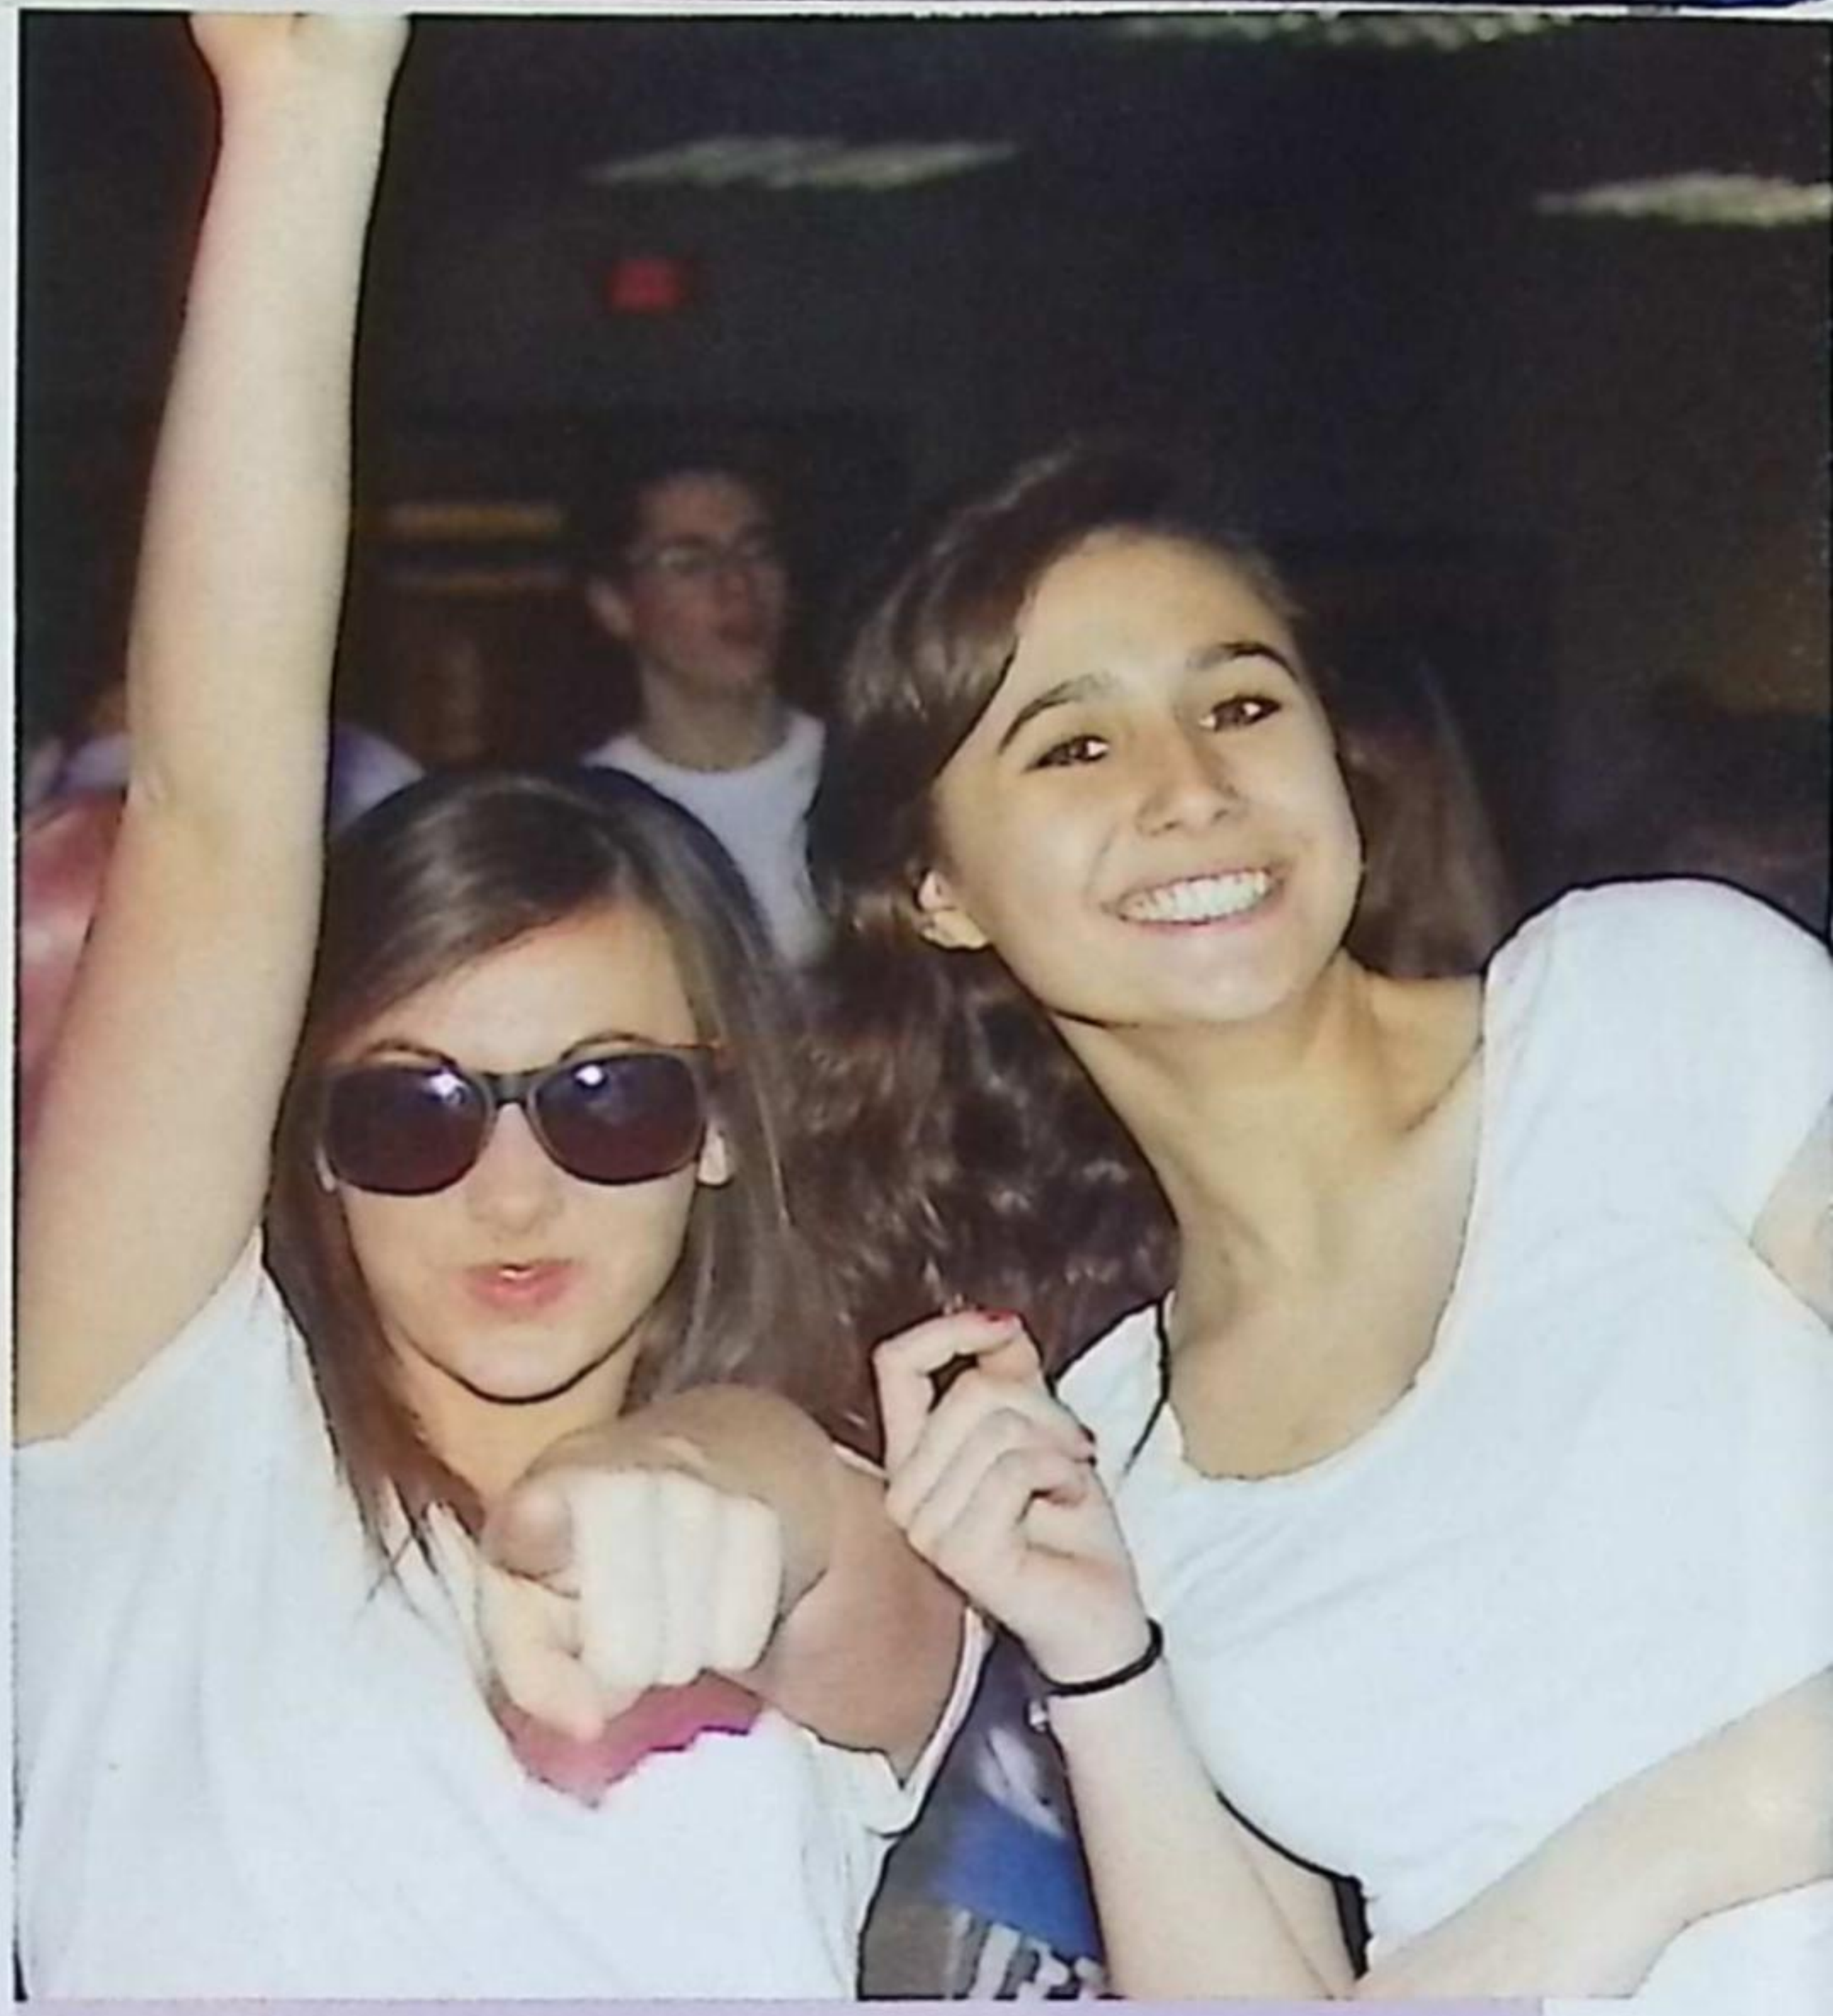
What was an obstacle you had to overcome in order to succeed in the Business Competition?

"The hardest part of the competition was speaking in front of the judges. It took a lot of practice to feel confident."

- Danielle Slonac ('14)

Rave Dance

Dances create a unique opportunity for students to express their personalities. Although this is typically done by selecting a fancy dress or showing off one's groovy moves, the spring dance allowed attendees the chance to sport their creativity with the white t-shirts they were given with their ticket purchase. During lunch, or at the dance, students had the chance to color on white shirts with glow-in-the-dark, neon markers. Some people took the time to make fringe or knots out of the shirt, while others wrote quotes and funny sayings. Claire Mattson ('15) commented about her t-shirt design saying that "I had some extra time at theatre rehearsal and seeing everyone in their 20's costumes made me decide to fringe the ends in a flapper style." As everyone entered the UV-lit cafeteria, their shirts glowed, completing the "rave" effect.



"The Rave dance was tons of fun. Even with less people, my friends and I were able to have a great time, I just wish more people would have gone."

3. Sporting a whole motorcross racing outfit, Mitchell Frantz ('16) goes beyond the bare minimum for sports apparel day.

4. Wearing their favorite team jerseys, Buddy Brosky, Riley Gleason, Anthony Mule, Cam Parslow, and Josh Markel ('16), aren't afraid to get a little silly on sports apparel day, allowing their personality to shine through their tough skins.

What did you enjoy most about Sports Apparel Day?

"The thing I enjoyed most was that I got to dress up with my friends."
